Chinese Model Experience And Predicament Chinese Edition:

How the Communist Party of China Manages the Issue of Nationality Shiyuan Hao, 2015-11-30 This book introduces the background of China's issue of nationality from the very beginning. Throughout the country's history, all the nationalities that lived and prospered on Chinese land created a pattern of cultural diversity within national unity through their interaction and integration. The formation of this pattern is due not only to the geographical fact that China covers a broad expanse on the Asian continent but also to the historical fact that it is home to disparate and ancient human heritages and to culturally diverse historical sources. The book's five chapters explain the evolution of the CPC's policy towards nationalities. At the time of the PRC's founding, the Common Program in essence an interim Constitution passed by the Chinese People's Political Consultative Congress, which was composed of people from all sectors of society and all of China's nationalities, not only declared that people of all China's nationalities had equal rights but also stipulated that regional national autonomy would be practiced in all areas where minority nationalities were concentrated; that all nationalities had the right to develop their native languages and culture and to maintain or reform their customs and religious beliefs; and also mandated that people's governments support the development of minority nationalities in the areas of politics, the economy, culture, and education. In the final section, the book demonstrates that the subject of how the CPC addresses nationality-related issues is a dynamic one that encompasses the past, present, and future and is simultaneously an answer, a process, and a question.

Chinese Models of Development Tse-Kang Leng, Yu-Shan Wu, 2014-11-20 Discussion of the Chinese Model abounds with the rise of China. This volume analyzes the Chinese case in a theoretical framework, provides an evolutionary perspective, and compares it with other models of development. Instead of focusing on one specific case, the book's contributors shed light on the application of theories of international relations, comparative politics, and development studies to the topic under deliberation. This book reflects that the uniqueness of the Chinese model should also be put in an historical and evolutionary context. It also provides insights into comparisons with other models of development, such as the East Asian model and experiences of the former Soviet Union. The authors in the book argue that while globalization constrains state power, it may also open new windows of accommodation and adjustments. Linkages between the domestic dynamics of development and external forces of change become pertinent in understanding the Chinese models of development.

Megaregulation Contested Benedict Kingsbury, David M. Malone, Paul Mertenskötter, Richard B. Stewart, Thomas Streinz, Atsushi Sunami, 2019-06-06 The Japan-led Trans-Pacific Partnership (CPTPPA) of 2018 is the most far-reaching megaregional economic agreement in force with several major countries beyond its eleven negotiating countries also interested. Still bearing the stamp of the original US involvement before the Trump era reversal, TPP is the first instance of megaregulation, a demanding combination of inter-state economic ordering and national regulatory governance on a highly ambitious substantive and trans-regional scale. Its text and ambition have influenced other negotiations ranging from the

Japan EU Agreement JEEPA and the US Mexico Canada Agreement USMCA to the projected Pan Asian Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership RCEP This book provides an extensive analysis of TPP as a megaregulatory project for channelling and managing new pressures of globalization and of core critical arguments made against economic megaregulation from standpoints of development inequality labour rights environmental interests corporate capture and elite governance Specialized chapters cover supply chains digital economy trade facilitation intellectual property currency levels competition and state owned enterprises government procurement investment prescriptions for national regulation and the TPP institutions Country studies include detailed analyses of TPP related politics and approaches in Japan Mexico Brazil China India Indonesia and Thailand Contributors include leading practitioners and scholars in law economics and political science At a time when the WTO and other global scale institutions are struggling with economic nationalism and geopolitics and bilateral and regional agreements are pressed by public disagreement and incompatibility with digital and capital and value chain flows the megaregional ambition of TPP is increasingly important as a precedent requiring the close scrutiny this book presents

Anthropology of Cultural Transformation II Xudong Zhao, 2024-02-26 This book is the second of a two volume set on the anthropology of cultural transformation It examines how cultural consciousness enriches and reshapes the vision of anthropology and ethnographic writing Anthropology in the twenty first century is confronted with a worldview of cultural transformation based on communication collision and interaction among cultures around the globe This two volume set aims to reorient the role and function of anthropology by focusing on reconstructing knowledge and cultural consciousness to better imagine and realize the synergetic interaction between different cultures and civilizations The second volume begins with a case study of the demolition of urban areas in Beijing revealing a reinvention of public cultural representation It then explores the new paths and missions of Chinese anthropological studies and ethnographic writing which should be grounded in China s indigenous consciousness and cultural reservoir The title will appeal to anthropologists students and general readers interested in anthropology sociology and ethnography

