Do What You Love And Other Lies About Success And Happiness:

Do What You Love Miya Tokumitsu, 2015-08-11 The American claim that we should love and be passionate about our job may sound uplifting or at least harmless but Do What You Love exposes the tangible damages such rhetoric has leveled upon contemporary society Do you love what you do This mantra is so often repeated that it has become part of the American ethos Find a career that you re passionate about Work hard and maintain a good attitude be persistent and all good things will come to you wealth or at least material comfort job satisfaction a sense of self worth and the happiness that comes from achieving success in a profession that you have chosen and find fulfilling Except as this penetrating fact filled book reveals most of these ideas are lies and have been co opted by corporate interests as a way to pay their employees as little as possible and to strip away the hard won benefits and protections that wage earners used to enjoy After all if you truly love what you do pedestrian concerns about salary health care and retirement savings can take a back seat Passion and devotion are what matter Therefore unpaid internships abound they re opportunities full time positions are being replaced by freelance and contract work it s flexible and the amount of debt that one has to incur even to get in the game can be crippling Both a rallying cry for a disempowered workforce to reclaim its footing on the economic ladder and an eye opening expos of the ways that doing what you love can actually make your goals less achievable this compact insightful and brilliantly argued call to arms might just spark a much needed workplace revolution After Disruption Trevor

Owens, 2024-05-06 The digital age is burning out our most precious resources and the future of the past is at stake In After Disruption A Future for Cultural Memory Trevor Owens warns that our institutions of cultural memory libraries archives museums humanities departments research institutes and more have been disrupted and largely not for the better He calls for memory workers and memory institutions to take back control of envisioning the future of memory from management consultants and tech sector evangelists After Disruption posits that we are no longer planning for a digital future but instead living in a digital present In this context Owens asks how we plan for and develop a more just sustainable and healthy future for cultural memory The first half of the book draws on critical scholarship on the history of technology and business to document and expose the sources of tech startup ideologies and their pernicious results revealing that we need powerful and compelling counter frameworks and values to replace these ideologies The second half of the book makes the case for the centrality of maintenance care and repair as interrelated frameworks to build a better future in which libraries archives and museums can thrive as sites of belonging and connection through collections On the Clock Emily

Guendelsberger, 2019-07-16 Nickel and Dimed for the Amazon age Salon the biting funny eye opening story of finding work in the automated and time starved world of hourly low wage labor After the local newspaper where she worked as a reporter closed Emily Guendelsberger took a pre Christmas job at an Amazon fulfillment center outside Louisville Kentucky There the vending machines were stocked with painkillers and the staff turnover was dizzying In the new year she travelled to North Carolina to work at a call center a place where even bathroom breaks were timed to the second And finally Guendelsberger was hired at a San Francisco McDonald s narrowly escaping revenge seeking customers who pelted her with condiments Across three jobs and in three different parts of the country Guendelsberger directly took part in the revolution changing the U S workplace Offering an up close portrait of America s actual essential workers On the Clock examines the broken social safety net as well as an economy that has purposely had all the slack drained out and converted to profit Until robots pack boxes resolve billing issues and make fast food human beings supervised by AI will continue to get the job done Guendelsberger shows us how workers went from being the most expensive element of production to the cheapest and how low wage jobs have been remade to serve the ideals of efficiency at the cost of humanity On the Clock explores the lengths that half of Americans will go to in order to make a living offering not only a better understanding of the modern workplace but also surprising solutions to make work more humane for millions of Americans Work Pray Code Carolyn

Chen,2023-08-22 How tech giants are reshaping spirituality to serve their religion of peak productivity Silicon Valley is known for its lavish perks intense work culture and spiritual gurus Work Pray Code explores how tech companies are bringing religion into the workplace in ways that are replacing traditional places of worship blurring the line between work and religion and transforming the very nature of spiritual experience in modern life Over the past forty years highly skilled workers have been devoting more time and energy to their jobs than ever before They are also leaving churches synagogues and temples in droves but they have not abandoned religion Carolyn Chen spent more than five years in Silicon Valley conducting a wealth of in depth interviews and gaining unprecedented access to the best and brightest of the tech world The result is a penetrating account of how work now satisfies workers needs for belonging identity purpose and transcendence that religion once met Chen argues that tech firms are offering spiritual care such as Buddhist inspired mindfulness practices to make their employees more productive but that our religious traditions communities and public sphere are paying the price We all want our jobs to be meaningful and fulfilling Work Pray Code reveals what can happen when work becomes religion and when the workplace becomes the institution that shapes our souls The Parenthood Dilemma Gina

