The Utilization of Criminalistics Services by the Police Joseph L. Peterson,1974 This report discusses the role of the criminalistics operation within the police and criminal investigation subsystems of the total criminal justice system. It details the investigative and evidence retrieval practices of police agencies that significantly restrict the flow of available physical material to the criminalistics laboratory for examination and it analyzes aspects of the police investigative process dealing specifically with the search for recognition and collection of potential physical evidence at crime scenes. Morality, Competition, and the Firm Joseph Heath,2014 In four new and nine previously published essays Joseph Heath provides a compelling new framework for thinking about the moral obligations of economic actors. The market failures approach to business ethics that he develops provides the basis for a unified theory of business ethics corporate law economic regulation and the welfare state Insider Dealing and Criminal Law Iwona Seredyńska,2011-11-03 This work is a multidisciplinary analysis of the issue of insider dealing from the perspective of the applicability of criminal law to regulate it First it examines the nature of its prohibition in the European Union and in the United States of America The text includes a more extensive overview of prohibition in four Member States of the European Union France the United Kingdom Luxembourg and Poland Then it summarises the arguments presented by ethicists and economists in favour of and against insider dealing Further it analyses the foundations of criminal law and justifications that are given for its application On the basis of this analysis it presents a new two step theory of criminalisation The first step is based on a liberal theory of wrongfulness that makes reference to protection of the basic human rights The second step relies on classical but often forgotten principles of criminal law Finally it examines possible alternatives to criminal rules
