J. de Blij,2006-03-01 A Comparative Geography of China and the U.S. Rudi Hartmann,Jing'ai Wang,Tao Ye,2014-07-17

The book is the outcome of a unique venture a team of Chinese geographers and a team of American geographers collaborated on a new Comparative Geography of China and the United States The book meets a high demand for comparative information about China and the United States as the home of the two leading economies in a globalizing world Comparisons of the two countries include the similarities and differences in their physical environments and natural hazards the growth and changing spatial distribution of population and ethnic groups in China and the U S traditions and contemporary regional expressions of agriculture and food production as well as the rapidly changing urban and industrial patterns in both countries The book also highlights the two countries interconnectedness in trade and in the exchange of cultural social scientific technological information The volume serves as a major resource in geographic education as it contributes to a better and more comprehensive understanding of the formation and development of the two countries basic geographical patterns and processes The Law and Policy of Ecosystem Services J. B. Ruhl,Steven E. Kraft,Christopher L.

Lant,2013-03-19 The Law and Policy of Ecosystem Services is the first comprehensive exploration of the status and future of natural capital and ecosystem services in American law and policy The book develops a framework for thinking about ecosystem services across their ecologic geographic economic social and legal dimensions and evaluates the prospects of crafting a legal infrastructure that can help build an ecosystem service economy that is as robust as existing economies for manufactured goods natural resource commodities and human provided services The book examines the geographic ecological and economic context of ecosystem services and provides a baseline of the current status of ecosystem services in law and society It identifies shortcomings of current law and policy and the critical areas for improvement and forges an approach for the design of new law and policy for ecosystem services Included are a series of nine empirical case studies that explore the problems caused by society s failure to properly value natural capital Among the case study topics considered are water issues The Conservation Reserve Program the National Conservation Buffer Initiative the agricultural policy of the European Union wetland mitigation and pollution trading The Law and Policy of Ecosystem Services is a groundbreaking look at the question of whether and how law and policy can shape a sustainable system of ecosystem service management It is an accessible and informative work for faculty students and policy makers concerned with ecology economics geography political science environmental studies law and related fields Routledge Handbook on Tourism in the Middle East and North Africa Dallen Timothy,2018-12-07 The Routledge Handbook on Tourism in the Middle East and North Africa examines the importance of tourism as a historical economic social environmental religious and political force in the Middle East and North Africa MENA It highlights the ecological and resource challenges related to water desert environments climate change and oil It provides an in depth analysis of the geopolitical conditions that have long determined the patterns of tourism demand and supply throughout the region and how these play out in the everyday lives of residents and destinations as they attempt to grow tourism or ignore it entirely While cultural heritage remains the primary tourism asset for the region as a whole many new types of tourisms are emerging especially in the Arabian Gulf region where hyper development is closely associated with the increasingly prominent role of luxury real estate and shopping retail medical tourism cruises and transit tourism The growing phenomenon of an expatriate workforce and how its segregation from the citizenry creates a dual socio economic system in several countries is unmatched by other regions of the world Many indigenous people of MENA keep themselves apart from other dominant groups in the region although these social boundaries are becoming increasingly blurred as tourism being one socio economic force for change has inspired many nomadic peoples to settle into towns and villages and rely more on tourists for their livelihoods All of these issues and more shape the foundations of this book This Handbook is the first of its kind to examine tourism from a broad regional and inclusive perspective surveying a broad range of social cultural heritage ecological and political matters in a single volume With a wide range of contributors many of whom are natives of the Middle East and North Africa this Handbook is a vital resource for students and scholars interested in Tourism Middle East Studies and Geography
