Eurocentrism And The Communist Movement:

Eurocentrism and the Communist Movement Robert Biel, 2015 Robert Biel's Eurocentrism and the Communist Movement traces the history of Eurocentric and anti Eurocentric currents in the Marxist Leninist tradition arguing that this distortion was key to the development and spread of revisionism and ultimately to the failures of the communist project in the 20th century A work of intellectual history Eurocentrism and the Communist Movement explores the relationship between Eurocentrism alienation and racism while tracing the different ideas about imperialism colonialism progress and non European peoples as they were grappled with by revolutionaries in both the colonized and colonizing nations Teasing out racist errors and anti racist insights within this history Biel reveals a century long struggle to assert the centrality of the most exploited within the struggle against capitalism The roles of key figures in the Marxist Leninist canon Marx Engels Lenin Stalin Mao within this struggle are explored as are those of others whose work may be less familiar to some readers such as Sultan Galiev Lamine Senghor Lin Biao R P Dutt Samir Amin and others In pursuit of the anti racist and anti colonial goal Biel has made an important contribution to understanding the development of Marxist thought in the 19th and 20th centuries with strategic implications for our current revolutionary project Continuity and Rupture J.

Colonization and Rural Dispossession Dip Kapoor, 2017-08-15 Under the guise of development a globalizing capitalism has continued to cause poverty through dispossession and the exploitation of labour across the Global South This process has been met with varied forms of rural resistance by local movements of displaced farm workers small and landless women peasants and indigenous peoples in South and East Asia the Pacific and Africa who are resisting the forced appropriation of their land the exploitation of labour and the destruction of their ecosystems and ways of life In this provocative new collection engaged scholars and activists combine grounded case studies with both Marxist and anti colonial analyses suggesting that the developmental project is a continuation of the colonial project The authors then demonstrate the ways in which these local struggles have attempted to resist colonization and dispossession in the rural belt thereby contributing essential movement relevant knowledge on these experiences in the Global South A vital addition to the fields of critical development studies political sociology agrarian studies and the anthropology of resistance this book addresses academics and analysts who have either minimized or overlooked local resistances to colonial capital especially in the Asia Pacific and Africa regions Crisis System Petter Naess, Leigh Price, 2016-06-17 This book throws light onto the nature and causes of three different but strongly interconnected crises in contemporary societies worldwide an economic crisis an ecological crisis and a normative moral and political crisis These crises are reflected in the profoundly inequitable distribution of wealth resources and life opportunities around the world If we follow the causal roots of these crises we are led back to an inherent dynamic in the capitalist economic system itself discursively expressed as neoclassical mainstream economics For instance by conflating human needs with market demand mainstream economics disregards the needs of those who do not have sufficient purchasing power as well as any needs that cannot be quantified or monetised in some way Mainstream economics also ignores the notion of natural limits Furthermore it seems that everything that is quantifiable is potentially for sale and this results in the substitution of nature indigenous cultural traditions and various life forms with commodities and human capital The latter is defined as the skills instrumental for continual economic growth Besides critiquing the academic discipline of economics this book also points to a number of dysfunctional and crisis prone structures and practices of substantive economic life It will be of interest to students and scholars working in philosophy economics and environmental studies

Decolonizing Roman Imperialism Danielle Hyeonah Lambert, 2024-06-30 Investigates how postcolonialism has motivated Roman scholars to question the paradigm of Romanization

The Wealth of (Some) Nations Zak Cope, 2019-03-20 In this provocative new study Zak Cope makes the case that capitalism is empirically inseparable from imperialism historically and today Using a rigorous political economic framework he lays bare the vast ongoing transfer of wealth from the poorest to the richest countries through the mechanisms of monopoly rent unequal exchange and colonial tribute The result is a polarised international class structure with a relatively rich Global North and an impoverished exploited Global South Cope makes the controversial claim that it is because of these conditions that workers in rich countries benefit from higher incomes and welfare systems with public health education pensions and social security As a result the internationalism of populations in the Global North is weakened and transnational solidarity is compromised The only way forward Cope argues is through a renewed anti imperialist politics rooted in a firm commitment to a radical labour internationalism

Sustainable Food Systems Robert Biel, 2016-12-05 Faced with a global threat to food security it is perfectly possible that society will respond not by a dystopian disintegration but rather by reasserting co operative traditions This book by a leading expert in urban agriculture offers a genuine solution to today's global food crisis By contributing more to feeding themselves cities can allow breathing space for the rural sector to convert to more organic sustainable approaches Biel's approach connects with current debates about agroecology and food sovereignty asks key questions and proposes lines of future research He suggests that today's food insecurity manifested in a regime of wildly fluctuating prices reflects not just temporary stresses in the existing mode of production but more profoundly the troubled process of generating a new one He argues that the solution cannot be implemented at a merely technical or political level the force of change can only be driven by the kind of social movements which are now daring to challenge the existing unsustainable order Drawing on both his academic research and teaching and 15 years experience as a practicing urban farmer Biel brings a unique interdisciplinary approach to this key global issue creating a dialogue between the physical and social sciences

