Development John Clammer, 2014-11-13 Culture is not simply an explanation of last resort but is itself a rich multifaceted and contested concept and set of practices that needs to be expanded appreciated and applied in fresh ways if it is to be both valued in itself and to be of use in practical development This innovative book places culture specifically in the form of the arts back at the centre of debates in development studies by introducing new ways of conceptualizing art in relation to development The book shows how the arts and development are related in very practical ways as means to achieve development goals through visual dramatic filmic and craft inspired ways It advocates not so much culture and development but rather for the development of culture Without a cultural content to economic and social transformation the problems

found in much development up rooting of cultures loss of art forms languages and modes of expression and performance may only accelerate Paying attention to the development of the arts as the content of development helps to amend this culturally destructive process Finally the book argues for the value of the arts in attaining sustainable cultures promoting poverty alleviation encouraging self empowerment stimulating creativity and the social imagination which in turn flow back into wider processes of social transformation Discussion questions at the end of each chapter make this book ideal to help foster further thinking and debate This book is an inspiring read for postgraduate students and researchers in the fields of development studies cultural studies and sociology of development

Communicating Development with Communities Linje

Manyozo,2017-07-14 Development theory and practice are often taught in a manner that strips them of their historical context and obscures alternative intellectual assumptions and critical frameworks This prevents students from acquiring a holistic understanding of the world and consequently when it comes to development practice most lack the skills to live and engage with people It has become crucial to properly consider what it means to conceive and implement participatory development out in the field and not just in the boardroom Building on the work of Robert Chambers and Arturo Escobar Communicating Development with Communities is an empirically grounded critical reflection on how the development industry defines imagines and constructs development at the implementation level Unpacking the dominant syntax in the theory and practice of development the book advocates a move towards relational and indigenous models of living that celebrate local ontologies spirituality economies of solidarity and community ness It investigates how subaltern voices are produced and appropriated and how well meaning experts can easily become oppressors The book propounds a pedagogy of listening as a pathway that offers a space for interest groups to collaboratively curate meaningful development with and alongside communities This is a valuable resource for academics and practitioners in the fields of Development Studies

Communication for Development Communication for Social Change Social Anthropology Economic Development and Public Policy Foreword by Robin Mansell Routledge Handbook of South-South Relations Elena Fiddian-Qasmiyeh, Patricia Daley, 2018-12-18 South South cooperation is becoming ever more important to states policy makers and academics Many Northern states international agencies and NGOs are promoting South South partnerships as a means of sharing the burden in funding and undertaking development assistance and protection activities often in response to increased political and financial pressures on their own aid budgets However the mainstreaming of Southern led initiatives by UN agencies and Northern states is paradoxical in many ways especially because the development of a South South cooperation paradigm was originally conceptualised as a necessary way to overcome the exploitative nature of North South relations in the era of decolonisation This handbook critically explores diverse ways of defining the South and of conceptualising and engaging with South South relations Through 30 state of the art reviews of key academic and policy debates the handbook evaluates past present and future opportunities and challenges of South South cooperation and lays out research agendas for the next 5 10 years The book covers key models of cooperation including internationalism Pan Arabism and Pan Africanism diverse modes of South South connection exchange and support including South South aid transnational activism and migration and responses to displacement violence and conflict including Southern led humanitarianism peace building and conflict resolution In so doing the handbook reflects on decolonial postcolonial and anticolonial theories and methodologies exploring urgent questions regarding the nature and implications of conducting research in and about the global South and of applying a Southern lens to a wide range of encounters processes and dynamics across the global South and global North alike This handbook will be of great interest to scholars and post graduate students in anthropology area studies cultural studies development studies history geography international relations politics postcolonial studies and sociology Lights, Camera, Feminism? Samantha Majic, 2023-05-16 Celebrities in the United States have drawn significant attention and resources to the complex issue of human trafficking a subject of feminist concern and they are often criticized for promoting sensationalized and simplistic understandings of the issue In this comprehensive analysis of celebrities anti trafficking activism however Samantha Majic finds that this phenomenon is more nuanced even as some celebrities promote regressive issue narratives and carceral solutions others use their platforms to elevate more diverse representations of human trafficking and feminist analyses of gender inequality Lights Camera Feminism thus argues that we should understand celebrities as multilevel political actors whose activism is shaped and mediated by a range of personal and contextual factors with implications for feminist and democratic politics more broadly Human Rights and Humanitarian Intervention Norbert Frei, Daniel Stahl, Annette Weinke, 2017-08-28 Wie Menschenrechte zu einer Legitimationsgrundlage für militärische Interventionen wurden Die Balkankriege der neunziger Jahre der Völkermord in Ruanda und die Darfur Krise dienten als Katalysatoren einer Debatte die die Koordinaten internationaler Politik und des Völkerrechts nachhaltig verändert hat Der Verweis auf humanitäre

