Fetal Pig Dissection Simulation:

Virtual Fetal Pig Dissection as an Agent of Knowledge Acquisition and Attitudinal Change in Female High School Students Rebecca S. Maloney,2002 One way to determine if all students can learn through the use of computers is to introduce a lesson taught completely via computers and compare the results with those gained when the same lesson is taught in a traditional manner This study attempted to determine if a virtual fetal pig dissection can be used as a viable alternative for an actual dissection for females enrolled in high school biology classes by comparing the knowledge acquisition and attitudinal change between the experimental virtual dissection and control actual dissection groups Two hundred and twenty four students enrolled in biology classes in a suburban all girl parochial high school participated in this study Female students in an all girl high school were chosen because research shows differences in science competency and computer usage between the genders that may mask the performance of females on computer based tasks in a science laboratory exercise Students who completed the virtual dissection scored significantly higher on practical and objective tests that were used to measure knowledge acquisition Attitudinal change was measured by examining the students attitudes toward dissections computer usage in the classroom and toward biology both before and after the dissections using pre and post surveys Significant results in positive gain scores were found in the virtual dissection group2s attitude toward dissections and their negative gain score toward virtual dissections Attitudinal changes toward computers and biology were not significant A purposefully selected sample of the students were interviewed in addition to gathering a sample of the students2 daily dissection journals as data highlighting their thoughts and feelings about their dissection experience Further research is suggested to determine if a virtual laboratory experience can be a substitute for actual dissections or may serve as an enhancement to an actual dissection moving toward extinction with the help of local citizens advocating for change at their shelter as well as animal rescue and welfare organizations providing assistance and advocacy Learning more about the practice as well as alternatives will help give readers a fuller picture of what's happening in American animal shelters and what they can do to stem the tide of dealers and brokers sweeping off animals to their almost certain demise The American Biology Teacher, 1999

Helms, 1989-08-15 This book is designed to encourage and give direction to the natural urge to inquire about living things what they are and how and why they work as they do One intention in writing this manual was to assure that learning in the laboratory need not depend on expensive elaborately furnished facilities Thus requirements for materials and equipment have been kept to a minimum Pref Why Dissection? Lynette A. Hart, Mary W. Wood, Benjamin L. Hart, 2008-02-28 Why do students continue to dissect animals in biology classes Why despite the excellence of teaching resources for veterinary and human medical education that substitute for dissection do those provided for pre college students fall short in convenience flexibility and coordination with the curriculum Why Dissection Animal Use in Education looks beyond the typical yes or no debate about dissection to understand how we came to our current practice of dissection in intermediate and high school biology even as preparation of health professionals has moved away from dissection Despite the many forces that support the continued use of dissection in pedagogy teachers retain much autonomy in how they teach in the classroom and legislation in many states provide specific requirements for what should and should not be taught in separated science and health curricula offering students the option to not engage in dissection Why Dissection walks students teachers and parents through these options to help them make more informed choices regarding their science education options Data Sources ,2000