Worker Cooperatives in India Timothy Kerswell, Surendra Pratap, 2018-07-09 This book discusses the experiences of cooperative enterprises in India that have been operated by or influenced to a significant extent by trade unions It describes the origins of these movements in India presenting a political strategic view of their development and in some cases their decline The book also presents case studies of groundbreaking social experiments conducted in India in which trade unions have formed cooperatives for production and service provision for the working class movement It also offers lessons learned from previous social experiments and explains how to use them for future strategies in the working class movement by using primary research undertaken on trade union cooperatives in India With globalization often given as a reason for the decline of trade unions and transformative social movements this book demonstrates that where movements declined it was due to their own internal weaknesses while presenting successful case studies of movements which have shown resilience in the face of globalization The book also gives an extensive criticism of India's Self Employed Women's Association as a model of a depoliticized trade union cooperative The main lesson of this book is that cooperatives represent a viable strategy to build working class power in the 21st century in India and elsewhere

A Global History of Modern Historiography Georg Iggers, Q. Edward Wang, Supriya Mukherjee, 2016-09-01 The first book on historiography to adopt a global and comparative perspective on the topic A Global History of Modern Historiography looks not just at developments in the West but also at the other great historiographical traditions in Asia the Middle East and elsewhere around the world over the course of the past two and a half centuries This second edition contains fully updated sections on Latin American and African historiography discussion of the development of global history environmental history and feminist and gender history in recent years and new coverage of Russian historical practices Beginning in the mid eighteenth century the authors analyse historical currents in a changing political social and cultural context examining both the adaptation and modification of the Western influence on

Warped: Gay Normality and Queer Anti-Capitalism Peter Drucker,2015-02-04 Recent victories for LGBT rights especially the spread of same sex marriage have gone faster than most people imagined possible Yet the accompanying rise of gay normality has been disconcerting for activists with radical sympathies Global in scope and drawing on a wide range of feminist anti racist and queer scholarship and analysis Warped Gay Normality and Queer Anti Capitalism shows how the successive same sex formations of the past century and a half corresponding to different phases of capitalist development have led both to the emergence of today s homonormativity and homonationalism and to ongoing queer resistance The book s second half summarises different sexual rebellions and the queer dimension of multifarious movements for social justice and transformation seeing in them harbingers of a unified and powerful queer anti capitalism The New Imperialism Robert Biel,2000-08 This volume seeks to deepen our understanding of the complex and constantly evolving ways in which modern capitalism in the age of globalisation works It explains and illuminates the processes institutions and policies involved

The Global Revolution Silvio Pons,2014-08-28 The Global Revolution A History of International Communism 1917 1991 establishes a relationship between the history of communism and the main processes of globalization in the past century Drawing on a wealth of archival sources Silvio Pons analyses the multifaceted and contradictory relationship between the Soviet Union and the international communist movement to show how communism played a major part in the formation of our modern world The volume presents the argument that during the age of wars from 1914 to 1945 the establishment of the Soviet state in Russia and the birth of the communist movement had an enormous impact because of their promise of world revolution and international civil war Such perspective appeared even more plausible in the aftermath of the Second World War and of revolution in China which paved the way for the expansion of communism in the post colonial world Communism challenged the West in the Cold War by means of anti capitalist modernization and anti imperialist mobilization showing itself to be a powerful factor in the politicization of global trends However the international legitimacy of communism declined rapidly in the post war era Soviet power exposed its inability to exercise hegemony as distinct from domination The consequences of Sovietization in Europe and the break between the Soviet Union and China were the primary reasons for the decline of communist influence and appeal. Since communism lost its political credibility and cultural cohesion its global project had failed. The ground was prepared for the devastating impact of Western globalization on communist regimes in Europe and the Soviet Union.

Narrating Post/Communism Natasa Kovacevic, 2008-05-19. This book examines communist and post communist literary and visual narratives including the writings of prominent anti communist dissidents and exiles such as Vladimir Nabokov, Czeslaw Milosz and Milan Kundera exploring important themes including how Eastern European regimes and cultures have been portrayed as totalitarian barbarian and Orientalist in contrast to the civilized West, disappointment in the changes brought on by post communist transition and nostalgia for communism.

A Global History of Modern Historiography Georg G Iggers, Q. Edward Wang, Supriya Mukherjee, 2013-09-13. So far histories of historiography have concentrated almost exclusively on the West. This is the first book to offer a history of modern historiography from a global perspective. Tracing the transformation of historical writings over the past two and half centuries the book portrays the transformation of historical writings under the effect of professionalization which served as a model not only for Western but also for much of non Western historical studies. At the same time it critically examines the reactions in post modern and post colonial thought to established conceptions of scientific historiography. A main theme of the book is how historians in the non Western world not only adopted or adapted Western ideas but also explored different approaches rooted in their own cultures.

The Radical Project Bill Martin, 2000. In this original yet highly accessible work Martin aims to recover the radicality of Sartre's political project by examining his political interventions including the debate concerning the Soviet Union during the Stalin period, the question of electoral politics during May 1968 and its aftermath. Looking closely at a number of Sartre's texts including Materialism and Revolution, The Critique of Dialectical Reason, What is Literature and journalistic works and interviews Martin seeks to reveal Sartre's continuing contribution to philosophy in the wake of postmodern, post socialist and poststructuralist movements.
