Techniques and Tools for Designing an Online Social Network Platform Panagiotis Karampelas, 2012-12-13 Following the introduction of Myspace LinkedIn and Facebook social networks have become part of people s everyday life New online social networks appear almost daily developed to attract the attention of Internet users. However, design and implementation standards and guidelines are often sacrificed for innovation, resulting in unusable social networking platforms destined to be doomed. Within this context, the present book recommends a design and implementation methodology which will allow future social networking platform designers and developers to work in a scientifically systematic and sound manner to reach their goal. The journey begins with the identification of the pursued objective of the social network and the potential participants. The presentation of various methods and techniques to collect the requirements of the intended user group of the social networking platform follows. Best practices, guidelines, and standards that will facilitate the conceptual and physical design of the platform are portrayed. An analysis of advantages and limitations for existing implementation platforms and potential implementation techniques is subsequently offered to facilitate the selection of the most appropriate tool for the implementation of the online social networking website. Various representative visualization techniques are examined in order to enhance the visual representation of the social network participants. Various usability evaluation techniques are then presented to aid in the assessment of usability and improvement of the actual user experience. Finally, future trends in the design and use of social networks are presented.

The Arms Trade Treaty: A Commentary Andrew Clapham, Stuart Casey-Maslen, Gilles Giacca, Sarah Parker, 2016-07-28 The United Nations Arms Trade Treaty became binding international law in late 2014 and although the text of the treaty is a relatively concise framework for assessing whether to authorize or deny proposed conventional weapons transfers by States Parties there exists controversy as to the meaning of certain key provisions Furthermore the treaty requires a national regulatory body to authorize proposed transfers of conventional weapons covered by the treaty but does not detail how such a body should be established and how it should effectively function The Arms Trade Treaty A Commentary explains in detail each of the treaty provisions the parameters for prohibitions or the denial of transfers international cooperation and assistance and implementation obligations and mechanisms As states ratify and implement the Treaty over the next few years the commentary provides invaluable guidance

Human Computation Edith Law, Luis von Ahn, 2022-06-01

Human computation is a new and evolving research area that centers around harnessing human intelligence to solve computational problems that are beyond the scope of existing Artificial Intelligence (AI) algorithms. With the growth of the Web, human computation systems can now leverage the abilities of an unprecedented number of people via the Web to perform complex computation. There are various genres of human computation applications that exist today. Games with a purpose, e.g., the ESP Game, specifically target online gamers who generate useful data, e.g., image tags, while playing an enjoyable game. Crowdsourcing marketplaces, e.g., Amazon Mechanical Turk, are human computation systems that coordinate workers to perform tasks in exchange for monetary rewards. In identity verification tasks, users perform computation in order to gain access to some online content; an example is reCAPTCHA, which leverages millions of users who solve CAPTCHAs every day to correct words in books that optical character recognition (OCR) programs fail to recognize with certainty.

This book is aimed at achieving four goals:

1. defining human computation as a research area
2. providing a comprehensive review of existing work
3. drawing connections to a wide variety of disciplines including AI, Machine Learning, HCI, Mechanism Market Design, and Psychology, and capturing their unique perspectives on the core research questions in human computation
4. suggesting promising research directions for the future.
