Cognitive Approaches To Tense Aspect And Epistemic Modality Human Cognitive Processing: Cognitive Approaches to Tense, Aspect, and Epistemic Modality Adeline Patard,Frank Brisard,2011 This volume addresses problems of semantics regarding the analysis of tense and aspect TA markers in a variety of languages including Arabic Croatian English French German Russian Thai and Turkish Its main interest goes out to epistemic uses of such markers whereby epistemic modality is understood as indicating a degree of compatibility between the modal world and the factual world Declerck All contributions moreover tackle these problems from a more or less cognitive point of view with some of them insisting on the need to provide a unifying explanation for all usage types temporal and non temporal and all of them accepting the premise that the semantics of TA categories essentially refers to subjective rather than objective concerns The volume also represents one of the first attempts to gather accounts of TA marking in various languages that are explicitly set within the framework of Cognitive Grammar Ultimately this volume aims to contribute to establishing an awareness that modal meaning elements are directly relevant to the analysis of the grammar of time   Ten Lectures on the Elaboration of Cognitive Grammar Ronald Langacker,2017-07-31 This book reviews the basic claims and descriptive constructs of Cognitive Grammar outlines major themes in its ongoing development and applies these notions to central problems in grammatical analysis The initial review covers conceptual semantics the conceptual characterization of grammatical categories grammatical constructions and the architecture of a unified theory of language structure Main themes in the framework s development include the dynamicity of language structure grammar as the implementation of semantic functions systems of opposing elements to serve those functions and organization in strata representing successive elaborations of a baseline structure The descriptive application of these notions centers on nominal and clausal structure with special emphasis on nominal grounding   Ten Lectures on the Basics of Cognitive Grammar Ronald Langacker,2017-07-31 These lectures provide a basic introduction to the linguistic theory known as Cognitive Grammar It is argued that a conceptualist semantics well motivated in its own terms provides the basis for a symbolic view of grammar Consisting in the structuring and symbolization of conceptual content grammar is inherently meaningful and basic grammatical notions have conceptual characterizations An account is given of grammatical categories markings and constructions A number of central topics are examined in detail including subjects possessives locatives voice and impersonals   The Second Language Acquisition of French Tense, Aspect, Mood and Modality Dalila Ayoun,2013-07-04 Temporal aspectual systems have a great potential of informing our understanding of the developing competence of second language learners So far the vast majority of empirical studies investigating L2 acquisition have largely focused on past temporality neglecting the acquisition of the expression of the present and future temporalities with rare exceptions aside from ESL learners leaving unanswered the question of how the investigation of different types of temporality may inform our understanding of the acquisition of temporal aspectual and mood systems as a whole This monograph addresses this question by focusing on three main objectives a to contribute to the already impressive body of research in the L2 acquisition of tense aspect and mood modality from a generative perspective and in so doing to present a more complete picture of the processes of L2 acquisition in general b to bridge the gap between linguistic theory and L2 acquisition c to make empirical findings more accessible to language instructors by proposing concrete pedagogical applications Linguistic Foundations of Narration in Spoken and Sign Languages Annika Hübl,Markus Steinbach,2018-05-15 In recent years the focus of linguistic research has shifted from sentence to larger units such as text and discourse and accordingly from syntax to semantics and pragmatics This has led to the development and application of corresponding discourse semantic and pragmatic theories such as for instance S DRT Centering Theory Accessibility Theory QUD Generalized Conversational Implicatures Super Monsters and Gesture Semantics and new empirical approaches in the framework of experimental semantics and pragmatics or corpus linguistic discourse analysis The contributions to this collected volume build on these developments and investigate the linguistic foundations of narration from various perspectives The contributions address topics such as speech and thought representation free indirect speech information structure anaphora resolution co speech gestures classifier constructions as well as role shift and constructed action The volume provides new insights in the linguistic structures underlying narration in written spoken and sign languages from an experimental developmental historical typological and theoretical perspective The contributions will appeal to theoretical linguists sign language linguists typologists literary scholars psycholinguists and philosophers Perspectives on Narrativity and Narrative Perspectivization Natalia Igl,Sonja Zeman,2016-03-10 The book offers a novel approach to the question of how to model narrativity against the background of perspectivization By bringing together contributions from neuro and cognitive linguistics literary studies and picture theory the volume uncovers basic mechanisms of perspectivization that are common to the