Collecting from the Margins María Mercedes Andrade, 2016-03-23 From the cabinets of wonder of the Renaissance to the souvenir collections of today, selecting, accumulating, and organizing objects are practices that are central to our notions of who we are and what we value. Collecting, both private and institutional, has been instrumental in the consolidation of modern notions of the individual and of the nation, and numerous studies have discussed its complex political, social, economic, anthropological, and psychological implications. However, studies of collecting as practiced in colonized cultures are few, since the role of these cultures has usually been understood as that of purveyors of objects for the metropolitan collector. Collecting from the Margins: Material Culture in a Latin American Context seeks to counter the historical understanding of collecting that posits the metropolis as collecting subject and the colonial or postcolonial society as supplier of collectible objects by asking instead how collecting has been practiced and understood in Latin America. Has collecting been viewed or portrayed differently in a Latin American context? Does the act of collecting, when viewed from a Latin American perspective, unsettle the way we have become accustomed to think about it? What differences, if any, arise in the activity of collecting in colonized or previously colonial societies? Spanning the period after the independence wars until the 1980s, this collection of ten essays addresses a broad range of examples of collecting practices in Latin America.

Collecting during the nineteenth century is addressed in discussions of the creation of the first national museums of Argentina and Colombia in the post independence period as well as in analyses of the private collections of modernistas such as Enrique Gómez Carrillo Rubén Darío José Asunción Silva and Delmira Agustini at the end of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth The practice of collecting in the twentieth century is discussed in analyses of the self described revolutionary practices of Oswald de Andrade Augusto de Campos and the films of Ruy Guerra as well as the polemical collections of Pablo Neruda and the unsettling collections portrayed in Gabriel García Márquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude

The Study of Spanish and Portuguese Literature Friedrich Bouterwek, 2021-05-07 This 2 volume book on the literature of Spain and Portugal represents an extraction from Bouterwek's most significant critical work entitled Geschichte der Poesie und Beredsamkeit seit dem Ende der dreizehnten Jahrhunderts History of Poetry and Eloquence from the Close of the Thirteenth Century in which the author has taken an historical and critical survey of the literature of the principal nations of Europe The first of the following volumes is devoted to the history of Spanish and the second to the history of Portuguese Literature The subdivisions of the work correspond with periods marked out by certain revolutions in taste produced by the rise of eminent writers or by other influential circumstances These epochs in literary cultivation form convenient resting places for the student and contribute to exhibit in a clear point of view the circumstances by which the advancement of polite learning has been accelerated or retarded The specimens which are numerous and a great portion of which are selected from very scarce works cannot fail to prove highly acceptable to the lovers of the literature of Spain and Portugal For a general and comprehensive knowledge of that literature they will be found amply sufficient and to those who wish to pursue its study more in detail they will afford most useful assistance In such a course of study great advantage may also be derived from the numerous bibliographical notes introduced by the author

Land, Liberty, and Water Salvador Salinas, 2018-10-09 Following the death of Emiliano Zapata in 1919 the Zapatistas continued to lead the struggle for land reform Land Liberty and Water offers a political and environmental history of the aftermath of the 1910 Mexican Revolution by examining the outcomes of the insurgency in the state of Morelos Salvador Salinas takes readers inside the diverse pueblos of the former Zapatistas during the 1920s and 1930s and recounts the first statewide land reform carried out in postrevolutionary Mexico Based on extensive archival research he reveals how an alliance with the national government that began in 1920 stimulated the revival of rural communities after ten years of warfare and helped once landless villagers reclaim Morelos's valley soils forested mountains and abundant irrigation waters During the presidency of Plutarco Elías Calles 1924-1928 pueblos forged closer ties to the centralized government in Mexico City through a plethora of new national institutions such as ejidos forestry cooperatives water juntas credit societies and primary schools At the same time the expansion of charcoal production in the Sierra de Ajusco and rice cultivation in the lowland valleys accelerated deforestation and intensified water conflicts Salinas recounts how the federal reforms embraced by the countryside aided the revival of the pueblos and in return villagers repeatedly came to the defense of an embattled national regime Salinas gives readers interested in modern Mexico the Zapatista revolution and environmental history a deeply researched analysis of the outcomes of the nation's most famous revolutionary insurgency
