Ending Africa's Wars Progressing To Peace:

Ending Africa's Wars Roy May, 2016-04-29 Post colonial Africa has seemingly been in an intractable state of conflict and war for a considerable period of time. This volume explores the process by which these wars were ended, discusses the lessons learnt, and examines the sustainability of recently reconciled conflicts to see how far peace solutions are permanent in this region. Ending Africa's Wars is an important and timely book for all those interested in conflict, democracy, international organizations, civil society, refugees, gender, and the economic reconstruction of Africa. Ending Africa's

Wars Mr Oliver Furley, Mr Roy May, 2013-02-28 Post colonial Africa has seemingly been in an intractable state of conflict and war for a considerable period of time. This volume explores the process by which these wars were ended, discusses the lessons learnt, and examines the sustainability of recently reconciled conflicts to see how far peace solutions are permanent in this region. Ending Africa's Wars is an important and timely book for all those interested in conflict, democracy, international organizations, civil society, refugees, gender, and the economic reconstruction of Africa. Demobilizing

Irregular Forces Eric Y. Shibuya, 2013-04-18 From Afghanistan and Sierra Leone to East Timor, the aftermath of any armed conflict presents a complex set of challenges. Whatever political agreements may have been reached, conflicts are often at risk of reigniting, and the fates of their former participants remain uncertain. Armed groups may not be easily dissuaded from pursuing belligerent activities which they see as both profitable and understandable behaviour. In the face of these difficulties, the process of disarmament, demobilization, and reintegration (DDR) attempts to convince combatants to relinquish their weapons and return to civilian life. It is a crucial first step towards lasting peace. Demobilizing Militias is the first comprehensive introduction to DDR in the contemporary world. Examining regions as varied as Africa, Asia, and Central America, it guides readers through the different stages of the DDR process, as well as assessing competing perspectives surrounding its implementation. Attentive to the problems faced by practitioners, Eric Shibuya argues against a one-size-fits-all approach, emphasizing the importance of social and psychological contexts in fostering the trust that is necessary for DDR to succeed. Accessible and incisive, it will be an ideal resource for students of politics, security, and conflict studies, as well as anyone interested in the dynamics of peacebuilding today. Research Handbook on Mediating International Crises

Jonathan Wilkenfeld, Kyle Beardsley, David Quinn, 2019 Current conceptions of mediation can often fail to capture the complexity and intricacy of modern conflicts. This Research Handbook addresses this problem by presenting the leading expert opinions on international mediation, examining how international mediation practices, mechanisms, and institutions should adapt to the changing characteristics of contemporary international crises. African Security Politics Redefined

K. Dokken, 2008-05-26 This book analyzes recent alterations in African security politics, focusing on regionalization of civil wars, transnational aspects of African conflicts, African regional peacekeeping efforts, the privatization of security in Africa, and the role of the UN in peacekeeping. Peacebuilding, Power, and Politics in Africa Devon Curtis, Gwinyayi A.

Dzinesa, 2012-09-21 Peacebuilding Power and Politics in Africa is a critical reflection on peacebuilding efforts in Africa. The authors expose the tensions and contradictions in different clusters of peacebuilding activities including peace negotiations, statebuilding, security sector governance and disarmament, demobilization and reintegration. Essays also address the institutional framework for peacebuilding in Africa and the ideological underpinnings of key institutions including the African Union, NEPAD, the African Development Bank, the Pan African Ministers Conference for Public and Civil Service, the UN Peacebuilding Commission, the World Bank and the International Criminal Court. The volume includes on the ground case study chapters on Sudan, the Great Lakes Region of Africa, Sierra Leone and Liberia, the Niger Delta, Southern Africa and Somalia, analyzing how peacebuilding operates in particular African contexts. The authors adopt a variety of approaches but they share a conviction that peacebuilding in Africa is not a script that is authored solely in Western capitals and in the corridors of the United Nations. Rather, the writers in this volume focus on the interaction between local and global ideas and practices in the reconstitution of authority and livelihoods after conflict. The book systematically showcases the tensions that occur within and between the many actors involved in the peacebuilding industry as well as their intended beneficiaries. It looks at the multiple ways in which peacebuilding ideas and initiatives are reinforced, questioned, reappropriated and redesigned by different African actors. A joint project between the Centre for Conflict Resolution in Cape Town, South Africa and the Centre of African Studies at the University of Cambridge.