China Turned On James Lull, 2013-06-19 The years following the Cultural Revolution saw the arrival of television as part of China s effort to modernize and open up to the West Endorsed by the Deng Xiaoping regime as a bridge between government and the people television became at once the official mouthpiece of the Communist Party and the most popular form of entertainment for Chinese people living in the cities But the authorities failed to realize the unmatched cultural power of television to inspire resistance to official ideologies expectations and lifestyles The presence of television in the homes of the urban Chinese strikingly broadened the cultural and political awareness of its audience and provoked the people to imagine better ways of living as individuals families and as a nation Originally published in 1991 set within the framework of China s political and economic environment in the modernization period this insightful analysis is based on ethnographic data collected in China before and after the Tiananmen Square disaster From interviews with leading Chinese television executives and nearly one hundred families in Beijing Shanghai Guangzhou and Xian the author outlays how Chinese television fosters opposition to the government through the work routines of media professionals television imagery and the role of critical active audience members

China Unbound Paul A. Cohen, 2003 This is a collection by one of the leading experts on modern Chinese history and historiography Paul Cohen In this absorbing volume he consistently argues for fresh ways of approaching the Chinese past training his critical spotlight alternately on Western historians Chinese historians and the history itself The selection provides a persuasive critique of older approaches to nineteenth and twentieth century history and offers powerful reinterpretations of such diverse topics as the Boxer uprising American China historiography nationalism popular religion and reform While maintaining the view that culture is important the author also suggests that the claims of Western and Chinese cultural difference have largely been exaggerated and have unnecessarily encouraged cultural stereotyping and caricaturing Paul Cohen suggests by repeatedly foregrounding common elements in the thinking and behaviour of Chinese and non Chinese that historians can render China s history intelligible meaningful and even relevant to people in the West With the application of the China centred approach to recent areas of scholarly interest and the expansion and rewriting of essays on more traditional topics Paul Cohen has written a significant contribution to the literature on Chinese history and historiography

Neoliberalism or Neocollective Rural China Xinyu Lu, 2024-12-01 This book presents a groundbreaking critique of neo liberal interpretations of global agricultural development challenging dominant narratives with nuanced analyses rooted in historical and theoretical frameworks It delves into diverse paths of agrarian transformation from the American Path to the Prussian Path examining the complexities of state intervention land ownership and socio political dynamics Furthermore it introduces an alternative vision for agricultural development the construction of Neo collective Rural China Through meticulous examination of case studies spanning China Russia and beyond it unveils the intricacies of rural economies migrant worker trends and grassroots innovations Emphasizing the need for inclusive policies and international collaboration this work reimagines strategies for sustainable growth in the Global South advocating for sovereignty equity and solidarity A compelling synthesis of scholarship it offers fresh insights into the multifaceted challenges facing contemporary agricultural development

Studies of Literature from Marginalized Nations in Modern China, with a Focus on Eastern European Literature Binghui Song, 2024-04-14 This book presents the first systematic study of the 100 year history of translation research reception and influence of Central and Eastern European literature in China from the late Qing Dynasty to the end of the twentieth century This study of Eastern European literature from the perspective of Sino foreign literary relations is based on extensive research into the translation and reception of Central and Eastern European writers such as Milan Kundera S ndor Pet fi Henryk Sienkiewicz Julius Fucik and Bertolt Brecht Since the late nineteenth century the major Chinese writers have paid special attention to the literature of the marginalized Eastern European nations when they have to translate from translations since few of them understand Eastern European languages

The book seeks to identify what attracted the founders of new Chinese literature to Eastern European literature and to define its unique significance for the construction of modern Chinese literature

