Chinas New Cultural Scene A Handbook Of Changes:

China's New Cultural Scene Marie Claire Huot, 2000 Portrays the ongoing revolution in cultural production that has transformed contemporary life in the People's Republic of China China's New Voices Nimrod Baranovitch, 2003-08-01 This is the most comprehensive study to date of the rich popular music scene in contemporary China Focusing on the city of Beijing and drawing upon extensive fieldwork China's New Voices shows that during the 1980s and 1990s rock and pop music combined with new technologies and the new market economy have enabled marginalized groups to achieve a new public voice that is often independent of the state Nimrod Baranovitch analyzes this phenomenon by focusing on three important contexts ethnicity gender and state politics His study is a fascinating look at the relationship between popular music in China and broad cultural social and political changes that are taking place there Baranovitch's sources include formal interviews and conversations conducted with some of China's most prominent rock and pop musicians and music critics with ordinary people who provide lay perspectives on popular music culture and with others involved in the music industry and in academia Baranovitch also observed recording sessions concerts and dance parties and draws upon TV broadcasts and many publications in Chinese about popular music keywords Ethnicity Handbook of Contemporary China Alvin Y. Cook, Matthew D. Johnson, Sigrid Schmalzer, Joshua Goldstein, 2014-09-26 Visualizing Modern China Image History and Memory 1750 Present offers a sophisticated yet accessible interpretation of modern Chinese history through visual imagery With rich illustrations and a companion website it is an ideal textbook for college level courses on modern Chinese history and on modern visual culture The introduction provides a methodological framework and historical overview while the chronologically arranged chapters use engaging case studies to explore important themes Topics include Qing court ritual rebellion and war urban rural relations art and architecture sports the Chinese diaspora state politics film propaganda and censorship youth in the Cultural Revolution environmentalism and Internet culture Companion website <http://visualizingmodernchina.org> Lives in Chinese Music Helen Rees, 2010-10-01 Until recently most scholarly work on Chinese music in both Chinese and Western languages has focused on genres musical structure and general history and concepts rather than on the musicians themselves This volume breaks new ground by focusing on individual musicians active in different amateur and professional music scenes in mainland China Hong Kong and Chinese communities in Europe Using biography to deepen understanding of Chinese music contributors present richly contextualized portraits of rural folk singers urban opera singers literati and musicians on both geographic and cultural frontiers The topics investigated by these authors provide fresh insights into issues such as the urban rural divide the position of ethnic minorities within the People's Republic of China the adaptation of performing arts to modernizing trends of the twentieth century and the use of the arts for propaganda and commercial purposes The social and political history of China serves as a backdrop to these discussions of music and culture as the lives chronicled here illuminate experiences from the pre Communist period through the Cultural Revolution to the present Showcasing multiple facets of Chinese musical life this collection is especially effective in taking advantage of the liberalization of mainland China that has permitted researchers to work closely with artists and to discuss the interactions of life and local and national histories in musicians' experiences Contributors are Nimrod Baranovitch Rachel Harris Frank Kouwenhoven Tong Soon Lee Peter Micic Helen Rees Antoinet Schimmelpenninck Shao Binsun Jonathan P J Stock and Bell Yung

Locating China Jing Wang, 2007-05-07 Taking a multidisciplinary approach this volume examines the relationship between space and the production of local popular culture in contemporary China The international team of contributors examine the inter relationship between the cultural imaginary of a given place and China's continuing drive towards urbanization This has led to the development of new spaces and places and new forms of spatial practices that destabilize old concepts of the local and locality Delivering ethnographic observations and theoretical speculations this work furthers our understanding of the link between spatial thinking and the production of consumer culture in China

Pop Culture China! Kevin Latham, 2007-07-27 This exciting title in ABC CLIO's Popular Culture in the Contemporary World series offers the nonspecialist reader the only up to date introduction to all facets of popular culture in China China's release from Maoist austerity has produced an explosion in popular culture The Chinese have embraced such technologies as television and cell phones and shaped them to their own social context Understanding modern China requires a thorough knowledge of daily life there This book presents readers from high school and college students to the inquisitive tourist with that knowledge The author a scholar of Chinese culture draws on his own fieldwork along with authoritative scholarship and reporting to give the reader a comprehensive lively and accessible introduction to all aspects of Chinese popular culture The book begins with an introduction to understanding popular culture in China and covers mass media print media cinema film and video the Internet and also discusses the rise of consumption and consumerism From the modernization of traditional theater to the traditional uses of modern technology this book presents a guide to the emerging culture of a country that will inevitably become increasingly influential in coming years

