Metabolic Reactions in the Nervous System Abel Lajtha, 2013-11-21 When the projected volumes of the Handbook are completed most of our current knowledge of the biochemistry of nervous systems will have been touched upon A number of the chapters will have dealt with the correlations of the biochemical findings with morphological and physiological parameters as well Considering the abysmal lack of such attempts even in the recent past this is a sign of great progress If the reader's eventual goal is to derive the laws that relate various aspects of animal and human behavior to underlying physiological and biochemical function these admirable volumes will help him to establish a firm biochemical base from which to operate It is certain that the future approaches to the various problems of the information processing functions of the nervous system will require an integrated understanding of the essence of all of the scientific disciplines which are grouped under the general name of neurobiology The rich feast of information offered up in this Handbook will enable those in the non chemical disciplines to pick and choose those areas of chemical information pertinent to their immediate interests Similar types of compendia by physiologists anatomists cyberneticists and psychologists have been helpful to chemists and continue to be so

Handbook of Neurochemistry Abel Lajtha, 2013-11-11 This volume is concerned with the enzymes of the nervous system Cerebral enzymes form the basis of the functional brain They are needed for the control of the energetics of the nervous system whether it be their release or their direction for the elaboration of transmitters and for their destruction for the synthesis transport and breakdown of all metabolites of the nervous system They are indispensable for the control of the multitude of factors that govern our thinking and our behavior They make it possible for us to comprehend what is taking place around us and perhaps to understand what may be in store for us Enzymes are the stuff of life and no living cell can be without them They are the results of many millions of years of evolution from the time when biological membranes first came into being and were folded to produce the first cells within which the earliest enzymes were wrought Countless changes have taken place within them so that now only those enzymes exist that play specific roles in the functions of the living cells of today Those in the nervous system possess a multiple role in the creation maintenance and ultimate breakdown of the component cells and in enabling consciousness perception memory and thought to become possible But though life may go on forever the enzymes that make life possible will undergo the many changes involved in the evolutionary process