different levels of linguistic structure literary novels and narrative pictures As such it is also a book on narrative perspectivization since its contributions examine in detail the perspectival principles in medieval romantic and postmodern literature in the micro linguistic structure of language narrative pictures literary novels dramatic texts and everyday stories In doing so it contributes both to the theoretical debate on the core definition of narrativity and offers new empirical investigations on perspectival principles in specific historical medial and genre constellations This volume will be of interest to scholars and students of cognitive linguistics narrative research and transmedial narratology cognitive poetics and stylistics Modes of Modality Elisabeth Leiss,Werner Abraham,2014-01-15 The volume aims at a universal definition of modality or illocutionary speaker s perspective force that is strong enough to capture the entire range of different subtypes and varieties of modalities in different languages The central idea is that modality is all pervasive in language This perspective on modality allows for the integration of covert modality as well as peripheral instances of modality in neglected domains such as the modality of insufficieny of attitudinality or neglected domains such as modality and illocutionary force in finite vs nonfinite and factive vs non factive subordinated clauses In most languages modality encompasses modal verbs both in their root and epistemic meanings at least where these languages have the principled distribution between root and epistemic modality in the first place which is one fundamentally restricted in its strict qualitative and quantitative sense to the Germanic languages In addition this volume discusses one other intricate and partially highly mysterious class of modality triggers modal particles as they are sported in the Germanic languages except for English It is argued in the contributions and the languages discussed in this volume how modal verbs and adverbials next to modal particles are expressed how they are interlinked with contextual factors such as aspect definiteness person verbal factivity and assertivity as opposed to other attitudinal types An essential concept used and argued for is perspectivization a sub concept of possible world semantics Language groups covered in detail and compared are Slavic Germanic and South East Asian The volume will interest researchers in theoretical and applied linguistics typology the semantics pragmatics interface and language philosophy as it is part of a larger project developing an alternative approach to Universal Grammar that is compatible with functionalist approaches   Conceptualizations of Time Barbara Lewandowska-Tomaszczyk,2016-06-14 As time cannot be observed directly it must be analyzed in terms of mental categories which manifest themselves on various linguistic levels In this interdisciplinary volume novel approaches to time are proposed that consider temporality without time on the one hand and the coding of time in language including sign language and gestures on the other The contributions of the volume demonstrate that time is conceptualized not only in terms of space but in terms of other domains of human experience as well Renowned specialists in the study of time the authors of this volume investigate this fascinating topic from a variety of perspectives philosophical linguistic anthropological neuro psychological and computational demonstrating a familiarity with both classical and recent approaches to the study of time and including up to date corpus based methods of study The volume will be of interest to philosophers linguists including specialists in cognitive linguistics corpus linguistics and computational linguistics anthropologists neuro psychologists translators language teachers and graduate students   New Trends in Grammaticalization and Language Change Sylvie Hancil,Tine Breban,José Vicente Lozano,2018-12-06 The chapters in this volume present a state of the art of grammaticalization research in the 2010s They are concerned with the application of new models such as constructionalization the ongoing debate about the status and modelling of the development of discourse markers and reveal a renewed interest in the typological application of grammaticalization and in the cognitive motivations for unidirectionality The contributors consider data from a wide range of languages including several that have not or marginally been looked at in terms of grammaticalization Chinese Dutch varieties of English French German Japanese Maltese Old Saxon Spanish and languages of the South Caucasian and Zhuang Tai Kadai families The chapters range from theoretical discussions to fine grained analyses of new historical and comparative language data This volume will be of interest to linguists studying morphosyntactic changes in a range of languages and in particular to those interested in models for grammatical change   Tense, Aspect, Modality, and Evidentiality Dalila Ayoun,Agnès Celle,Laure Lansari,2018-08-15 After an introductory chapter that provides an overview to theoretical issues in tense aspect modality and evidentiality this volume presents a variety of original contributions that are firmly empirically grounded based on elicited or corpus data while adopting different theoretical frameworks Thus some chapters rely on large diachronic corpora and provide new qualitative insight on the evolution of TAM systems through quantitative methods while others carry out a collostructional analysis of past tensed verbs using inferential statistics to explore the lexical grammar of verbs A common goal is to uncover semantic regularities and variation in the