

A 3D visualization of a city map, likely representing a digital elevation model (DEM) or a similar spatial data representation. The terrain is rendered in shades of blue and white, with the highest elevations in white and lower elevations in blue. The map shows a complex urban layout with numerous rectangular blocks and a network of roads or streets. The perspective is from an elevated angle, looking down at the city. The overall style is modern and technical, typical of GIS (Geographic Information System) software output.
