Mental health nursing Anne Borsay, Pamela Dale, 2015-07-01 This book seeks to integrate the history of mental health nursing with the wider history of institutional and community care It develops new research questions by drawing together a concern with exploring the class gender skills and working conditions of practitioners with an assessment of the care regimes staff helped create and patients experiences of them Contributors from a range of disciplines use a variety of source material to examine both continuity and change in the history of care over two centuries The book benefits from a foreword by Mick Carpenter and will appeal to researchers and students interested in all aspects of the history of nursing and the history of care The book is also designed to be accessible to practitioners and the general reader Destigmatising mental illness?

Vicky Long, 2015-11-01 This historical study of mental healthcare workers efforts to educate the public challenges the supposition that public prejudice generates the stigma of mental illness Drawing on extensive archival research this book argues that psychiatrists nurses and social workers generated representations of mental illness which reflected their professional aspirations economic motivations and perceptions of the public Sharing in the stigma of their patients healthcare workers sought to enhance the prestige of their professions by focussing upon the ability of psychiatry to effectively treat acute cases of mental disturbance As a consequence healthcare workers inadvertently reinforced the stigma attached to serious and enduring mental distress This book makes a major contribution to the history of mental healthcare and critiques current campaigns which seek to end mental health discrimination for failing to address the political economic and social factors which fuel discrimination It will appeal to academics students healthcare practitioners and service users