TAM systems of the languages under study by taking a close look at context Such a fine grained approach contributes to our understanding of the TAM systems from a typological perspective The focus on well known Indo European languages e g French German English Spanish and also on less commonly studied languages e g Hungarian Estonian Avar Andi Tagalog provides a valuable cross linguistic perspective   'In short tyme it wil heale the sore'. A relevance perspective of promising in medical utilitarian texts of the earl y modern english period Quintana Toledo, Elena,2020-02-13 Medical recipes written before the birth of modern scientific writing at least as we know it today are frequently characterised by the inclusion of expressions aimed at validating the efficacy of the remedies These expressions have been traditionally considered as promises of efficacy This research hypothesises that a closer examination of the context in which they are embedded may render interpretations that are different from promissory speech acts in the strictest sense The corpus of study has been excerpted from the Corpus of Early English Recipesand it comprises medical recipes written in English between 1500 and 1600 The texts have been analysed using AntConc and the results have been manually checked afterwards The detection of potential promises of efficacy has relied on Speech Act Theory and particularly on Searle s 1969 constitutive rules for promises Relevance Theory Sperber and Wilson 1995 has been used to account for the process of contextual enrichment the reader follows so as to derive the illocutionary force of efficacy statements This work shows that not all efficacy statements are necessarily interpreted as promises in the Searlean sense In fact it has been observed that the occurrence of stance elements i e epistemic and or evidential devices together with the authors lexico grammatical choices crucially shape their illocutionary force normally by lowering the promissory value of the locutions

     Space and Time in Languages and Cultures Luna Filipovi?,Kasia M. Jaszczolt,Katarzyna Jaszczolt,2012 This volume offers novel insights into linguistic diversity in the domains of spatial and temporal reference searching for uniformity amongst diversity A number of authors discuss expression of dynamic spatial relations cross linguistically in a vast range of typologically different languages such as Bezhta French Hinuq Italian Japanese Polish Serbian and Spanish among others The contributions on linguistic expression of time all shed new light on pertinent questions regarding this cognitive domain such as the hotly debated relationship between cross linguistic differences in talking about time and universal principles of utterance interpretation modelling temporal inference through aspectual interactions as well as the complexity of the acquisition of tense aspect relations in a second language The topic of space and time in language and culture is also represented from a different point of view in the sister volume Space and Time in Languages and Cultures Language Culture and Cognition HCP 37 which discusses spatial and temporal constructs in human language cognition and culture in order to come closer to a better understanding of the interaction between shared and individual characteristics of language and culture that shape the way people interact with each other and exchange information about the spatio temporal constructs that underlie their cognitive social and linguistic foundations World Englishes, Global Classrooms Kirsten Hemmy,Chandrika Balasubramanian,2022-12-14 This book provides a critical overview of contemporary world issues in Language and Literary Studies It offers specific ideas as to how to move away from the traditional literary canon on the one hand and traditional native speaker norms in English language teaching on the other It delivers a global perspective of both the growth and the challenges in ELT studies around the world Following the introduction the first section of the book contains chapters from international scholars on recognizing and diversifying Englishes in today s language and translation classrooms Specifically the chapters focus on issues such as the cultural hegemony of a monolithic English English and university pedagogy English as a gatekeeper and the role of a reconceived English education in promoting cross cultural understanding The second section focuses on the interaction of literature and culture with specific chapters focusing on decolonizing the traditional literary canon defining a global text representing cultural interactions in literary texts and emerging genres in contemporary English literature Both sections of the book question the existing boundaries in a post 2020 world specifically in a non western world It is an indispensable resource for scholars in cultural studies linguistics and literary studies Time and the Biblical Hebrew Verb John A. Cook,2012-11-05 In this book John Cook interacts with the range of approaches to the perennial questions on the Biblical Hebrew verb in a fair minded approach Some of his answers may appear deceptively traditional such as his perfective imperfective identification of the qatal yiqtol opposition However his approach is distinguished from the traditional approaches by its modern linguistic foundation One distinguishing sign is his employment of the phrase aspect prominent to describe the Biblical Hebrew verbal system As with almost any of the world s verbal systems this aspect prominent system can express a wide range of aspectual tensed and modal meanings In chap 3 he argues that each of the forms can be semantically identified with a general meaning and that the expressions of specific