The U.S. Army and World War II Judith Bellafaire, 1998 The U S Army and World War II is an anthology of selected papers from three international conferences held in 1990 1992 and 1994 on the Army's role in the war Taking the best from those meetings Judith L Bellafaire has organized the various presentations into four thematic categories prewar planning the home front the European theater and the Asian Pacific theaters reflecting the diversity of both the war and the interest of those seeking to understand its many facets In these carefully edited papers one will find the more conventional treatments of doctrine strategy and operations side by side with those focusing on military mobilization and procurement race and gender psychological warfare and large scale advice and assistance programs Despite significant changes in military technology and the geopolitical landscape of the world since those desperate times the human problems highlighted by the authors are not much different from many of those facing Army leaders today Although the past can never provide the specific recipes needed for the future experience has shown that both the basic ingredients and the manner in which they are prepared and processed have remained remarkably constant Those grappling with the challenges of stability operations and other contingency missions in support of the Global War on Terrorism will find this collection of readings invaluable

The China Weekly Review, 1923 Vol 34 includes Special tariff conference issue Nov 6 1925

China into Film Jerome Silbergeld, 2000-03-01 Since 1984 Chinese cinema has been the most dramatic entry onto the international film scene China into Film is the first book to look at contemporary Chinese cinema as a visual art and to illustrate the ways in which it has been shaped by centuries of Chinese tradition Jerome Silbergeld looks at the significance of gender roles the strategies of film makers in coping with state censorship the translation of novels into films the continuing attachment of film makers to melodrama and cinematic critiques of Maoism and post Maoist culture Abundantly illustrated with Chinese paintings as well as scenes from such internationally acclaimed films as Yellow Earth Red Sorghum Raise the Red Lantern and Farewell My Concubine China into Film reveals a cinematic form at once excitingly new and deeply imbedded in traditional Chinese visual culture

Marxism in the Chinese Revolution Arif Dirlik, 2005 Representing a lifetime of research and writing by noted historian Arif Dirlik the essays collected here explore developments in Chinese socialism and the issues that have occupied historians of the Chinese revolution for the past three decades Dirlik engages Chinese socialism critically but with sympathy for the aspirations of revolutionaries who found the hope of social political and cultural liberation in Communist alternatives to capitalism and the intellectual inspiration to realize their hopes in Marxist theory The book's historical approach to Marxist theory emphasizes its global relevance while avoiding dogmatic and Eurocentric limitations These incisive essays range from the origins of socialism in the early twentieth century through the victory of the Communists in mid century to the virtual abandonment by century's end of any pretense to a socialist revolutionary project by the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party All that remains of the revolution in historical hindsight are memories of its failures and misdeeds but Dirlik retains a critical perspective not just toward the past but also toward the ideological hegemonies of the present Taken together his writings reaffirm the centrality of the revolution to modern Chinese history They also illuminate the fundamental importance of Marxism to grasping the flaws of capitalist modernity despite the fact that in the end the socialist response was unable to transcend the social and ideological horizons of capitalism

A Companion to Chinese Cinema Yingjin Zhang, 2012-04-23 A Companion to Chinese Cinema is a collection of original essays written by experts in a range of disciplines that provide a comprehensive overview of the evolution and current state of Chinese cinema Represents the most comprehensive coverage of Chinese cinema to date Applies a multidisciplinary approach that maps the expanding field of Chinese cinema in bold and definitive ways Draws attention to previously neglected areas such as diasporic filmmaking independent documentary film styles and techniques queer aesthetics star studies film and other arts or media Features several chapters that explore China's new market economy government policy and industry practice placing the intricate relationship between film and politics in a historical and international context Includes overviews of Chinese film studies in Chinese and English publications

Decentring the West Viatcheslav Morozov, 2016-04-08 We live in a world where democracy is almost universally accepted as the only legitimate form of government but what makes a society democratic remains far from clear Liberal democratic values are both relativized by the self description of many non democratic regimes as local or culturally specific versions of democracy and undermined by the automatic labelling as democratic of all norms and institutions that are modelled on western states Decentring the West The Idea of Democracy and the Struggle for Hegemony aims to demonstrate the urgent need to revisit the foundations of the global democratic consensus By examining the views of democracy that exist in the countries on the semi periphery of the world system such as Russia Turkey Bolivia Venezuela Brazil and China as well as within the core Estonia Denmark and Sweden the authors emphasize the truly universal significance of democracy also showing the value of approaching this universality in a critical manner as a consequence of the hegemonic position of the West in global politics By juxtaposing critically re evaluating and combining poststructuralist hegemony theory and postcolonial studies this book demonstrates a new way to think about democracy as a truly international phenomenon It thus contributes groundbreaking thought provoking insights to the conceptual and normative aspects of this vital debate

