PLA Influence on China's National Security Policymaking Phillip C. Saunders,Andrew Scobell,2015-09-09 In recent years there have been reports of actions purportedly taken by People's Liberation Army PLA units without civilian authorization and of Chinese Communist Party CCP civilian leaders seeking to curry favor with the military suggesting that a nationalistic and increasingly influential PLA is driving more assertive Chinese policies on a range of military and sovereignty issues To many experienced PLA watchers however the PLA remains a party army that is responsive to orders from the CCP PLA Influence on China's National Security Policymaking seeks to assess the real relationship between the PLA and its civilian masters by moving beyond media and pundit speculation to mount an in depth examination and explanation of the PLA's role in national security policymaking After examining the structural factors that shape PLA interactions with the Party State the book uses case studies to explore the PLA's role in foreign policy crises It then assesses the PLA's role in China's territorial disputes and in military interactions with civilian government and business exploring the military's role in China's civil military integration development strategy The evidence reveals that today's PLA does appear to have more influence on purely military issues than in the past but much less influence on political issues and to be more actively engaged in policy debates on mixed civil military issues where military equities are at stake

The China Alternative Graeme Smith, Terence Wesley-Smith, 2021-03-01 In this collection 17 leading scholars based in Solomon Islands Fiji Papua New Guinea Timor Leste Australia New Zealand the United States and China analyse key dimensions of the changing relationship between China and the Pacific Islands and explore the strategic economic and diplomatic implications for regional actors The China Alternative includes chapters on growing great power competition in the region as well as the response to China's rise by the US and its Western allies and the island countries themselves Other chapters examine key dimensions of China's Pacific engagement including Beijing's programs of aid and diplomacy as well as the massive investments of the Belt and Road Initiative The impact of China's rivalry for recognition with Taiwan is examined and several chapters analyse Chinese communities in the Pacific and their relationships with local societies The China Alternative provides ample material for informed judgements about the ability of island leaders to maintain their agency in the changing regional order as well as other issues of significance to the peoples of the region China's discovery of the diverse Pacific islands intriguingly resonant of the era of European explorers is impacting on this too long overlooked region through multiple currents that this important book guides us through Rowan Callick Griffith University The China Alternative is a must read for all students and practitioners interested in understanding the new geopolitics of the Pacific It assembles a stellar cast of Pacific scholars to deeply explore the impact of the changing role of China on the Pacific islands region Significantly it also puts the Pacific island states at the centre of this analysis by questioning the collective agency they might have in this rapidly evolving strategic context Greg Fry The Australian National University

Power and Complacency Phillip T. Lohaus, 2021-07 The United States is at a crossroads Despite a defense budget that dwarfs that of any of the nation's rivals the marginal return on this investment has decreased dramatically since the end of World War II Why have America's rivals despite inferior resources increasingly set the terms of international competition How might America's leaders reconsider the application of power to ensure a favorable place on an increasingly crowded global stage By tracing the geographic and historical development of four global actors Russia Iran China and the United States Phillip T Lohaus illuminates four equally distinct approaches to competition outside of warfare He argues that while America's actions may have birthed information as a currency of power the nation's failure to fully grasp the implications of this transition has created critical opportunities for its rivals to increase their power at the expense of the United States The American way of competition rooted in a scientific understanding of warfare may impede effectiveness in the amorphous and unscientific landscape of twenty first century competition From Rome to Britain complacency has contributed to the downfall of many empires Yet the slow bleed of American power may still be stanchd by an approach to competition that emphasizes subtlety diffusion and ubiquity America has developed and used these tools in the past its very survival may hinge on returning to them Power and Complacency defines the differing perspectives of America's international conflicts and offers possible solutions for reformulating its superpower strengths China, Faits

Accomplis and the Contest for East Asia Joshua Hastey, 2023-04-28 This book explores China's use of faits accomplis in its periphery and offers the first formal model for the use of faits accomplis by rising powers With growing attention to great power competition and conflict in the gray zone between war and peace this book explains China's use of faits accomplis to revise the maritime status quo in the South and East China Seas Using formal modelling and case study analysis the book argues that while power shifts provide rising states with opportunities to impose faits accomplis to revise the status quo the use of faits accomplis also increase the likelihood of war with the dominant state's The book surveys existing understandings of how power shifts incentivize interstate competition in general and in the case of Sino American competition in particular and brings existing theory and novel modelling to explain China's differing strategies in the South and East China Seas in the first two decades of the 21st century The book concludes by using the lessons from these cases to assess the strategic options available to both states and conditions that make a peaceful resolution more likely This book will be of much interest to students of Chinese politics Asian security studies and International Relations The Improbable War Christopher