Rushton,2023-09-05 Our Culture Magazine Best Book of 2023 Rushton s work is generous thoughtful and honest taking care neither to romanticize nor to disparage the choice to become a parent Jenny Hamilton Booklist starred review A bold feminist investigation into the mother of all questions whether or not to become a parent in these turbulent times Should we become parents This timeless question forces us to reckon with who we are and what we love and fear most in ourselves in our relationships and in the world as it is now and as it will be When Gina Rushton admitted she had little time left to make the decision for herself the magnitude of the choice overwhelmed her Her search for her own yes or no only uncovered more questions to be answered How do we clearly consider creating a new life on a planet facing catastrophic climate change How do we reassess the gender roles we have been assigned at birth and by society How do we balance ascending careers with declining fertility How do we know if we've found the right co-parent or if we want to go it alone or if we don't want to do it at all To seek clarity on these questions Rushton spoke to doctors sociologists economists and ethicists as well as parents and childless people of all ages and from around the world Here she explores and presents policies data and case studies from people who have made this decision one way or the other and shows how the process can be revelatory in discovering who we are as individuals Drawing on the depth of knowledge afforded by her body of work as an award-winning journalist on the abortion beat Rushton wrote the book that she needed and we all need to stop a panicked internal monologue and start a genuine dialogue about what we want from our lives and why

Work of Fiction Christina Williams, 2024-08-20 Work of Fiction: Making a Living from Writing in the UK explores the lived experiences of fiction writers in the UK and how they make a living Based on a substantial body of interviews with a range of fiction writers it considers the ways that writers think about and talk about writing as work and how discourses of writing operate to support or undermine them as cultural workers It argues that discourses of love luck magic and being a writer function in complex ways to position writers in enchanted and elevated spaces which both nurture their practice and undermine their status as remunerated workers in the creative sector The book shows how the positives and negatives of often precarious cultural work are played out for fiction writers It has implications for writers in the ways that they think about and talk about themselves as workers and how the publishing industry values their contributions