The People's Peking Man Sigrid Schmalzer, 2009-05-15 In the 1920s an international team of scientists and miners unearthed the richest evidence of human evolution the world had ever seen Peking Man After the communist revolution of 1949 Peking Man became a prominent figure in the movement to bring science to the people In a new state with twin goals of crushing superstition and establishing a socialist society the story of human evolution was the first lesson in Marxist philosophy offered to the masses At the same time even Mao's populist commitment to mass participation in science failed to account for the power of popular culture represented most strikingly in legends about the Bigfoot like Wild Man to reshape ideas about human nature The People's Peking Man is a skilled social history of twentieth century Chinese paleoanthropology and a compelling cultural and at times comparative history of assumptions and debates about what it means to be human By focusing on issues that push against the boundaries of science and politics The People's Peking Man offers an innovative approach to modern Chinese history and the history of science

The Question of Women in Chinese Feminism Tani Barlow, 2004-03-25 Barlow documents the history of woman as a category in twentieth century Chinese history tracing the question of gender through various phases in the literary career of Ding Ling a major modern Chinese writer

Corruption and Realism in Late Socialist China Jeffrey Kinkley, 2006-10-26 As China's centrally planned economy and welfare state have given way to a more loosely controlled version of late socialism public concern about economic reform's downside has found expression in epic novels about official corruption and its effects While the media shied away from dealing with these issues novelists stepped in to fill the void Anti corruption fiction exploded onto the marketplace and into public consciousness spawning popular films and television series until a clampdown after 2002 that ended China's first substantial realist fiction since the 1989 Beijing massacre With frankness and imagination seldom allowed journalists novelists have depicted the death of China's rust belt industries the gap between rich and poor social unrest i.e. riots and the questionable new practices of entrenched communist party rulers Corruption and Realism examines this rebirth of the Chinese political novel and its media adaptations explaining how the works reflect contemporary Chinese life and how they embody Chinese traditions of social criticism literary realism and contemplation of taboo subjects This is the first book to investigate such novels and includes excerpts from personal interviews with China's three most famous anticorruption novelists From Tian'anmen to Times Square Gina Marchetti, 2006 From Tian'anmen to Times Square Transnational China and the Chinese Diaspora on Global Screens 1989-1997 explores the important interconnections involving questions of race ethnicity gender and sexuality on world screens by examining a range of films videos and digital works associated with global Chinese culture The ways in which the world has imagined China and the images the Chinese have used to depict themselves have changed dramatically since 1989 The media spotlight placed on Beijing during the spring of 1989 created repercussions that continue to affect how China is seen globally how it sees itself and how the Chinese outside the People's Republic see themselves The films and other texts included in this book represent a range of work by media artists working within China Hong Kong Taiwan Singapore and on transnational co-productions involving those places The book also features media from other positions within the Chinese diaspora including Chinese America and work produced on China by non-Chinese Highlighting questions of the circulation of images people and commodities the book explores the important interconnections involving questions of race ethnicity gender and sexuality on global screens Beginning and ending with Tian'anmen and world image culture a portrait emerges of momentous change and persistent challenges facing media artists and filmmakers working within Greater China The Emerging Lesbian Tze-Lan D. Sang, 2003-01-15 In early twentieth century China age-old traditions of homosocial and homoerotic relationships between women suddenly became an issue of widespread public concern Discussed formerly in terms of friendship and sisterhood these relationships came to be associated with feminism on the one hand and psychobiological perversion on the other a radical shift whose origins have long been unclear In this first ever book-length study of Chinese lesbians Tze-lan D Sang convincingly ties the debate over female same-sex love in China to the emergence of Chinese modernity As women's participation in social economic and political affairs grew Sang argues so too did the societal significance of their romantic and sexual relations Focusing especially on literature by or about women preferring women Sang traces the history of female same-sex relations in China from the late imperial period 1600-1911 through the Republican era 1912-1949 She ends by examining the reemergence of public debate on lesbians in China after Mao and in Taiwan after martial law including the important roles played by globalization and identity politics In Search of Singularity Joanna Krenz, 2022-08-22 In Search of Singularity introduces a new comparative methodology that seeks to understand how the interplay of paired texts creates meaning in new transcultural contexts Bringing the worlds of contemporary Polish and Chinese poetry since 1989 into conversation with one another Joanna Krenz applies the concept of singularity to draw out resonances and intersections between these two discourses and shows how they have responded to intertwined historical and political trajectories and a new reality beyond the human Drawing on developments such as AI poetry and ecopoetry Krenz makes the case for a fresh approach to comparative poetry studies that takes into account new forms of poetic expression and probes into alternative grammars of understanding China with a Cut Jeroen de Kloet, 2010 Jeroen de Kloet is assistant professor at the Department of Media Studies of the University of Amsterdam The Netherlands

