The Ethical Dimensions of School Leadership P.T. Begley, Olof Johansson, 2006-04-11 Among the many significant features of this volume is the dedication to the late Don Willower Professor of Education at Pennsylvania State University It is significant in light of Willower's long record of major contributions to the empirical literature in Educational Administration and his mentorship of many students steeped in the tradition of the so called science of administration These include scholars like Wayne Hoy and Peter Cistone who readily acknowledge their personal and intellectual debt to Willower How is it then that Willower a colleague of the giants of Educational Administration in the 60s and 70s people such as Dan Griffiths Jack Culbertson and Roald Campbell to name just a few came to associate himself with this relatively upstart group of academics and practitioners interested in values of all things As an inheritor of the mantle thrown down by Getzels and Guba all those years ago it might seem strange to see Willower consorting with people who argue about the distinction between fact and value It is true of course that Willower majored in philosophy at the State University of New York at Buffalo as an undergraduate So the language and the ways of thinking among many of those interested in values and ethics were not all that foreign to him He could certainly hold his own in debate with his friend Chris Hodgkinson the foremost philosopher of Educational Administration in the field today and a contributor to this volume Ethical Decision Making in School Administration Paul A. Wagner,Douglas J.

School Administrator AASA Inexperienced Leaders Dr Oliver traces the problem of unethical behavior among some school leaders in part to the lack of experience he sees in those being hired today by school boards to fill superintendencies Educators who entered the field a few decades ago and rose through the ranks to become superintendents are retiring in waves The vacancies they create are not drawing the quantity and quality of experienced administrators eager to assume the top berth and may not have the training experience or strength to stand up to the pressures being forced on them Dr Oliver contends that those entering without much experience in key decision making roles are more likely to fall into the trap of what appears to be an innocent proposal without considering the underlying ethical issues more inclined to go with the first decision that comes to mind and less likely to look at the consequences of unethical behavior Priscilla Pardini Shorewood Wisconsin author Ethics in the Superintendency School Administrator AASA Working Through Ethics in Education and Leadership J.