The Role of Women in Making and Building Peace in Liberia, Anne, 2014-04-15. In the early 2000s, Liberian women wearing wrap skirts and white T-shirts shouting 'We want peace, no more war' attracted international attention. After almost fifteen years of civil war, the enduring, active, multifaceted and non-violent campaigning for peace by women's organisations contributed to the end of the fighting and the signing of a peace agreement between the warring factions. Although it is widely assumed that women's inclusion in peace processes yields greater attention to women's issues and needs in the aftermath of a conflict, this is only partly the case in Liberia. Thus, this analysis looks beyond the extraordinary commitment by women in Liberia and deals with the questions to what extent their role in the peace process has contributed to gender-sensitive outcomes in post-conflict Liberian society and why greater gender sensitivity was not achieved. By focusing on manifestations of patterns of masculinity in the public and private spheres, Anne Theobald identifies factors at different levels of analysis within different time frames that elucidate the unexpected outcome. Not only does this provide for a more encompassing understanding of dynamics of gender relations and context-specific variables impeding gender sensitivity in post-conflict settings but it also helps to refine prevailing theoretical approaches on gender in peacemaking and peacebuilding and to develop more holistic, context-specific and efficient policy approaches which can effectively lead to gender-sensitive peace.

Handbook on Gender and War, Simona Sharoni, Julia Welland, Linda Steiner, Jennifer Pedersen, 2016-07-27. This interdisciplinary Handbook offers a comprehensive and detailed overview of the relationship between gender and war, exploring the conduct of war, its impact, aftermath and opposition to it.

Offering sophisticated theoretical insights and empirical research from the First World War to contemporary conflicts around the world this Handbook underscores the centrality of gender to critical examinations of war

Innovative Community Responses to Disaster Brent D. Hales, Norman Walzer, James R. Calvin, 2017-10-02 Increasingly community leaders around the world face major natural and economic disasters that require them to find ways to rebuild both physical infrastructure and the local economy Doing this effectively requires an understanding of how various parts of the community are interconnected as well as information as to which revitalization approaches have succeeded in the past Community investment in recovery is essential and in some cases may require local leaders to rethink how it can be financed and arranged This book presents a conceptual framework based on the community capitals and describes approaches that have succeeded in situations where local leaders have coordinated efforts to rebuild and revitalize local conditions Contributions provide examples of successful approaches around the world thus analysing potential strategies for addressing disasters of many different types in various cultural settings In this way the book provides insights into a variety of approaches based on applications of accepted community development theory and concepts This book was originally published as a special issue of Community Development

Counseling People of African Ancestry Elias Mpofu, 2011-06-27 This volume advances a uniquely Afro centric sociocultural understanding of health maintenance and risk reduction in African cultural heritage populations It unites a diverse group of leading African and Africanist scholars in an exploration of common cultural values in African heritage communities and their practical applications in contemporary counseling The chapters highlight the prominent health issues faced in Africanist settings today and use real world experiences to illustrate core lessons for effective community action The approach spans complex cultural milieus from diversity counseling to conflict resolution Each chapter includes field based experiential tasks discussion boxes research boxes and case studies which serve as valuable resources in both coursework and casework Counseling People of African Ancestry is an essential primer for community health workers counselors and educators seeking a better understanding of African cultural heritage settings to promote community health well being and development

