Vitelli, Julia J. Hollowell, 2003 Edited volume exploring key issues in ethics for archaeologists Visit our website for sample chapters Ethical Issues in Archaeology Larry J. Zimmerman, 2003 A brief guide to cultural resource managers on how to manage public archaeological sites Ethics in American Archaeology Mark J. Lynott, Alison Wylie, 2000 The Ethics of Archaeology Chris Scarre, Geoffrey Scarre, 2006-01-19 The question of ethics and their role in archaeology has stimulated one of the discipline's liveliest debates In this collection of essays first published in 2006 an international team of archaeologists anthropologists and philosophers explore the ethical issues archaeology needs to address Marrying the skills and expertise of practitioners from different disciplines the collection produces interesting insights into many of the ethical dilemmas facing archaeology today Topics discussed include relations with indigenous peoples the professional standards and responsibilities of researchers the role of ethical codes the notion of value in archaeology concepts of stewardship and custodianship the meaning and moral implications of heritage the question of who owns the past or the interpretation of it the trade in antiquities the repatriation of skeletal material and treatment of the dead This important collection is essential reading for all those working in the field of archaeology be they scholar or practitioner Ethics and Values in Archaeology Ernestene L. Green, 1984 Ethics and the Archaeology of Violence Alfredo González-Ruibal, Gabriel Moshenska, 2014-11-10 This volume examines the distinctive and highly problematic ethical questions surrounding conflict archaeology By bringing together sophisticated analyses and pertinent case studies from around the world it aims to address the problems facing archaeologists working in areas of violent conflict past and present Of all the contentious issues within archaeology and heritage the study of conflict and work within conflict zones are undoubtedly the most highly charged and hotly debated both within and outside the discipline Ranging across the conflict zones of the world past and present this book attempts to raise the level of these often fractious debates by locating them within ethical frameworks The issues and debates in this book range across a range of ethical models including deontological teleological and virtue ethics The chapters address real world ethical conundrums that confront archaeologists in a diversity of countries including Israel Palestine Iran Uruguay Argentina Rwanda Germany and Spain They all have in common recent traumatic experiences of war and dictatorship The chapters provide carefully argued thought provoking analyses and examples that will be of real practical use to archaeologists in formulating and addressing ethical dilemmas in a confident and constructive manner Archaeological Ethics Karen D. Vitelli, 2006 Looting Reburial and repatriation Relations with native peoples Professional conduct The second edition of Archaeological Ethics combines compelling articles on these topics written for a general audience with valuable teaching aids The updated articles provide a fascinating Ethics in Action Chip Colwell-Chanthaphonh, Julie Hollowell, Dru McGill, 2008-03-01 Based on the Society for American Archaeology's Annual Ethics Bowl this SAA Press book is centered on a series of hypothetical case studies that challenge the reader to think through the complexities of archaeological ethics. The volume will benefit undergraduate and graduate students who can either use these cases as a classroom activity or as preparation for the Ethics Bowl as well as those who are seeking to better understand the ethical predicaments that face the discipline.

Ethics in Archaeological Practice Sarah Kielt Costello, Sarah Lepinski, 2024-12-31 Ethics in Archaeological Practice explores urgent topics and issues in archaeology as currently practiced in the classroom, the field, the museum, and the public sphere. While addressed primarily to archaeologists working in western Asia, the eastern Mediterranean, and North Africa, the volume raises contemporary ethical questions around race, gender, disability, climate change, and cultural heritage that are pressing and relevant to archaeology students and professionals worldwide. The fifteen contributors offer fundamental case studies and practical guidance for best practices and models of high standards of ethical practice in professional conduct. Together they offer new approaches to advocacy and the responsible stewardship of heritage sites, collections, and the environment. These compelling and generative discussions make the case for a 21st century archaeology that is proactive and engaged with discourses addressing equity, social justice, anti-colonialism, and climate change.

Ethical Approaches to Human Remains Kirsty Squires, David Errickson, Nicholas Márquez-Grant, 2020-01-01 This book is the first of its kind, combining international perspectives on the current ethical considerations and challenges facing bioarchaeologists in the recovery, analysis, curation, and display of human remains. It explores how museum curators, commercial practitioners, forensic anthropologists, and bioarchaeologists deal with ethical issues pertaining to human remains in traditional and digital settings around the world. The book not only raises key ethical questions concerning the study, display, and curation of skeletal remains that bioarchaeologists must face and overcome in different countries but also explores how this global community can work together to increase awareness of similar and indeed disparate ethical considerations around the world and how they can be addressed in working practices. The key aspects addressed include ethics in bioarchaeology and forensic anthropology, the excavation, curation, and display of human remains, repatriation, and new imaging techniques. As such, the book offers an ideal guide for students and practitioners in the fields of bioarchaeology, osteoarchaeology, forensic anthropology, medical anthropology, archaeology, anatomy, museum, and archive studies, and philosophy, detailing how some ethical dilemmas have been addressed and which future dilemmas need to be considered.

