Herman, Joachim Frank, 2014-01-29 Approaches to the recovery of three dimensional information on a biological object which are often formulated or implemented initially in an intuitive way are concisely described here based on physical models of the object and the image formation process Both three dimensional electron microscopy and X ray tomography can be captured in the same mathematical framework leading to closely related computational approaches but the methodologies differ in detail and hence pose different challenges The editors of this volume Gabor T Herman and Joachim Frank are experts in the respective methodologies and present research at the forefront of biological imaging and structural biology Computational Methods for Three Dimensional Microscopy Reconstruction will serve as a useful resource for scholars interested in the development of computational methods for structural biology and cell biology particularly in the area of 3D imaging and modeling International Mining and Metallurgical Manual, 1928 IMSL Library Reference Manual International Mathematical and Statistical Libraries, 1982 This manual contains a detailed discussion of the IMSL Library an extensive collection of mathematical and statistical subroutines written in Fortran Maine Register Or State Year-book and Legislative Manual, 1904 Vols for 19 include Classified business directory of the entire state Intelligent Systems and Interfaces Horia-Nicolai Teodorescu, Daniel Mlynek, Abraham Kandel, Hans-Jürgen Zimmermann, 2012-12-06 The field of intelligent interfaces and systems has seen a fast growth last decade An impressive number of papers conference tutorials and volumes were devoted to the topic Ten years ago intelligent systems constituted a rather exotic topic and many were skeptic that such systems amount to more than a nice name Nowadays intelligent systems represent a powerful tool in many applications in all industrial fields Their development evolved on both the horizontal dimension with a constantly increasing number of applications and on the vertical dimension by including more capabilities going from sensoric to neurofuzzy systems intelligent agents speech and image understanding and decision making in complex environments The domain constituted by the intelligent systems is now too large to be covered in a single volume. Consequently the Editors considered a balance between several selected sub fields to insure the unity of the volume yet allowing a large enough horizon and a consistent understanding of the entire field including real life applications. The volume represents a comprehensive coverage of the field including fundamental aspects software sensors and hardware related issues. Moreover the contributors to this volume offer beyond a systematic overview of intelligent interfaces and systems deep practical knowledge in building and using intelligent systems in various applications. A special emphasis is on specific aspects and requirements in applications. In addition the second Editor proposes two chapters addressing the management of projects dealing with intelligent systems.