Regional Organizations in African Security Fredrik Soderbaum, Rodrigo Tavares, 2013-09-13 The African continent is plagued by some of the most brutal and violent conflicts in the world At the same time that warfare is changing so has the state s capacity to provide security and political stability to its citizens This book deals with the role of regional organizations in Africa s security It focuses on three basic yet often overlooked questions 1 the advantages and disadvantages of African regional and sub regional organizations vis vis other security mechanisms 2 the official and unofficial reasons to intervene and 3 whether security is actually protected by the peace activities carried out by the regional organizations The contributors to the book all leading researchers in the field systematically assess and compare the role of the African Union AU the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS the Intergovernmental Authority on Development IGAD the Economic Community of Central African States ECCAS and the Southern African Development Community SADC This book was based on a special issue of African Security The Internationalization of Internal Conflicts Amy L. Freedman, 2016-04-29 Internal security crises from environmental disaster extreme poverty and deprivation armed conflicts or ethnic or religious conflict provide sites of opportunity for those seeking to internationalize conflicts Domestic conflicts in Africa the Middle East and Southeast Asia have started as internal problems but have taken on regional and international dimensions as parties to the conflict within the country and sympathetic external forces have joined forces with each other for mutual gain This book examines the international dimension to internal conflicts and asks under what conditions do domestic conflicts become opportunities for regional or global actors to become involved Why have some countries been able to successfully deal with this problem while others have not Who are the actors who seek to internationalize conflicts Why and with what means do they become involved and how do their agendas get internalized localized Cases include the separatist movements in the Philippines Southern Thailand Aceh Indonesia and the civil wars in Rwanda Congo and Sierra Leone Liberia Lebanon and Iraq This book finds that a combination of greater democratization internally coupled with constructive outside mediation efforts can produce conditions necessary to prevent conflicts from escalating or diffusing and can facilitate peace building Several chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Asian Security International Conflict Management Michael J. Butler, 2009-05-07 This textbook chronicles the logic evolution application and outcomes of the five major approaches to international conflict management

European Security Bjørn Møller, 2016-04-22 Europe has undergone quite profound changes since the end of the Cold War Having been a highly militarised conflict ridden and war ridden region the core of Europe today constitutes a security community where armed conflicts among the constituent states has become inconceivable This comprehensive book offers a theoretically founded and thoroughly documented analysis of European security with a special emphasis on the role played by the United Nations and the various regional and sub regional organisations especially the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe the Council of Europe and the European Union When it comes to explaining peace in Europe opinions differ widely Some argue that it was only because the West refused to give in to Soviet threats that the latter eventually gave up or that the long peace in Europe was due to the combination of a bipolar alliance structure pitting the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation NATO against the Warsaw Pact with the presence of nuclear weapons on both sides Others point instead to the extraordinarily dense network of international institutions and organisations in Europe offering a wide panoply of fora in which to handle disputes peacefully or to the web of interdependence in economic and other affairs tying together all states in Europe in relations which militate strongly against war Still others believe that the external peace between the states in Europe is simply a reflection of a convergence of cultures democracies with marked economies that are open towards the world market These questions are the focal point of this book which concentrates on security albeit not in the sense of being a treatise on military matters but security obtainable