The Columbia Companion to Modern East Asian Literature Joshua S. Mostow, 2003-07-10 This extraordinary one volume guide to the modern literatures of China Japan and Korea is the definitive reference work on the subject in the English language With more than one hundred articles that show how a host of authors and literary movements have contributed to the general literary development of their respective countries this companion is an essential starting point for the study of East Asian literatures Comprehensive thematic essays introduce each geographical section with historical overviews and surveys of persistent themes in the literature examined including nationalism gender family relations and sexuality Following the thematic essays are the individual entries over forty for China over fifty for Japan and almost thirty for Korea featuring everything from detailed analyses of the works of Tanizaki Jun ichiro and Murakami Haruki to far ranging explorations of avant garde fiction in China and postwar novels in Korea Arrayed chronologically each entry is self contained though extensive cross referencing affords readers the opportunity to gain a more synoptic view of the work author or movement The unrivaled opportunities for comparative analysis alone make this unique companion an indispensable reference for anyone interested in the burgeoning field of Asian literature Although the literatures of China Japan and Korea are each allotted separate sections the editors constantly kept an eye open to those writers works and movements that transcend national boundaries This includes for example Chinese authors who lived and wrote in Japan Japanese authors who wrote in classical Chinese and Korean authors who write in Japanese whether under the colonial occupation or because they are resident in Japan The waves of modernization can be seen as reaching each of these countries in a staggered fashion with eddies and back flows between them then complicating the picture further This volume provides a vivid sense of this dynamic interplay Encyclopedia of Contemporary Chinese Culture Edward Lawrence Davis, 2005 First Published in 2009

Historical Dictionary of Modern Chinese Literature Li-hua Ying, 2021-11-15 Modern Chinese literature has been flourishing for over a century with varying degrees of intensity and energy at different junctures of history and points of locale. An integral part of world literature from the moment it was born, it has been in constant dialogue with its counterparts from the rest of the world. As it has been challenged and enriched by external influences, it has contributed to the wealth of literary culture of the entire world. In terms of themes and styles, modern Chinese literature is rich and varied, from the revolutionary to the pastoral, from romanticism to feminism, from modernism to post modernism, critical realism, psychological realism, socialist realism, and magical realism. Indeed, it encompasses a full range of ideological and aesthetic concerns. This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Modern Chinese Literature presents a broad perspective on the development and history of literature in modern China. It offers a chronology, introduction, bibliography, and over 400 cross-referenced dictionary entries on authors, literary and historical developments, trends, genres, and concepts that played a central role in the evolution of modern Chinese literature.

Children of Marx and Coca-Cola Xiaoping Lin, 2009-11-02 Children of Marx and Coca Cola affords a deep study of Chinese avant garde art and independent cinema from the mid 1990s to the beginning of the twenty first century. Informed by the author's experience in Beijing and New York, global cities with extensive access to an emergent transnational Chinese visual culture, this work situates selected artworks and films in the context of Chinese nationalism and post socialism, and against the background of the capitalist globalization that has so radically affected contemporary China. It juxtaposes and compares artists and independent filmmakers from a number of intertwined perspectives, particularly in their shared avant garde postures and perceptions. Xiaoping Lin provides illuminating close readings of a variety of visual texts and artistic practices, including installation, performance, painting, photography, video, and film. Throughout, he sustains a theoretical discussion of representative artworks and films, and succeeds in delineating a variegated postsocialist cultural landscape saturated by market forces, confused values, and lost faith. This refreshing approach is due to Lin's ability to tackle both Chinese art and cinema rigorously within a shared discursive space. He, for example, aptly conceptualizes a central thematic concern in both genres as postsocialist trauma aggravated by capitalist globalization. By thus focusing exclusively on the two parallel and often intersecting movements or phenomena in the visual arts, his work brings about a fruitful dialogue between the narrow field of traditional art history and visual studies, more generally. Children of Marx and Coca Cola will be a major contribution to China studies, art history, film studies, and cultural studies. Multiple audiences, specialists, teachers, and students in these disciplines, as well as general readers with an interest in contemporary Chinese society and culture, will find that this work fulfills an urgent need for sophisticated analysis of China's cultural production as it assumes a key role in capitalist globalization.
