Following Jesus in a Culture of Fear (The Christian Practice of Everyday Life) Scott Bader-Saye, 2007-06-01 Through politics marketing news programming and popular culture we are taught to fear often in ways that profit others But what does all this fear do to our moral lives as it forms or deforms our character and our judgment Drawing on Christian scripture and tradition Following Jesus in a Culture of Fear articulates a response to fear that resists an ethic of security in favor of fostering an ethic of risk The Christian virtues of hospitality peacefulness and generosity are presented as the way to defeat the counter virtues of suspicion preemption and control Pastors students and lay people will find this unique book both accessible and intriguing EXCERPT Do not be afraid We live in a time when this biblical refrain cannot be repeated too often Both John Paul II in 1978 and his successor Benedict XVI in 2005 used these words to begin their papacies Among all the things the church has to say to the world today this may be the most important No one has to be convinced that we live in fearful times though we are not always sure what we should be afraid of and why We suspect that our fears make us vulnerable to manipulation but we find it hard to quell the fear long enough to analyze how it is being produced and directed for the benefit of others One reason we are a more fearful culture today despite the fact that the dangers are not objectively greater than in the past is because some people have incentives and means to heighten manipulate and exploit our fears Fear is a strong motivator and so those who want and need to motivate others politicians advertisers media executives advocacy groups even the church turn to fear to bolster their message I call this the fear for profit syndrome and it is rampant We have become preoccupied with unlikely dangers that take on the status of imminent threats producing a culture where fear determines a disproportionate number of our personal and communal decisions The sense of ever increasing threats can overwhelm our ability to evaluate and respond proportionately to each new risk thus we allow fear to overdetermine our actions