Coker, 2014-12-15 The Improbable War explains why conflict between the USA and China cannot be ruled out In 1914 war between the Great Powers was considered unlikely yet it happened We learn only from history and popular though the First World War analogy is the lessons we draw from its outbreak are usually mistaken Among these errors is the tendency to over estimate human rationality All major conflicts of the past 300 years have been about the norms and rules of the international system In China and the US the world confronts two exceptional powers whose values differ markedly with China bidding to challenge the current order The Thucydidean Trap when a conservative status quo power confronts a rising new one may also play its part in precipitating hostilities To avoid stumbling into an avoidable war both Beijing and Washington need a coherent strategy which neither of them has History also reveals that war evolves continually The next global conflict is likely to be played out in cyberspace and outer space and like all previous wars it will have devastating consequences Such a war between the United States and China may seem improbable but it is all too possible which is why we need to discuss it now

China's Cyber Warfare Jason R. Fritz, 2017-03-21 The turn of the century was accompanied by two historically significant phenomena One was the emergence of computer networks as a vital component of advanced militaries and interdependent global economic systems The second concerned China s rise on the global stage through economic reforms that led to sustained growth and military modernization At the same time Chinese government policies and actions have drawn international criticisms including persistent allegations of online espionage domestic Internet censorship and an increased military capability all of which utilize computer networks These threat perceptions are heightened by a lack of transparency Unlike the United States or the North Atlantic Treaty Organization China does not articulate its strategic doctrine Further open source material on this topic is often contradictory cursory and unclear due in part to the absence of consensus on cyber related terminology and the infancy of this field With a focus on the period 1998 to 2016 this book identifies and analyzes the strategic context conceptual framework and historical evolution of China s cyber warfare doctrine

The Armed Forces: Instrument of Peace, Strength, Development and Prosperity Joseph Babatunde Fagoyinbo, 2013 Across the ages technological developments have been accelerated by the military This results from the fact that able bodied vibrant youths are generally involved and are also exposed to high tech training prevailing at their times for assignments defence and security that are essential but not desired They form the Armed Forces for the nations Such brilliant military officers like Caesar and Napoleon made their marks and in contemporary times the Armed Forces of United States France Britain Australia etc are making remarkable contributions to technological developments Such infrastructure as the Internet the GPS and the cell phones are products that have significant military contributions This book scans across the major regions of the world highlights the efforts of representative countries in the regions and observes that nations that have harnessed the efforts of their Armed Forces have progressively developed. It is also observed that developments in America and Europe though not entirely dependent on their Armed Forces have been greatly affected by their efforts. In Asia such countries as the People's Republic of China, Brazil, India, Pakistan and Singapore utilise the human and material resources within the Armed Forces for national growth and cohesion. Development effort is least in the African Region except South Africa and Egypt notwithstanding the high potentials as exhibited by Nigeria's Armed Forces. Although attempts to industrialise through the Armed Forces may be able to create economic development for developing nations, such factors as historical background, economic resources, political climate, government policies and infrastructure are equally important. Economic development programme of an aspiring country should i) promote education and access to knowledge ii) aspire to economic self-sufficiency in economic power iii) allow and promote private sector and foreign participation in defence production research and development iv) commit itself to the establishment and support of defence industries v) indigenise defence programmes establish a balance between military and economic development and vi) mobilise the nation's economy through technology partnership with the private sector and foreign investors.

The Free Sea James Kraska, Raul A. Pedrozo, 2018-06-15. The Free Sea offers a unique single volume analysis of incidents in American history that affected U.S. freedom of navigation at sea. The book spans more than 200 years beginning in the Colonial era with the Quasi War with France in 1798 and extending to contemporary Freedom of Navigation operations in the South China Sea. Through wars and numerous crises with North Korea, North Vietnam, Cambodia, Iran, Russia and China, freedom of navigation has been a persistent challenge for the United States, a nation reliant on open seas for economic prosperity, military security and global order. This volume focuses on the struggle to retain freedom of the seas. Challenges to U.S. warships and maritime commerce have pushed and continue to challenge the United States to vindicate its rights through diplomatic, legal and military means, underscoring the need for the strategic resolve in the global maritime commons.

Modernization of the Chinese PLA: From Massed Militia to Force Projection Lt Gen JS Bajwa, International Maritime Security Law James Kraska, Raul Pedrozo, 2013-04-15. International Maritime Security Law by James Kraska and Raul Pedrozo defines an emerging interdisciplinary field of law and policy comprised of norms, legal regimes and rules to address today's hybrid threats to the global order of the oceans. Worldwide shipping, commerce, fishing, fleets, pleasure craft and coastal states are exposed to the menace of offshore terrorism, weapons of mass destruction, piracy, smuggling, robbery, marine insurgency and anti-access threats. Land-based institutions and maritime constabulary forces operate within an increasingly integrated network that blends elements of humanitarian law, human rights law, criminal law and law of the sea with inspection regimes, commercial enterprise and marine safety and environmental stewardship. The new authorities fuse together a global maritime partnership among states, international organizations and commercial interests to protect the maritime commons from the most dangerous risks and hazards.

