Climate Change and Ecosystems Shah Fahad, Muhammad Adnan, Shah Saud, Lixiao Nie, 2022-07-25 The global population is projected to increase by 3.3 billion from 6.7 billion in 2008 to 10 billion in 2100 As a result soil degradation and desertification are growing due to the increasing demand for food feed fiber and fuel on finite soil resources The problem of global food insecurity may be further worsened by the threat of global warming Climate change is showing its impacts in terms of increasing temperatures variable rainfall and an increase in climate related extremes such as floods droughts cyclones sea level rise salinity and soil erosion The agriculture sector is the most sensitive to climate change because the climate of a region country determines the nature and characteristics of vegetation and crops Increase in the mean seasonal temperature and decrease in effective precipitation can reduce the duration of many crops may lead to outbreaks of pests and diseases and hence reduce final yield ultimately affecting the food security of the country Despite the positive impact of CO₂ fertilization the net productivity may decrease because of an increase in respiration rate drought stress and nutrient deficiency For example for every 75 ppm increase in CO₂ concentration rice yields will increase by 0.5 t/ha but the yield will decrease by 0.6 t/ha for every 1 °C increase in temperature The global agricultural productivity is expected to decrease from 3% to 16% by 2080 The estimated decrease in agricultural productivity in the developing countries is 10% 25% in the 2080s where average air temperature is already near or above crop tolerance levels This book is intended to serve as a stimulating collection that will contribute to debate and reflection on the sustainable future of agriculture and food production in the face of global change Features This book brings together a multidimensional group of international scholars exploring the ethical dimensions of climate change and ecosystem New strategies have been pointed out in this book for better sustainable development This book has been designed to provide a good overview of major challenges facing policymakers researchers and ultimately humankind in dealing with climate change This book summarizes the diverse features of vulnerability adaptation and amelioration of climate change in respect to plants crops soil and microbes for the sustainability of the agricultural sector and ultimately food security for the future This book provides a state of the art description of the physiological biochemical and molecular status of the understanding of abiotic stress in plants