The Trouble with Passion Erin Cech, 2021-10-26 Probing the ominous side of career advice to follow your passion this data-driven study explains how the passion principle fails us and perpetuates inequality by class gender and race and it suggests how we can reconfigure our relationships to paid work Follow your passion is a popular mantra for career decision making in the United States Passion seeking seems like a promising path for avoiding the potential drudgery of a life of paid work but this passion principle is seductive as it is does not universally translate The Trouble with Passion reveals the significant downside of the passion principle the concept helps culturally legitimize and reproduce an exploited overworked white collar labor force and broadly serves to reinforce class race and gender segregation and inequality Grounding her investigation in the paradoxical tensions between capitalism's demand for ideal workers and our cultural expectations for self-expression sociologist Erin A Cech draws on interviews that follow students from college into the workforce surveys of US workers and experimental data to explain why the passion principle is such an attractive if deceptive career decision making mantra particularly for the college-educated Passion seeking presumes middle class safety nets and springboards and penalizes first generation and working class young adults who seek passion without them The ripple effects of this mantra undermine the promise of college as a tool for social and economic mobility The passion principle also feeds into a culture of overwork encouraging white collar workers to tolerate precarious employment and gladly sacrifice time money and leisure for work they are passionate about And potential employers covet but won't compensate passion among job applicants This book asks What does it take to center passion in career decisions Who gets ahead and who gets left behind by passion seeking The Trouble with Passion calls for citizens educators college administrators and industry leaders to reconsider how we think about good jobs and by extension good lives Silenced Voices and the Media James Morrison, Sarah Pedersen, 2024-10-04 This edited collection delves into the multifaceted theme of Silenced Voices showcasing a diverse array of perspectives from scholars around the globe From historical reflections to contemporary analyses the book examines the complex dynamics of voice suppression and enablement across different media landscapes Divided into four thematic sections the chapters explore the challenges faced by marginalized and mainstream voices alike From the portrayal of silenced narratives in the news media to the representation of underrepresented groups in cultural production the collection spans a wide spectrum of issues Authors employ varied methodological approaches to investigate the silencing of voices in the realms of politics society and professional media practices Offering fresh insights and critical reflections this volume serves as a timely contribution to ongoing debates surrounding freedom of expression fake news and the complexities of contemporary media environments Sherlock Holmes from Screen to Stage Benjamin Poore, 2017-08-24 This book investigates the development of Sherlock Holmes adaptations in British theatre since the turn of the millennium Sherlock Holmes has become a cultural phenomenon all over again in the twenty first century as a result of the television series Sherlock and Elementary and films like Mr Holmes and the Guy Ritchie franchise starring Robert Downey Jr In the light of these new interpretations British theatre has produced timely and topical responses to developments in the screen Sherlocks stories Moreover stage Sherlocks of the last three decades have often anticipated the knowing metafictional tropes employed by screen adaptations This study traces the recent history of Sherlock Holmes in the theatre about which very little has been written for an academic readership It argues that the world of Sherlock Holmes is conveyed in theatre by a variety of games that activate new modes of audience engagement J. M. Coetzee and Neoliberal Culture Andrew Gibson, 2022 Reads the writings of J M Coetzee against the democratic culture of neoliberalism and examines how by aesthetic means he enters a range of nuanced subtly inflected differences with the dominant culture and how his readers can enter them via attention to his work Who Runs the Artworld Brad Buckley, John Conomos, 2017-09-01 Who Runs the Artworld Money Power and Ethics examines the economics and mythologies of today s global artworld It unmaskes the complex web of relationships that now exist among high profile curators collectors museum trustees and corporate sponsors and the historic and ongoing complicity between the art and money markets The book examines alternative models being deployed by curators and artists influenced by the 2008 global financial crisis and the international socio political Occupy movement with a particular focus on a renewed activism by artists This activism is coupled with an institutional and social critique led by groups such as Liberate Tate the Precarious Workers Brigade and Strike Debt Who Runs the Artworld Money Power and Ethics brings together a diverse range of thinkers who draw on the disciplines of art theory social sciences and cultural economics and curatorship and the lived experience of artists The contributors to this book are in their respective contexts working at the forefront of these compelling issues The Influencer Industry Emily Hund, 2025-03-25 A critical history of the social media influencer's rise to global prominence Art and Postcapitalism Dave Beech, 2019-10-20 Artistic labour was exemplary for Utopian Socialist theories of attractive labour and Marxist theories of nonalienated labour but the rise of the anti work movement and current theories of fully automated luxury communism have seen art topple from its privileged place within the left's political imaginary as the artist has been reconceived as a prototype of the precarious 24/7 worker Art and Postcapitalism argues that art remains essential for thinking about the intersection of labour capitalism and postcapitalism not insofar as it merges work and pleasure but as an example of noncapitalist production Reassessing the contemporary politics of work by revisiting debates about art technology and in the nineteenth and twentieth century Dave Beech challenges the aesthetics of labour in John Ruskin William Morris and Oscar Wilde with a value theory of the supersession of capitalism that sheds light on the anti work theory by Silvia Federici Andre Gorz Kathi Weeks and Maurizio Lazzarato as well as the technological Cockayne of Srnicek and Williams and Paul Mason Formulating a critique of contemporary postcapitalism and developing a new understanding of art and labour within the political project of the supersession of value production this book is essential for activists scholars and anyone interested in the real and imagined escape routes from capitalism Ecologies of Artistic Practice Ashley Lee Wong, 2025-05-27 An in depth look at how we make and circulate art today and how creative and economic processes shape the meaning and value of artworks In Ecologies of Artistic Practice Ashley Lee Wong explores the economic relationships of artists working at the nexus of art and technology as they negotiate a means to make art in a neoliberal creative economy Wong looks at the diverse ways in which artworks circulate both online and offline in galleries on digital platforms and on media facades and investigates some of the mechanisms that enable artists to create works including selling artworks and NFTs grants licensing commissions and artist residencies The book also looks at the ways in which artists collaborate with corporations and develop practices as commercial entities themselves The book provides unique insights into the diverse creative and economic processes that shape the meaning and value of artworks Wong seeks to shift away from notions of individual authorship and finite artworks that can be bought and sold and instead toward an understanding of artistic practices as collaborative social and cultural processes Rather than critique this economy Ecologies of Artistic Practice opens space for engaging in hypercommercialized contexts while considering how money is not an end goal but a means to initiate or continue an artistic process Translation and Affect Kaisa Koskinen, 2020-06-15 In an age of AI and automated translation the affective remains a decisively human condition Translation and Affect is a collection of essays that investigate the role of affects and emotions across the spectrum of translatorial activities and areas from public service interpreting to multilingual poetry recitals from translator training to translation technology In an effort at creating a consilient approach that bridges different research traditions in Translation Studies Koskinen uses affective labour and affects and their stickiness as a lens to understand how it feels to translate and how translations feel Written in a personal and engaging style the book encourages readers interested in translation issues to look at translation as an affective practice and to explore and reflect their own ways of living with translation Working Women on Screen Ellie

