Partnerships for Sustainability in Contemporary Global Governance Liliana B.

Andonova, Moira V. Faul, Dario Piselli, 2022-05-30 Partnerships for Sustainability in Contemporary Global Governance investigates the goals ideals and realities of sustainability partnerships and offers a theoretical framework to help disentangle the multiple and interrelated pathways that shape their effectiveness Partnerships are ubiquitous in research and policy discussions about sustainability and are important governance instruments for the provision of public goods While partnerships promise a great deal there is little clarity as to what they deliver If partnerships are to break free from this paradox more nuance and rigor are required for understanding and assessing their actual effects This volume applies its original framework to diverse empirical cases in a way that could be extended to broader data sets and case studies of partnerships The dual contribution of this volume theoretical and empirical holds promise for a more thorough and innovative understanding of the pathways to partnership effectiveness and the conditions that can shape their performance The broad range of crosscutting analyses suggest important practical implications for the design of new partnerships and the updating of existing initiatives This interdisciplinary book will be of great interest to researchers students and practitioners within international relations political science sociology environmental studies and global studies as well as the growing number of scholars in public policy global health and organizational and business studies who are keen to gain a deeper understanding of the pathways and mechanisms that influence the outcomes and effectiveness of cross sector collaboration and transnational governance more broadly The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Says Who?* Connie Newton, Fran Early, 2015 Introduction Respect and value people. Build trust through relationships. Do with rather than for. Ensure feedback and accountability. Evaluate every step of the way. Conclusion Discussion guide Appendix Governance Entrepreneurs Liliana B. Andonova, 2017-11-02 Global partnerships have transformed international institutions by creating platforms for direct collaboration with NGOs, foundations, companies, and local actors. They introduce a model of governance that is decentralized, networked, and voluntary, and which melds public purpose with private practice. How can we account for such substantial institutional change in a system made by states and for states? Governance Entrepreneurs examines the rise and outcomes of global partnerships across multiple policy domains: human rights, health, environment, sustainable development, and children. It argues that international organizations have played a central role as entrepreneurs of such governance innovation, in coalition with pro-active states and non-state actors. Yet this entrepreneurship is risky, and success is not assured. This is the first study to leverage comprehensive quantitative and qualitative analysis that illuminates the variable politics and outcomes of public-private partnerships across multilateral institutions, including the UN Secretariat, the World Bank, United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), the World Health Organization (WHO), and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). Collaborating against Human Trafficking Kirsten Foot, 2015-09-03 In the fight against human trafficking, cross-sector collaboration is vital, but often systemic tensions undermine the effectiveness of these alliances. Kirsten Foot explores the most potent sources of such difficulties, offering insights and tools that leaders in every sector can use to re-think the power dynamics of partnering. Weaving together perspectives from many sectors, including business, donor foundations, mobilization and advocacy NGOs, faith communities, and survivor activists, as well as government agencies, law enforcement, and providers of victim services, Foot assesses how differences in social location, financial well-being, race, gender, etc., and sector-based values contribute to interpersonal, inter-organizational, and cross-sector challenges.

She convincingly demonstrates that finding constructive paths through such multi level tensions by employing a mix of shared leadership strategic planning and particular practices of communication and organization can in turn facilitate more robust and sustainable collaborative efforts An appendix provides exercises for use in building evaluating and trouble shooting multi sector collaborations as well as links to online tools and recommendations for additional resources All royalties from this book go to nonprofits in U S cities dedicated to facilitating cross sector collaboration to end human trafficking For more information and related resources please visit <http://CollaboratingAgainstTrafficking.info>
