Creating The Caribbean 30 Future Caribbean Small Island Developing States:

Small Island Developing States Stefano Moncada, Lino Briguglio, Hilary Bambrick, Ilan Kelman, Catherine Iorns, Leonard Nurse, 2021-10-19 This book explores how vulnerable and resilient communities from SIDS are affected by climate change proposes and where possible evaluates adaptation activities identifies factors capable of enhancing or inhibiting SIDS people's long term ability to deal with climate change and critiques the discourses vocabularies and constructions around SIDS dealing with climate change The contributions written by well established scholars as well as emerging authors and practitioners in the field include conceptual papers coherent methodological approaches and case studies from the communities based in the Caribbean Sea and the Indian Atlantic and Pacific Oceans In their introduction the editors contextualise the book within the current literature They emphasise the importance of stronger links between climate change science and policy in SIDS both to increase effectiveness of policy and also boost scholarly enquiry in the context of whose communities are often excluded by mainstream research This book is timely and appropriate given the recent commission by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC of a Special Report that aims at addressing vulnerabilities especially in islands and coastal areas as well as the adaptation and policy development opportunities following the Paris Agreement Coupled with this there is also the need to support the policy community with further scientific evidence on climate change related issues in SIDS accompanying the first years of implementation of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals

Mapping cultural policies of the Small Island Development States UNESCO, 2024-05-23 Building Resilience to Climate Change in Small Island Developing States (SIDS) in the Caribbean C. D. Metcalfe, Erin R.

Bennett, 2023-08-25 This book summarizes approaches that integrate the environmental economic and physical domains with the values and needs of the population are necessary to develop sustainable strategies that will enhance the resilience of small islands within the context of inter island differences in geology ecology societal attitudes governance and human and economic resources The impacts of coastal damage and flooding are predicted to worsen during this century due to rising sea levels and increases in the frequency and intensity of storms The usual approach to coastal protection in Small Island Developing States SIDS in the Caribbean is to view both the hazards and the solutions from the Ocean Side perspective and to react with hard engineering solutions These structural engineering approaches prevent damage and disruptions to services associated with predictable events but leave communities vulnerable to future events that do not follow historical trends Furthermore engineered structures do not adequately address the systemic nature of climate change nor account for compounding threats e g coincidence of hurricane season and global pandemics To move from this traditional strategy for managing risks from coastal hazards we need to consider a portfolio of solutions that enhance island protection and community resilience Nature Based Solutions NBS are gaining attention as practical and cost effective approaches for mitigating climate based stressors However deployment of NBS strategies requires spatial coordination within the context of ridge to reef or integrated water resource management IWRM approaches that include the creation of conditions for social acceptance equity effective governance and financial incentives
