The German-Speaking Lutheran Church in Ireland Christian Ritter, 2015-12-20      Re-Visioning Europe U. Kockel, 2010-07-28 Drawing on ethno anthropological fieldwork this book considers issues of identity and belonging in Europe from a consciously emic perspective The book explores issues such as borders migration economic organization heritage and the politics and practice of developing cultural understanding      A Peculiar Mixture Jan Stievermann, Oliver Scheiding, 2015-06-26 Through innovative interdisciplinary methodologies and fresh avenues of inquiry the nine essays collected in A Peculiar Mixture endeavor to transform how we understand the bewildering multiplicity and complexity that characterized the experience of German speaking people in the middle colonies They explore how the various cultural expressions of German speakers helped them bridge regional religious and denominational divides and eventually find a way to partake in America s emerging national identity Instead of thinking about early American culture and literature as evolving continuously as a singular entity the contributions to this volume conceive of it as an ever shifting and tangled web of contact zones They present a society with a plurality of different native and colonial cultures interacting not only with one another but also with cultures and traditions from outside the colonies in a peculiar mixture of Old World practices and New World influences Aside from the editors the contributors are Rosalind J Beiler Patrick M Erben Cynthia G Falk Marie Basile McDaniel Philip Otterness Liam Riordan Matthias Sch nofer and Marianne S Wokeck      The German-speaking community of Victoria between 1850 and 1930 Volkhard Wehner , 2018 At the time of Australian Federation in 1901 German immigrants constituted two per cent of the population of Victoria This book examines how they settled formed a communal infrastructure and how they related to their Anglo Celtic hosts It is shown that their attempts to form a cohesive community failed by investigating the role played by the Lutheran Church German associations community leaders and the rift between rural and urban communities The changing relationship between the British Empire the German Reich and emerging Australian nationalism receives close attention The book tests and then proves a hypothesis that rural communities were more resilient and better equipped to survive while urban communities were not      Alternatives to Assimilation Alan Silverstein, 1995-09 Historians have long debated whether the mid nineteenth century American synagogue was transplanted from Central Europe or represented an indigenous phenomenon Alternatives to Assimilation examines the Reform movement in American Judaism from 1840 to 1930 in an attempt to settle this issue Alan Silverstein describes the emergence of organizational innovations such as youth groups sisterhoods brotherhoods a professionalized rabbinate a rabbinical college and a national congregational body as evidence of Jews responding uniquely to American culture in a fashion parallel to innovations in American Protestant churches Silverstein places the developments he traces within the context of American religious and cultural history He notes the shifting roles of American women children and ethnic groups as well as America s changing receptivity to trans Atlantic cultural influences He also utilizes census records as well as congregational and national archives in synthesizing a view of the Reform movement from its local temples and nationwide organizations By offering a viable response to American culture's rampant secularization and to its pressure on Jews to relinquish their distinctive traditions and commitments the Reform movement also inspired emerging Conservative and Orthodox Jewish movements to offer their own constituents tangible institutional alternatives to assimilation

Babel of the Atlantic Bethany Wiggin,2019-04-24 Despite shifting trends in the study of Oceanic Atlantic history the colonial Atlantic world as it is described by historians today continues to be a largely English only space even when other language communities are examined they too are considered to be monolingual and discrete Babel of the Atlantic pushes back against this monolingual fallacy by documenting multilingualism translation and fluid movement across linguistic borders Focusing on Philadelphia and surrounding areas that include Germantown Bethlehem and the so called Indian country to the west this volume demonstrates the importance of viewing inhabitants not as members of isolated language communities whether English German Lenape Mohican or others but as creators of a vibrant zone of mixed languages and shifting politics Organized around four themes religion education race and abolitionism and material culture and architecture and drawing from archives such as almanacs newspapers and the material world the chapters in this volume show how polyglot tolerant and multilingual spaces encouraged diverse peoples to coexist Contributors examine subjects such as the multicultural Moravian communities in colonial Pennsylvania the Charity School movement of the 1750s and the activities of Quaker abolitionists showing how educational and religious movements addressed and embraced cultural and linguistic variety Drawing early American scholarship beyond the normative narrative of monolingualism this volume will be invaluable to historians and sociolinguists whose work focuses on Pennsylvania and colonial revolutionary and antebellum America In addition to the editor the contributors include Craig Atwood Patrick M Erben Cynthia G Falk Katherine Faull Wolfgang Fl gel Katharine Gerbner Maruice Jackson Lisa Minardi J rgen Overhoff and Birte Pfleger