has emerged as a major regional power and has clear aspirations to be a global power in the not too distant future Comprehensive military modernisation programs sustained economic scientific and technological developments have substantially elevated China's international profile For the past three decades China has been modernising its strategic weaponry and enhancing the capabilities of its nuclear warheads It has also been developing new and complex military platforms that would be of great value to joint operations warfare The decade from 2011 through 2020 will prove critical to the PLA as it attempts to integrate many new and complex platforms and to adopt modern operational concepts including network centric warfare China's air force is in the midst of a transformation A decade ago it was an antiquated service equipped almost exclusively with weapons based on 1950s era Soviet designs and operated by personnel with questionable training according to outdated employment concepts Today the PLAAF appears to be on its way to becoming a modern highly capable air force for the 21st century The PLA Air Force has continued expanding its inventory of long range advanced SAM systems and now possesses one of the largest such forces in the world The January 2011 flight test of China's next generation fighter prototype the J 20 highlights China's ambition to produce a fighter aircraft that incorporates stealth attributes advanced avionics and super cruise capable engines over the next several years China is upgrading its B 6 bomber fleet with a new longer range variant that will be armed with a new long range cruise missile China's aviation industry is developing several types of airborne early warning and control system AWACS aircraft These include the KJ 200 based on the Y 8 airframe for AWACS as well as intelligence collection and maritime surveillance and the KJ 2000 based on a modified Russian IL 76 airframe China can decisively defeat India in any nuclear confrontation but is currently unable to match the IAF in any conventional conflict specifically along the border region of the Himalayas Also the IAF has greater experience than PLAAF in actual combat operations with its many conflicts India is gradually building powerful military capabilities in tune with its expanding geopolitical interests even as the eastern and western fronts are being strengthened to deter the twin Pakistan China threat IAF is on the path to transform into a true aerospace power with the capability to rapidly deploy and operate at great distances As for the two front challenge apart from progressively basing Sukhoi 30MKI fighters and missile squadrons in the two theatres the plan also includes upgrading the airfields and advanced landing grounds in the sectors in order to give both defensive and offensive options It is important for India to realise the relevance of Chinese achievements in space technologies and to critically view and analyse Chinese achievements in the area of manned space missions In order to achieve further success in the space arena developments in cryogenic technology are important for India These should be pursued in order to develop the capability of launching 4 5 ton satellites which will help in achieving a greater commercial edge Programmes like moon and mars missions using robotic technologies are also important in order to know more about the nature of resources especially minerals available on these bodies and undertaking their mining It is also important to work towards launching satellites for India's armed forces which will help gain an advantage over adversaries The book is an attempt to analyse the strategic importance of rising economic political and military stature of China with a view to understand its regional and global implications in a new world order As a rational actor in a chaotic world China will defend its security interests at all costs Besides undertaking a comprehensive modernisation of its armed forces China is developing a series of offensive space capabilities while advocating the peaceful use of outer space The book will be of immense value not only to the readers of the countries in the immediate neighbourhood of China but to the strategic community across the globe since rise of China and other major Asian players including India will shape the strategic international environment in the decades to come during this century It is hoped that the book will contribute to the understanding of the growing importance of integration of air and space and the fact that aerospace has truly become the new theatre of war and thereby establishing a new milestone in mankind s history of warfare The unifying space dimension will remain the single most important source for information and communication which can be used in multiple forms Hence China s aerospace strategy and its implications for India assume greater military importance

Indian Air Force: The Case for Indigenisation Air Commodore Jasjit Singh, 2013-03-15 Just think the last combat aircraft designed by the 74 year old HAL Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd with its expansive infrastructure was in the 1950s and it was an excellent aircraft Thirty years later an ad hoc interim institution called ADA Aeronautics Development Agency was set to design the LCA Light Combat Aircraft under the DRDO management Thirty years later the aircraft has yet to enter service although the Indian Air Force has ordered 40 aircraft knowing they do not meet the qualitative requirements set in the early 1980s leave alone the 21st century Even the primary trainer for rookie pilots has just begun to be imported Obviously something is wrong for a long time and obviously it is a systemic problem This volume sets out to historically examine and present a balanced understatement of the facts Some of the leading experts in the profession of aerospace identify the problems The reader is left to form his judgment and what appears an obvious solution The Air Force is the most concerned stakeholder in the quality and quantity of military aircraft but it seems to have been left on the sidelines in the process of to be criticised as being against indigenisation We recognise that India is way behind the developed countries and China now in design and development of military aviation We don't have to go far to find the way ahead Ninety five percent of the Indian Navy's warships and submarines are designed and manufactured in the country though many systems inside like its missiles may be acquired from the best in the world The reason is starkly so simple that South Block itself does not notice it Naval Head Quarters contain within its organisation under the leadership and the Chief of Naval Staff the Directorate of Naval Design as well as the Controller of Warship Production besides the other supporting organisations like WESEE etc Hence when the indigenous INS Delhi sailed out in the 1990s the international community began to look at Indian Navy with new respect Why can't similar system be established for the Army and the Air Force Read the volume to ask your questions and mull over possible solutions