Tomsett, Nathalie Weidhase, Poppy Wilde, 2024-02-19 Working Women on Screen Paid Labour and Fourth Wave Feminism critically examines screen media representations of women's participation in the contemporary labour market The edited collection brings together contributions on Aesthetic Labour Power Politics and Neoliberal Industries and Sex Sexuality and Relationships Within the context of fourth wave feminism there has been a new proliferation in the global media landscape of representations of women's paid labour This has coincided with the development of critical and ideological issues surrounding intersectionality and culture wars as well as the impacts of recessions political upheavals and pandemics Workplace dynamics and post MeToo politics have led to the complexification of structures oppressions and relationships that impact what women can do for money As a result the working woman is now a constant presence on our screens though articulated in widely divergent ways The chapters within this collection critique issues that are deeply embedded in neoliberal conceptions of contemporary feminism such as aspects of lean in culture structural oppression and women's experiences of the glass ceiling and glass cliff The volume as a whole will analyse representations related to the intersecting dynamics of gender race class sexuality and disability in television film social media and video games It will be key reading for students and scholars in media gender and cultural studies Can't Even Anne Helen Petersen, 2020 An incendiary examination of burnout in millennials the cultural shifts that got us here the pressures that sustain it and the need for drastic change A Burdensome Experiment Christien Philmarc Tompkins, 2024 A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more In the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina the New Orleans public school board fired nearly 7 500 teachers and employees In the decade that followed the city created the first urban public school system in the United States to be entirely contracted out to private management Veteran educators collectively referred to as the backbone of the city's Black middle class were replaced by younger less experienced white teachers who lacked historical ties to the city In A Burdensome Experiment Christien Philmarc Tompkins argues that the privatization of New Orleans schools has made educators into a new kind of racialized worker As school districts across the nation backslide on school integration Tompkins asks who exactly deserves to teach our children The struggle over this question exposes the inherent antiblackness of charter school systems and the unequal burdens of school choice Pathways into Creative Working Lives Stephanie Taylor, Susan Luckman, 2020-08-27

This book presents research on pathways into creative work The promise of doing what you love continues to attract new entrants to the cultural and creative industries Is that promise betrayed by the realities of pathways into creative work or does a creative identification offer new personal and professional possibilities in the precarious contexts of contemporary work and employment Two decades into the 21st century aspiring creative workers undertake training and higher education courses in increasing numbers Some attempt to convert personal enthusiasms and amateur activities into income earning careers To manage the uncertainties of self employment workers may utilise skills developed in other occupations even developing timely new forms of collective organisation The collection explores the experience of creative career entrants in numerous national contexts including Australia Belgium China Ireland Italy Finland the Netherlands Russia the US and the UK Chapters investigate the transitions of new workers and the obstacles they encounter on creative pathways Chapters 1 12 and 15 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer.com

Affective Capitalism in Academia Daniel Nehring, Kristiina Brunila, 2023-01-16 Drawing on affect theory and research on academic capitalism this book examines the contemporary crisis of universities With 11 international and comparative case studies it offers a unique exploration of the contemporary role of affect in academic labour and the organisation of scholarship and explores diverse features of contemporary academic life from the colonality of academic capitalism to performance management and the experience of being performance managed
