Digital China: Modern Chinese Consumers Ashley Dudarenok, 2019-01-01 China s millennials and young people from third tier cities are becoming China s consumer powerhouses However there s more to the country than people in their prime earning years and the obvious youth market Chinese consumers are on everyone s mind Who are they What do they want and need How are they buying and how much are they spending This indispensable guide is for anyone who wants to understand how people in China make their purchases and what leads them to make their purchasing decisions Here s an excerpt to give you a taste China is one of the most dynamic and appealing markets in the world With more than 500 million active online shoppers China attracts brands and companies from all over the world Multifunctional social media platforms mobile payment apps mini programs non stop shopping festivals thousands of influencers KOLs promoting brands on their live streaming channels and instantly changing trends can overwhelm even experienced marketers not to mention newcomers Who should I target How can I sell my product to them These and many other questions occupy marketing departments around the world In an attempt to stay on trend and increase brand awareness many Western companies have already merged their e commerce and social media efforts But establishing a social media presence doesn t guarantee success in China How much do you know about recent trends in social media We ve created this mini book to help marketers better understand ten key consumer profiles in 2019 You ll also find out about hot trends on Chinese social media in the summer and fall of 2019 We ll dive into case studies and information that will empower you to take action and make wise decisions when it comes to your marketing budget Modern Chinese Consumers Consumption in China is expected to grow to 6.1 trillion USD by 2021 Although estimates have been tempered by recent tariff and trade disagreements China s standard of living is still expected to keep increasing and the country still has large segments of the population that are underserved A large proportion of Chinese people live in smaller cities and rural areas Reports indicate that over 50% of sales from the Luxury Pavilion in Alibaba s Tmall are from customers who live outside Tier 1 and 2 cities On top of this by 2021 70% of spending is expected to come from those in the 18-35 year age group who are mostly China's Millennials. Understanding the mindset and preferences of Chinese consumers is crucial to success in the China market. What are they really like? While old ideas and stereotypes may persist, the truth is Chinese consumers, especially those in top-tier cities, are the most sophisticated and spoiled in the world. The China market is currently flooded with a wide variety of domestic and foreign brands offering a vast array of products. However, with increasing purchasing power, there's still an eagerness for novelty and even more quality choices. This is why most Chinese consumers, especially those in first and second-tier cities, prioritize product quality. They expect high-calibre, personalized products and services that are reasonably priced. They're also accustomed to quick turnarounds, so they want them fast. Having said that, it's not realistic to describe all Chinese consumers as a whole. There are a variety of consumer types and markets within China, and to understand Chinese consumers more deeply, we need to divide them into different consumer groups. Each of them has their own characteristics and purchasing preferences. Let's take a dive into today's most significant consumer groups.

The 2018 book China's Evolving Consumers: 8 Intimate Portraits edited by Tom Nunlist has a wealth of insights about modern Chinese consumers. This compilation has fascinating perspectives because, in addition to research, some of the writers are insiders writing about their own experiences and those of their peers in a given demographic. We see this book as an important reference in this section along with our own observations and experience in the market.
