Coastal Scenery Nelson Rangel-Buitrago, 2018-07-03 This book describes an easy to apply methodology to determine the scenic value of a coast As one of the most critical aspects of beach user choice the determination of coastal area scenic quality is of primordial importance This book is therefore an extremely useful tool for any coastal lovers being them users teachers researchers or managers In particular this work is the first book to present a semi quantitative analysis of coastal scenery based on more than 4 000 interviews about people's desired coastal imaginary. Twenty six parameters can be used to identify any coastal scene which have then been sub divided into five attribute categories weighted and subjected to fuzzy logic mathematics to obtain a decision number D. This number D represents the coastal scenery at that point and Five D classes are then presented from I excellent to V poor. Heritage areas like National Parks should lie in Class I which infers top scenic quality. Over a time span of a decade or so the authors of this book have assessed more than 900 global locations using the technique given in this book. One of the main aims of this method is to point out how scenic areas may be improved by judicious intervention relating to parameters mainly anthropogenic chosen for assessment. The content of this book opens perspectives for analysis of the potential for coastal tourism development in natural areas and for landscape quality improvement in current coastal tourist developed areas. In a very comprehensive way this book reviews the main concepts about coastal scenery and through the vast global work experience of the authors presents different methodologies as well as introducing a novel methodology using parameter weightings and fuzzy logic mathematics. Carlos Pereira da Silva CICS NOVA Universidade Nova de Lisboa Lisbon Portugal. Our lives will be greatly enriched by finding beauty but we can use help in defining the many ways beauty can be manifested. This book can help us by informing us of the ways landscapes can be viewed and described from many viewpoints to place our own understanding in better perspective. Karl Nordstrom Geography Department Rutgers University New Jersey USA. How do we define and quantify a coast's scenic value. This is the book. It begins by defining coastal scenery then reviews the approaches to quantifying it followed by a new fuzzy logic approach and examples. It finishes with a chapter on how to manage these attractive landscapes many of which are being overrun and ruined by development. This is a must read for researchers who wish to evaluate and managers who wish to maintain this valuable yet intangible coastal resource. National Library of Medicine Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1966 Marine Geomorphometry Vanessa Lucieer, Margaret Dolan, Vincent Lecours, 2019-06-25. Geomorphometry is the science of quantitative terrain characterization and analysis and has traditionally focused on the investigation of terrestrial and planetary landscapes. However applications of marine geomorphometry have now moved beyond the simple adoption of techniques developed for terrestrial studies driven by the rise in the acquisition of high resolution seafloor data and by the availability of user friendly spatial analytical tools. Considering that the seafloor represents 71% of the surface of our planet this is an important step towards understanding the Earth in its entirety. This volume is the first one dedicated to marine applications of geomorphometry. It showcases studies addressing the five steps of geomorphometry: sampling a surface e.g. the seafloor; generating a Digital Terrain Model (DTM) from samples; preprocessing the DTM for subsequent analyses e.g. correcting for errors and artifacts; deriving terrain attributes and/or extracting terrain features from the DTM; and using and explaining those terrain attributes and features in a given context. Throughout these studies authors address a range of challenges and issues associated with applying geomorphometric techniques to the complex marine environment including issues related to spatial scale data quality and linking seafloor topography with physical geological biological and ecological processes As marine geomorphometry becomes increasingly recognized as a sub discipline of geomorphometry this volume brings together a collection of research articles that reflect the types of studies that are helping to chart the course for the future of marine geomorphometry
