Today given the well publicized impacts of events such as El Niño there is an unequalled public awareness of how climate affects the quality of life and environment. Such awareness has created an increasing demand for accurate climatological information. This information is now available in one convenient accessible source: the Encyclopedia of World Climatology. This comprehensive volume covers all the main subfields of climatology, supplies information on climates in major continental areas and explains the intricacies of climatic processes. The level of presentation will meet the needs of specialists, university students and educated laypersons. A successor to the 1986 Encyclopedia of Climatology, this compendium provides a clear explanation of current knowledge and research directions in modern climatology. This new encyclopedia emphasizes climatological developments that have evolved over the past twenty years. It offers more than 200 informative articles prepared by 150 experts on numerous subjects ranging from standard areas of study to the latest research studies. The relationship between climatology and both physical and social science is fully explored, as is the significance of climate for our future well-being. The information is organized for speedy access. Entries are conveniently arranged in alphabetical order, thoroughly indexed and cross-referenced. Every entry contains useful citations to additional source materials. The Editor, John E. Oliver, is Professor Emeritus at Indiana State University. He holds a B.Sc. from London University and a MA and Ph.D. from Columbia University. He taught at Columbia University and then at Indiana State where he was formerly Chair of the Geography/Geology Department and Associate Dean College of Arts and Sciences. He has written many books and journal articles in Climatology, Applied Climatology and Physical Geography. Applied Geography: Issues, Questions, and Concerns M.S. Kenzer, 2013-11-11. The completion of this collection took many months and for a variety of reasons required the assistance and indulgence of a number of individuals. First and foremost I would like to thank Tim Hudson for his useful input and support at the outset of the project. Likewise I would like to thank Jesse O. McKee for providing a hospitable environment during my affiliation with the University of Southern Mississippi. At Louisiana State University I am grateful to Sam Hilliard and Carville Earle for their invaluable understanding. The book became part of the GeoJournal Library as a result of Wolf Tietze's confidence in the topic and because of Henri G. van Dorssen's and Kluwer Academic Publishers' good nature despite numerous problems. Curtis C. Roseman and the remainder of the Geography Department at the University of Southern California where I completed many last-minute details for the volume are to be thanked for the cordial and warm environment I received while a visitor in Los Angeles. Finally, no multi-authored collection reaches completion without the help of many patient contributors. This particular book suffered many setbacks along the way so I am particularly grateful to the authors herein. They demonstrated their compassion and exceptional professionalism throughout by never second-guessing my decisions and by allowing me to remedy the setbacks in my own way. They were a pleasure to work with and they should take pride in their achievements.
