Resources,2021-03-19 Whether it is earning a GED a particular skill or technical topic for a career taking classes of interest or even returning to begin a degree program or completing it adult learning encompasses those beyond the traditional university age seeking out education This type of education could be considered non traditional as it goes beyond the typical educational path and develops learners that are self initiated and focused on personal development in the form of gaining some sort of education Essentially it is a voluntary choice of learning throughout life for personal and professional development While there is often a large focus towards K 12 and higher education it is important that research also focuses on the developing trends technologies and techniques for providing adult education along with understanding lifelong learners choices developments and needs The Research Anthology on Adult Education and the Development of Lifelong Learners focuses specifically on adult education and the best practices services and educational environments and methods for both the teaching and learning of adults This spans further into the understanding of what it means to be a lifelong learner and how to develop adults who want to voluntarily contribute to their own development by enhancing their education level or knowledge of certain topics This book is essential for teachers and professors course instructors business professionals school administrators practitioners researchers academicians and students interested in the latest advancements in adult education and lifelong learning Animal Models for Assessing Countermeasures to Bioterrorism

Agents National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Institute for Laboratory Animal Research,Committee on Animal Models for Assessing Countermeasures to Bioterrorism Agents,2012-01-09 The Transformational Medical Technologies TMT has been a unique component of the U S Department of Defense DoD medical biodefense efforts since 2006 Its mission is to advance countermeasure research and development in support of the broader goal of the DoD to protect warfighters from emerging infectious diseases and future genetically engineered biological weapons The TMT using advanced science and technology approaches focused on the development of roadspectrum countermeasures that target common host and pathogen pathways or enhance the host s immune response Many of these pathogens are lethal or cause such debilitating diseases in humans that it is ethically inappropriate to test the efficacy of these countermeasures in human volunteers In lieu of human participants these products may be tested in animals and approved for human use under the provisions of the Food and Drug Administration FDA s 2002 Animal Rule The reliance on animal models for the development and licensure of medical countermeasures against biothreats is challenging for a number of reasons The ad hoc Committee on Animal Models for Assessing Countermeasures to Bioterrorism Agents prepared a consensus report that would address the challenges stemming from developing and testing medical countermeasures against bioterror agents in animal models. Animal Models for Assessing Countermeasures to Bioterrorism Agents evaluates how well the existing TMT employed or candidate animal models reflect the pathophysiology, clinical picture and treatment of human disease as related to the agents of interest. The report addresses the process and feasibility of developing new animal models for critical biodefense research, placing emphasis on the need for a robust and expeditious validation process in terms of the FDA's Animal Rule. The report also evaluates alternatives to the use of animal models based on the premise of the Three Rs. Introduction to the Principalship Leslie S. Kaplan, William A. Owings, 2023-09-26. Based on evidentiary studies, major depression in either parent can interfere with parenting quality and increase the risk of children developing mental, behavioral, and social problems. Depression in Parents, Parenting, and Children highlights disparities in the prevalence, identification, treatment, and prevention of parental depression among different sociodemographic populations. It also outlines strategies for effective intervention and identifies the need for a more interdisciplinary approach that takes biological, psychological, behavioral, interpersonal, and social contexts into consideration. A major challenge to the effective management of parental depression is developing a treatment and prevention strategy that can be introduced within a two-generation framework conducive for parents and their children. Thus far, both the federal and state response to the problem has been fragmented, poorly funded, and lacking proper oversight. This study examines options for widespread implementation of best practices as well as strategies that can be effective in diverse service settings for diverse populations of children and their families. The delivery of adequate screening and successful detection and treatment of a depressive illness and prevention of its effects on parenting and the health of children is a formidable challenge to modern health care systems. This study offers seven solid recommendations designed to increase awareness about and remove barriers to care for both the depressed adult and prevention of effects in the child. The report will be of particular interest to federal health officers, mental and behavioral health providers in diverse parts of health care delivery systems, health policy staff, state legislators, and the general public.

Health Technology Assessment in Japan Isao Kamae, 2019-09-03 Representing the first book on the topic, this work offers the reader an introduction to the Japanese systems for health technology assessment (HTA), officially introduced by the Ministry of Health, Labour, and Welfare (MHLW) in 2016. Policy and guidelines are discussed with the relevant methods and conditions of cost-effectiveness analysis explained alongside numerous instructive examples and exercises ranging from basic to advanced, impart valuable knowledge and insight on the quantitative methods for economic evaluation which will appeal to both beginners and experts. This guidebook is authored by Japan's foremost expert in HTA and pharmacoeconomics with a view to strengthening the reader's expertise in value-based healthcare and decision making. The methods presented are essential to informing regulatory, local, and patient decisions, as such the book is equally recommended to industry and government as well as academia and anyone with an interest in Japanese HTA.