Tourism in China Chris Ryan, (Sam) Huang, 2013-06-07 This book offers an in depth understanding of tourism development and destination planning in China's transitional economy It represents an international collaboration between researchers both in and outside China and provides a unique platform for a broad international audience to better understand China and China tourism issues

Democratic Enlightenment Jonathan Israel, 2013-01-17 Jonathan Israel's radical new account of the late Enlightenment highlights forgotten currents and figures Running counter to mainstream thinking he demonstrates how a group of philosophe revolutionnaires provided the intellectual powerhouse of the French Revolution and how their ideas connect with modern Western democracy      The Challenge of Hong Kong's Reintegration with China Ming K. Chan, 1997-07-01 The seven essays in this volume address some of the critical issues underlining the process of Hong Kong's reintegration with China. In reviewing the drastic changes in Hong Kong since the mid 1980s, the authors provide multi-disciplinary perspectives to articulate the major institutions and forces that shape the interaction between Beijing and Hong Kong and help to define the challenges ahead.

Contemporary China Review [2025 Spring / Summer Issue] Volume 7 Editors of Bouden House, 2025-08-09 The current English language edition of Contemporary China Review centers on the theme of How China Recalibrates Itself at the Intersection of Institutions and Ethics and is organized into sections such as Chinese Scholars View Current Affairs and Book Review. The first section approaches the topic from the perspective of political systems and the international order, revisiting the historical echoes of America's Open Door policy and Wilsonianism while engaging with issues of constitutionalism and the economy, party competition and civil society, linking modern and contemporary history to today's governance dilemmas. Current Affairs blends documentary narrative with institutional analysis, focusing on the truth of June Fourth and transitional justice, the governance tactics of the pandemic and the causes and consequences of the White Paper protests. It also features Bei Ming's memorial essay for Cheng Kai, highlighting the ethical choices and personal costs faced by journalists under political pressure. The Book Review section examines the intellectual trajectory of Xu Zhiyong's citizens' faith practice and also reviews recent works such as The China Record and China's Game, offering a systematic critique of the continuities between the imperial tradition and the party-state system, the structural tensions between power and the market, and possible reform pathways. Entirely in English and aimed at an international readership, the issue combines rigorous historical research, careful argumentation, and engaging narrative, seeking to forge a communicable public language that bridges fact, thought, and moral judgment, and to serve as a cross-lingual reference and dialogue platform for academia, the media, and public policy debates.

China at a Threshold James B. Cuffe, 2019-11-28 Once the world's most technologically advanced civilisation, China is poised to yet again take this mantle, having made incredible technological strides over recent decades. But what does this in fact mean? What will this mean for Chinese society and what ramifications might it have for the future? This book offers an account of social change under the growing influence of communications technology in media-saturated urban China. The challenges presented by the rise of technology and its pervasive nature in the mediation of all facets of everyday life pose questions not just for Chinese society but for all contemporary media societies. Drawing on theories from the philosophy of technology and conceptual tools from political anthropology, this title moves beyond debates surrounding mediative technology as a liberating or malevolent force. China at a Threshold addresses academic concerns surrounding communications technology and state control, looking for an interpretative approach to understand the role media might play in social change so that we might ascertain its impact on social relations. Urging a reconsideration in our understanding of technology as neither liberative nor oppressive, the author advances a proposal that brings social forces into play in their own right Taking inspiration from thinkers in philosophy and anthropology this title investigates storytelling and liminal characters as real agents in social change so that we might identify alternative forces for change not reducible to technological impact or human proclivity Millard's Review of the Far East ,1927 Vol 34 includes Special tariff conference issue Nov 6 1925