Ethical Issues in Anthropological Research Subir Biswas, 2014-01-01 Anthropologists criticize some components of bioethics because of their abstract principles derived from arm chair philosophy and lack of cross-cultural analysis and ethnocentric view for that they prepare a readymade ethical code of conduct which may differ significantly from culture to culture. This volume aims to investigate such areas of bioethics which may criticize in the light of anthropological fieldwork. The work also finds some areas of bioethics to study cultural constructs of morality including cross-cultural analysis.

keeping in mind cultural relativism in true sense The present work is an outcome of national seminar entitled Ethical Issues in Anthropological Research organized by Department of Anthropology West Bengal State University during 19 20 January 2012 Hope this work will be of interest not only to anthropologists or scholars of related field but also funding agencies and participant beneficiaries of the said field Ethics and Archaeological Praxis Cristóbal Gnecco,Dorothy Lippert,2014-11-10 Restoring the historicity and plurality of archaeological ethics is a task to which this book is devoted its emphasis on praxis mends the historical condition of ethics In doing so it shows that nowadays a multicultural sometimes also called public ethic looms large in the discipline By engaging communities differently archaeology has explicitly adopted an ethical outlook purportedly striving to overcome its colonial ontology and metaphysics In this new scenario respect for other historical systems worldviews and social accountability appear to be prominent Being ethical in archaeological terms in the multicultural context has become mandatory so much that most professional international and national archaeological associations have ethical principles as guiding forces behind their openness towards social sectors traditionally ignored or marginalized by their practices This powerful new ethics its newness is based to a large extent in that it is the first time that archaeological ethics is explicitly stated as if it didn t exist before emanates from metropolitan centers only to be adopted elsewhere In this regard it is worth probing the very nature of the dominant multicultural ethics in disciplinary practices because a it is at least suspicious that at the same time archaeology has tuned up with postmodern capitalist market needs and b the discipline along with its ethical principles is contested worldwide by grass roots organizations and social movements Can archaeology have socially committed ethical principles at the same time that it strengthens its relationship with the market and capitalism Is this coincidence just merely haphazard or does it obey more structural rules The papers in this book try to answer these two questions by examining praxis based contexts in which archaeological ethics unfolds Appropriating the Past Geoffrey Scarre,Robin Coningham,2013 An international and multidisciplinary team addresses significant ethical questions about the rights to access manage and interpret the material remains of the past An Introduction to Archaeological Chemistry T. Douglas Price,James H. Burton,2010-10-17 Archaeological chemistry is a subject of great importance to the study and methodology of archaeology This comprehensive text covers the subject with a full range of case studies materials and research methods With twenty years of experience teaching the subject the authors offer straightforward coverage of archaeological chemistry a subject that can be intimidating for many archaeologists who do not already have a background in the hard sciences With clear explanations and informative illustrations the authors have created a highly approachable text which will help readers overcome that intimidation Topics covered included Materials rock pottery bone charcoal soils metals and others Instruments microscopes NAA spectrometers mass spectrometers GC MS XRF XRD Case Studies Provenience Sediments Diet Reconstruction Past Human Movement Organic Residues The detailed coverage and clear language will make this useful as an introduction to the study of archaeological chemistry as well as a useful resource for years after that introduction The Ethics of Cultural Heritage Tracy Ireland, John Schofield, 2014-11-01 It is widely acknowledged that all archaeological research is embedded within cultural political and economic contexts and that all archaeological research falls under the heading heritage Most archaeologists now work in museums and other cultural institutions government agencies non government organisations and private sector companies and this diversity ensures that debates continue to proliferate about what constitutes appropriate professional ethics within these related and relevant contexts Discussions about the ethics of cultural heritage in the 20th century focused on standards of professionalism stewardship responsibilities to stakeholders and on establishing public trust in the authenticity of the outcomes of the heritage process This volume builds on recent approaches that move away from treating ethics as responsibilities to external domains and to the discipline and which seek to ensure ethics are integral to all heritage theory practice and methods The chapters in this collection chart a departure from the tradition of external heritage ethics towards a broader approach underpinned by the turn to human rights issues of social justice and the political economy of heritage conceptualising ethical responsibilities not as pertaining to the past but to a future focused domain of social action

Archaeological Ethics Karen D. Vitelli, Chip Colwell-Chanthaphonh, 2006-02-09 The second edition of Archaeological Ethics is an invitation to an ongoing and lively discussion on ethics In addition to topics such as looting reburial and repatriation relations with native peoples and professional conduct Vitelli and Colwell Chanthaphonh have responded to current events and news stories Twenty one new articles expand this ongoing discussion into the realm of intellectual property public outreach archaeotourism academic freedom archaeological concerns in times of war and conflicting values These compelling articles from Archaeology Magazine American Archaeology and Expedition are written for a general audience and provide a fascinating introduction to the issues faced every day in archaeological practice The article summaries discussion and research questions and suggestions for further reading particularly helpful given the vast increase in related literature over the last decade serve as excellent teaching aids and make this volume ideal for classroom use

Ethics and Burial Archaeology Duncan Sayer, 2017-10-19 The investigation of human remains has always been central to archaeological but archaeologists are not the only ones with an interest in their treatment Political groups religious organisations descendant communities and disenfranchised interest groups are all becoming more vocal in expressing their opinions on this subject on a world stage This book sets a new agenda for ethical studies in mortuary investigation adducing a series of case studies which can be used to understand the questions facing burial archaeology Who owns the dead not just their bodies but also their stories Do the remains themselves matter or are there other political agendas which influence interest groups The author encourages archaeologists to be more open and inclusive when conducting mortuary projects as it is often the perception of secrecy or interference with the dead that raises concern about the treatment of historical and scientifically important skeletal remains

Archaeological Sites Sharon Sullivan, Richard Mackay, 2012 A collection of essays and reports examining key issues in conservation and management of archaeological sites It is divided into parts that focuses on historical methods concepts and issues conserving the archaeological resource physical conservation of archaeological sites the cultural values of archaeological sites and site management