by much more indirect and non military means It will be required reading for all students and scholars of European security and the organisations which underpin it      Routledge Companion to Peace and Conflict Studies Sean Byrne,Thomas Matyók,Imani Michelle Scott,Jessica Senehi,2019-07-24 This Companion examines contemporary challenges in Peace and Conflict Studies PACS and offers practical solutions to these problems Bringing together chapters from new and established global scholars the volume explores and critiques the foundations of Peace and Conflict Studies in an effort to advance the discipline in light of contemporary local and global actors The book examines the following eight specific components of Peace and Conflict Studies Peace and conflict studies praxis Structure agency tension as it relates to social justice nonviolence and relationship building Gender masculinity and sexuality The role of partnerships and allies in racial ethnic and religious peacebuilding Culture and identity Critical and emancipatory peacebuilding International conflict transformation and peacebuilding Global responses to conflict It argues that new critical and emancipatory peacebuilding and conflict transformation strategies are needed to address the complex cultural economic political and social conflicts of the 21st century This book will be of much interest to students of peace and conflict studies peace studies conflict resolution transitional justice reconciliation studies social justice studies and international relations      Hot Spot: Sub-Saharan Africa Toyin Falola,Adebayo O. Oyebade,2010-07-01 This book provides an extensive examination of the major conflicts in the extremely volatile region of sub Saharan Africa and their ramifications throughout the continent and beyond Conflict has been a critical factor in the making of contemporary Africa and its study is key to understanding the continent s tortuous history Hot Spot Sub Saharan Africa analyzes the area s major post independence conflicts intense enough to threaten national regional or international security This work defines conflict broadly to encompass political instability and state failure ethno religious tensions government and political corruption economic mismanagement and poverty cult violence and youth gangsterism Thematically organized chapters examine the origins and development of explosive hot spots including Sudan Somalia Rwanda and Democratic Republic of Congo in West Africa Nigeria Southern Africa the Horn of Africa and Central Africa and the Great Lakes region The book also explores outside factors that have impacted African conflicts such as superpower Cold War manipulation and foreign influence and intervention      From Transitional to Transformative Justice Paul Gready,Simon Robins,2019-02-21 Builds on micro level critiques of transitional justice to debate a more comprehensive alternative at the level of theory and practice      Does Development Aid Affect Conflict Ripeness? Lucie Podszun,2011-08-27 Many developing countries find themselves in seemingly intractable internal conflicts hindering them from moving on into a more stable secure and wealthy environment It seems that underdevelopment and conflict go hand in hand Underdevelopment most often implies large streams of development aid channeled into countries at war The work evaluates to what extent an increase in development aid affects conflict ripeness The research shows that the effect is ambivalent it depends on the conditions of provision whether it is positive or negative In general an increase in development aid decreases the intensity of one of the ingredients to conflict ripeness the mutually hurting stalemate. However, if embedded into a smart strategy, an increase in development aid enhances the second ingredient to conflict ripeness, the sense of a way out. By that, it counterbalances the negative effect and thus fosters the phase of ripeness, creating an ideal starting position for a subsequent peace process.

Peacebuilding in the African Union Abou Jeng, 2012-08-02. Particularly in the context of internal conflicts, international law is frequently unable to create and sustain frameworks for peace in Africa. In Peacebuilding in the African Union, Abou Jeng explores the factors which have prevented such steps forward in the interaction between the international legal order and postcolonial Africa. In the first work of its kind, Jeng considers whether these limitations necessitate recasting the existing conceptual structure and whether the Constitutive Act of the African Union provides exactly this opportunity through its integrated peace and security framework. Through the case studies of Burundi and Somalia, Jeng examines the structures and philosophy of the African Union and assesses the capacity of its practices in peacemaking. In so doing, this book will be of great practical value to scholars and legal practitioners alike.

The Political Economy of Peacemaking Achim Wennmann, 2010-12-14. This book focuses on the economic dimensions of peace processes and examines the opportunities and constraints for assisting negotiated exits out of conflict. Various works have addressed the economic characteristics and consequences of armed conflicts over the past two decades, including issues such as blood diamonds, natural resource wars, economically motivated armed violence, self-financing conflict, or the complicity of companies and state elites in conflict economies. However, rather than treating these issues as obstacles for peace, this book explores whether they can be opportunities for peacemaking by adopting a political economy perspective. The book looks at income sharing from natural resources as an opportunity for forward-looking peacemaking strategies and the implications of deal-making in situations in which war economies and insecurity provide strongmen with disproportionate political and economic power. The book also highlights that peace processes are not necessarily about the rectification of a conflict's root causes but rather about what matters most to the main stakeholders at the moment when a peace process starts taking shape. Finally, efforts to establish a lasting peace need to go beyond the traditional set of actors associated with peace processes. The strategic involvement of donor agencies, companies, and diaspora communities can strengthen forward-looking peace processes. The book will help both student and practitioner audiences to better understand armed conflicts and their belligerents, optimize the planning and management of peace initiatives, and shape expectations in peace agreements. It will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding, conflict studies, development studies, International Political Economy, and International Relations in general.
