Code Switching In Early English Tiel 76 Hc Topics In English Linguistics:

Code-Switching in Early English Herbert Schendl,Laura Wright,2011-11-30 The complex linguistic situation of earlier multilingual Britain has led to numerous contact induced changes in the history of English However bi and multilingual texts which are attested in a large variety of text types are still an underresearched aspect of earlier linguistic contact Such texts which switch between Latin English and French have increasingly been recognized as instances of written code switching and as highly relevant evidence for the linguistic strategies which medieval and early modern multilingual speakers used for different purposes The contributions in this volume approach this phenomenon of mixed language texts from the point of view of code switching an important mechanism of linguistic change Based on a variety of text types and genres from the medieval and Early Modern English periods the individual papers present detailed linguistic analyses of a large number of texts addressing a variety of issues including methodological questions as well as functional pragmatic syntactic and lexical aspects of language mixing The very specific nature of language mixing in some text types also raises important theoretical questions such as the distinction between borrowing and switching the existence of discrete linguistic codes in earlier multilingual Britain and more generally the possible limits of the code switching paradigm for the analysis of these mixed texts from the early history of English Thus the volume is of particular interest not only for historical linguists medievalists and students of the history of English but also for sociolinguists psycholinguists language theorists and typologists

Codeswitching Worldwide. II Rodolfo Jacobson,2011-07-20 The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by building bridges to neighbouring fields such as neuroscience and cognitive science The series considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language   Code-switching Jelena M. Savić,1996   Code-switching and Code-mixing Ping Liu,2008-06 Seminar paper from the year 2006 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 2 3 University of Stuttgart Institut f r Linguistik 40 entries in the bibliography language English abstract The aim of this paper is to provide a complete overview over the phenomenon of code switching and code mixing The history of the research of code change has undergone various periods that have shown how complex the phenomenon of codeswitching and code mixing are In the course of research of code change it has become clear that code switching and code mixing can be investigated from different perspectives Researchers focused on code change after they had realized that linguistic forms and practices are interrelated And code switching mixing in their turn embodies not only variation but the link between linguistic form and language use as social practice Research from a linguistic and psycholinguistic perspective has focused on understanding the nature of the systematic of code change as a way of revealing linguistic and potentially cognitive processes Research on the psychological and social dimensions of code switching mixing has largely been devoted to answering the questions of why speakers code change and what the social meaning of code change is for them The sociological perspective later goes on to attempt to use the answer to those questions to illuminate how language operates as a social process Throughout the history of research on code switching mixing it has been proposed that it is necessary to link all these forms of analysis and that indeed it is that possibility that is one of the most compelling reasons for studying code switching mixing since such a link would permit the development and verification of hypotheses regarding the relationship among linguistic cognitive and social processes in a more general way Heller Pfaff 1996 As with any aspect of language contact phenomena research on code switching Code-switching in computer-mediated communication - a case study of croatian-english discussion forums Hanna Devic,2008-09-09 Thesis M A from the year 2007 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 1 1 University of Freiburg language English abstract It has now been about a decade and a half since the Internet and the World Wide Web have come to represent a major realm of research in various fields of linguistics This is of course largely due to the fact that they offer easy access to a massive and unlimited amount of language data which do not have to be transcribed in arduous ways as is the case with speech recordings However alongside this major cause of attraction and despite the overall dominance of English it is also the multilingual nature of the Internet which has naturally sparked the interest of bilingualism research as well as language contact research It is the choice of and the switching between the available codes of the users repertoires which mark a major topic of interest and which shall be explored in the thesis at hand The final focus of investigation will be the communicative functions and meanings of the phenomenon called code switching CS as it naturally occurs in a Canadian Croatian discussion forum Codeswitching as a Worldwide Phenomenon Rodolfo Jacobson,1990 Papers chiefly in English two papers in French with abstracts in English Code-Switching and Optimality Tímea Kovács,2019-10-17 Code-Switching in the Matrix Language-Frame Model Lena P.,2016-03-29 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2014 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 2 3 University of Cologne Englische Sprache und Literatur I language English abstract The purpose of this paper is to look at the relation between structural and social factors in the formation of CS patterns in bi multilingual communities Furthermore the general applicability of the MLF and the MM to the CS data from different bilingual communities will be explored At the beginning the concept of code switching and its typology will be introduced In section 3 2 the MLF will be presented in order to define morphological and syntactical constraints for CS Then in the frame of the MM possible motivations for CS will be examined These are followed by the perspective on the relation of both models to each other In Chapter 4 using the MLF and the MM CS data from several bilingual communities will be analysed and finally problematic issues in both models will be discussed While monolinguals can vary their utterances by means of changing styles within a language or a dialect through speech rate or intonation