aspectual tensed and modal meanings by each form are explicable with reference to its general meaning After a decade of research and creative thinking the author has come to frame his discussion not with the central question of Tense or Aspect but with the question What is the range of meaning for a given form and what sort of contextual factors syntagm discourse etc help us to understand this range in relation to a general meaning for the form In chap 4 Cook addresses long standing issues involving interaction between the semantics of verbal forms and their discourse pragmatic functions He also proposes a theory of discourse modes for Biblical Hebrew These discourse modes account for various temporal relationships that are found among successive clauses in Biblical Hebrew Cook s work addresses old questions with a fresh approach that is sure to provoke dialogue and new research Studies in Figurative Thought and Language Angeliki Athanasiadou,2017-04-26 This volume contains original research and innovative analyses that deepen our understanding of figurative thought and language The selected papers focus on the multi faceted aspect of figuration its function in thought and its impact on areas of grammar and communication Key topics explored include metaphor metonymy and their relationship to each other as well as the less studied figure of hyperbole and its relation to the fundamental figures of metaphor and metonymy Collectively the papers examine the pragmatic reasoning processes triggered by figurative thought the lexicogrammatical motivations and or constraints on figurative language the impact of deeply entrenched figurative thought on the lexicon of natural languages the cultural origins of figurative thought and the psycholinguistic motivations for figuration The comprehensive treatment of these issues is fundamental for future research on figurative thought and language particularly on questions of universality vs specificity of figuration the impact of figuration on constructions cross linguistic comparisons of figurative language and cognitive pragmatic approaches to figurative meaning Epistemic Modality, Language, and Conceptualization Jan Nuyts,2001 The relationship between language and conceptualization remains one of the major puzzles in language research This monograph addresses this issue by means of an in depth corpus based and experimental investigation of the major types of expressions of epistemic modality in Dutch German and English By adopting a systematic functional orientation the book explains a whole range of peculiarities of epistemic expression forms synchronically and diachronically and it offers a clear perspective on which cognitive systems are needed to get from the concept of epistemic modality to its linguistic expression On that basis the author postulates a sophisticated layered view of human conceptualization This book is of interest both to scholars working on modality and related semantic dimensions and to the interdisciplinary field of researchers concerned with the cognitive systems involved in language use English Modality Juana I. Marín-Arrese,Marta Carretero,Jorge Arús Hita,Johan van der Auwera,2013-12-12 The book presents new issues and areas of work in modality and evidentiality in English es and in relation to other European languages French Galician Lithuanian Spanish Given the complexity of the relations among modal and evidential expressions their constant diachronic evolution and the variation found in different English speaking areas and in different genres and discourse domains the volume addresses the following issues the conceptual nature of modality the relationship between the domains of modality and evidentiality the evolution and current status of the modal auxiliaries and other modal expressions the relationship with neighbouring grammatical categories tense aspect mood and the variation in different discourse domains and genres in modelling stance and discourse identities Cognitive Linguistics M. Sandra Peña Cervel,Francisco J. Ruiz de Mendoza Ibáñez,2008-08-22 The book testifies of the great tolerance of Cognitive Linguists towards internal variety within itself and towards external interaction with major linguistic subdisciplines Internally it opens up the broad variety of CL strands and the cognitive unity between convergent linguistic disciplines Externally it provides a wide overview of the connections between cognition and social psychological pragmatic and discourse oriented dimensions of language which will make this book attractive to scholars from different persuasions The book is thus expected to raise productive debate inside and outside the CL community Furthermore the book examines interdisciplinary connections from the point of view of the internal dynamics of CL research itself CL is rapidly developing into different compatible frameworks with extensions into levels of linguistics description like discourse pragmatics and sociolinguistics among others that have only recently been taken into account in this orientation The book covers two general topics i the relationship between the embodied nature of language cultural models and social action ii the role of metaphor and metonymy in inferential activity and as generators of discourse ties More specific topics are the nature and scope of constructional meaning language variation and cultural models discourse acts the relationship between communication and cognition the argumentative role of metaphor in discourse the role of mental spaces in linguistic processing and the role of empirical work in CL research These features endow the book with internal unity and consistency while preserving the identity of each of the contributions therein
