Europe in an Era of Growing Sino-American Competition Sebastian Biba, Reinhard Wolf, 2021-03-18 This book investigates how Europe should position itself in an era of growing Chinese American rivalry The volume explores the contemporary relationship and ongoing dynamics between three of the most powerful players in today's international relations the USA China and Europe It claims that the intensifying antagonism between Washington and Beijing requires a paradigm shift in European strategic thinking and takes a trilateral perspective in analysing key issue areas such as trade technology investment climate change the BRI sub national contacts maritime security and nuclear non proliferation Using this analysis the work seeks to offer original policy recommendations that respond to a number of dilemmas Europe can no longer avoid including the trade off between European interests and values in a harsher global environment the question of whether Europe should align with one of the two superpowers Europe's military dependence on a US pivoting to the Asia Pacific and possible trade offs between global and regional governance efforts The key finding is that Europe must follow a much more pragmatic and independent approach to its foreign and security affairs This book will be of much interest to students of EU policy foreign policy Chinese politics US politics and IR in general

The Making of European Security Policy Roberta Haar, Thomas Christiansen, Sabina Lange, Sophie Vanhoonacker, 2021-05-17 This volume addresses how and in what capacity the European Union and its member states are able to respond to fundamental shifts occurring in global politics and remain relevant for the future The changing nature of the international system is subject to considerable contestation among scholars with many claiming that the fundamentals of the post war international system are being rewritten This volume brings together prominent scholars in the field of European security to address a range of pertinent issues related to Europe's role in the context of evolving global challenges The first section focuses on whether the EU is an actor with a strategic nature and the means to act on a global security strategy The second section considers the institutional dynamics and the approaches at the EU's disposal to fulfil its possible intended global roles. The third section addresses Europe's most important strategic relationship, the partnership it has with the United States. This section considers the recalibration of the transatlantic relationship in light of the changing international system and the reorientation of US foreign policy. This book will be of much interest to students of European Union policy, European Security policy, European Foreign policy and International Relations in general.

Responding to China's Rise Vinod K. Aggarwal, Sara A. Newland, 2014-10-29. In this edited volume a set of issue and country experts tackle questions regarding China's current rise to power within the current international economic and political order. The current international system is governed by a Western conception of order and based on the primacy of post World War II rules drawn from liberal models of capitalism and democracy practiced in the US and in Western Europe. In this context the most important and most uncertain questions facing the West over the next decade concern how the EU and the US will respond to China's rapid growth. Will the transatlantic relationship hold and become stronger faced with this new economic and geopolitical challenge? Or will the US and the EU, an increasingly prominent global player, compete for economic and political advantage? After a brief introduction laying out the circumstances of China's economic and political rise and the challenges that this poses to the existing international order, the book proceeds in three sections. The first section provides competing theoretical perspectives on China's rise in a historical context. The second section provides a distinctly Chinese perspective on China's current rise. The third section looks at responses from the United States and the European Union focusing on both economic and security issues as well as the implications of China's rise for US-EU relations. This book is relevant to both scholars and policymakers concerned with Chinese domestic politics and foreign policy, US foreign policy, EU foreign policy, China-US relations, China-EU relations, international security, international political economy and emerging markets.

The Success of Sanctions Francesco Giumelli, 2016-03-03. The effectiveness of sanctions cannot purely be measured by the way they change the behaviour of their intended target. The degree to which sanctions constrain a rogue state's behaviour and the signals they send to future targets should also be prime considerations. In this thought provoking book Francesco Giumelli measures the true effectiveness of EU sanctions against a range of states including Belarus, Zimbabwe, Moldova, Uzbekistan, the USA and China. He demonstrates that focussing purely on behavioural change is limiting, especially when considering the actions and motivations of an international organisation, and develops a process to evaluate the direct and indirect impact of EU sanctions. Giumelli demonstrates the many different ways sanctions have been used by the EU to produce positive direct and indirect results and provides a multi-level framework to assess the success of sanctions in the future.

The European Union and Global Capitalism Magnus Ryner, Alan Cafruny, 2016-12-16. This book draws on critical theory to introduce readers to ways of exploring questions about the EU from a political economy perspective, questions like: Does the EU help or hinder Europe's social models to face the challenges of globalization? Does the EU represent a break from Europe's imperial past? What were the causes of the Eurozone crisis?