Notlagen und Menschenrechtsverletzungen wurde zu einem der wichtigsten Argumente um Eingriffe einzelner Staaten oder Staatenbesitznisse auf fremdem Territorium zu legitimieren. Die dadurch angestoßene Neuverhandlung internationaler Normen ging einher mit einer Relativierung des Souveränitätsprinzips und des Gewaltverbots. Der Aufstieg des sogenannten New Humanitarianism während der neunziger Jahre war nicht zuletzt das Resultat politischer und kultureller Wandlungsprozesse, deren Wurzeln in der Zeit vor dem Ende der bipolaren Weltordnung lagen. Die Aushöhlung des Unparteilichkeitsgebots humanitärer Akteure, der Aktivismus einer Neuen Linken und die Entstehung einer neuen Ethik der Dringlichkeit haben die Formen und Ziele des Humanitarismus grundlegend verändert. Der Band nimmt gleichermaßen die Rolle von Regierungen, supranationale und nichtstaatliche Akteure wie NGOs, Medien und Sozialwissenschaften in den Blick.

International Aid and the Making of a Better World Rosalind Eyben, 2014-04-03 How can international aid professionals manage to deal with the daily dilemmas of working for the wellbeing of people in countries other than their own? A scholar, activist and lifelong development practitioner seeks to answer that question in a book that provides a vivid and accessible insight into the world of aid: its people, ideas and values against the backdrop of a broader historical analysis of the contested ideals and politics of aid operations from the 1960s to the present day. Moving between aid recipient countries, head office and global policy spaces, Rosalind Eyben critically examines her own behaviour to explore what happens when trying to improve people's lives in far away countries and warns how self-deception may construct obstacles to the very change desired. Considering the challenge to traditional aid practices posed by new donors like Brazil who speak of history and relationships, the book proposes that to help make this a better world, individuals and organisations working in international development must respond self-critically to the dilemmas of power and knowledge that shape aid's messy relations. Written in an accessible way with vignettes, stories and dialogue, this critical history of aid provides practical tools and methodology for students in development studies, anthropology and international studies and for development practitioners to adopt the habit of reflexivity when helping to make a better world.

Education, Learning and the Transformation of Development

Amy Skinner, Matt Baillie Smith, Eleanor Brown, Tobias Troll, 2016-07-15 Whilst education has been widely recognised as a key tool for development, this has tended to be limited to the incremental changes that education can bring about within a given development paradigm, as opposed to its role in challenging dominant conceptions and practices of development and creating alternatives. Through a collection of insightful and provocative chapters, this book will examine the role of learning in shaping new discourses and practices of development. By drawing on contributions from activists, researchers, education and development practitioners from around the world, this book situates learning within the wider political and cultural economies of development. It critically explores if and how learning can shape processes of societal transformation and consequently a new language and practice of development. This includes offering critical accounts of popular, informal and non-formal learning processes as well as the contribution of indigenous knowledges in providing spaces for the co-production of knowledge thinking and action on development and in terms of shaping the ways in which citizens engage with and create new understandings of development itself This book makes an important and original contribution by reframing educational practices and processes in relation to broader global struggles for justice voice and development in a rapidly changing development landscape The Routledge Handbook to Rethinking Ethics in International Relations Birgit

Introduction to Critical Global Development Uma Kothari,Elise Klein,2023-07-01 This stimulating and accessible Advanced Introduction critically engages with dominant modernist and ahistorical narratives of development foregrounding the overlooked dissonant discourses that are largely written out of mainstream development It argues that development discourse and practice must remain aware of how historically unequal relations continue to be reproduced today and outlines a range of effective strategies for guiding change towards achieving global social justice Celebrity Humanitarianism and North-South Relations Lisa Ann Richey,2015-08-20 Discussion over celebrity engagement is often limited to theoretical critique or normative name calling without much grounded research into what it is that celebrities are doing the same or differently throughout the world Crucially little attention has been paid to the Global South either as a place where celebrities intervene into existing politics and social processes or as the generator of Southern celebrities engaged in do gooding This book examines what the diverse roster of celebrity humanitarians are actually doing in and across North and South contexts Celebrity humanitarianism is an effective lens for viewing the multiple and diverse relationships that constitute the links between North and South New empirical findings on celebrity humanitarianism on the ground in Thailand Malawi Bangladesh South Africa China Haiti Congo US Denmark and Australia illustrate the impact of celebrity humanitarianism in the Global South and celebrityization participation and democratization in the donor North By investigating one of the most mediatized and distant representations of humanitarianism the celebrity intervention from a

Lisa Ann Richey, Stefano Ponte, 2016-03-17 This collection brings together an interdisciplinary group of scholars exploring how development financing and interventions are being shaped by a wider and more complex platform of actors than usually considered in the existing literature The contributors also trace a changing set of key relations and alliances in development those between business and consumers NGOs and celebrities philanthropic organizations and the state diaspora groups and transnational advocacy networks ruling elites and productive capitalists and between new donors and developing country governments Despite the diversity of these actors and alliances several commonalities arise they are often based on hybrid transnationalism and diffuse notions of development responsibility rather than being new per se they are newly being studied as engaging in practices that are now coming to be understood as development and they are limited in their ability to act as agents of development by their lack of accountability or pro poor commitment The articles in this collection point to images and representations as increasingly important in development branding and suggest fruitful new ground for critical