bilinguals can do the same in both languages plus they can switch between the languages Thus the speech of bilingual speakers is interesting for research Many researchers have examined this language contact phenomenon and have tried to explain how and why people code switch The study of CS has developed in two main directions structural that is grammatical and sociolinguistic also called pragmatic aspect Originally CS was considered to be the result of poor language competence in both languages Later in the 1970s linguists for example Gumperz 1972 and Pfaff 1979 suggested that mixing between languages does not occur randomly but rather follows certain grammatical rules Many grammatical models have been proposed to account for the grammatical constraints in CS One of the most influential models the Matrix Language Frame Model MLF was introduced by Myers Scotton 1993b The model is based on two asymmetries matrix language vs embedded language and system vs content morphemes However not only structural factors but also social and psychological factors influence the speakers motivation to engage in CS It is one of the biggest challenges in the research on CS to link all these factors to provide a better understanding of the phenomenon of CS Therefore Myers Scotton 1993a went further and developed the Markedness Model MM in an attempt to explain why bilingual speakers code switch and how the social environment influences the type of CS present in the community   English in Transition Matti Rissanen,Merja Kytö,Kirsi Heikkonen,1997 The future of English linguistics as envisaged by the editors of Topics in English Linguistics lies in empirical studies which integrate work in English linguistics into general and theoretical linguistics on the one hand and comparative linguistics on the other The TiEL series features volumes that present interesting new data and analyses and above all fresh approaches that contribute to the overall aim of the series which is to further outstanding research in English linguistics

   Code Switching and Its Different Instances Tacla Feghali Abi Samra,2016-09-26 Essay from the year 2016 in the subject English Miscellaneous language English abstract The article A Language A Soul talks about code switching and all the instances it happens in First code switching is when bilingual people switch from one language to another while speaking It occurs for several reasons one of which could be to fill the gap in one of the languages Another would be for social reasons either to stand out to fit in to show a certain affiliation to an ethnic group or to show authority A third reason why people code switch is related to English language learning and teaching especially in Chinese classrooms Finally people tend to code switch in internet chatting too To sum up code switching is indeed a research area because it occurs on different levels and for different reasons   Codeswitching Worldwide. Grammatical, Pragmatic and Psycholinguistic Aspects Elena Gluth,2020-03-10 Seminar paper from the year 2002 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 1 5 Free University of Berlin Institut f r Amerikanistik language English abstract The aim of this paper is to provide a complete overview over the phenomenon of code switching In this paper we will summarize the knowledge currently available on the discourse linguistic and psycholinguistic aspects of code switching Such an overview can be used for different purposes for seminar reports and papers and for the preparation for exams in linguistics The first chapter of this paper deals with grammatical syntactic aspects of code switching It is followed by the analysis of the pragmatic discourse aspects of code switching Within the last chapter on psycholinguistic aspects of code switching we will present some findings of researches on children s acquisition of bilingual speech Another point of our concern will be the influence of the average bilingual competence on the patterns of code switching used by bilinguals A Conversation Analysis-based Investigation of Code-switching in the English Language Classroom in Quebec ,2015 Code Switching During English Lessons in the Third Triennium of Primary School Sandra Jakobčič,2019 The purpose of this MA paper is to research when and why learners and English teachers switch between mother tongue and foreign language in the classroom in our case the English language and what teachers think about switching code during teaching The research was conducted at the elementary school Vinica In order to obtain the information needed to achieve this goal I conducted three observations in the 7th 8th and 9th grade of the elementary school total of nine observations I also interviewed the English teacher In the theoretical part I examined the literature in detail and on the basis of this I prepared an observation sheet and questions for the interview In the empirical part we observed individual English lessons with the help of the observation sheet and after the observations we interviewed the English teacher During the observation itself the main focus was centred mainly on the use and type of code switching communication between learners and teachers the use of a foreign language while conversing and the occurrence of discrimination among observed learners The research findings are that learners from Croatia used code switching techniques more frequently than other learners at the English lessons We also noticed that code switching occurred more frequently in the 7th and 8th grade and less in the 9th grade The English teacher also used code switching techniques more in the 7th and 8th grade and almost none in the 9th grade Although there was no sign of any kind of discrimination among learners Code-switching ,1981
