Energy, Economic Growth, and Geopolitical Futures Evan Hillebrand, Stacy Closson, 2015-03-27 Top drawer scenario builders map a unique array of big picture global outcomes shaped by energy prices economic growth and global harmony Better still they give the reader tools to build her own scenarios An essential reference for experts concerned with geopolitical and geoeconomic futures Gary Clyde Hufbauer Reginald Jones Senior Fellow Peterson Institute for International Economics The way the authors have integrated the International Futures model into scenario analysis is very instructive and amounts to a useful methodological contribution to the literature on scenario analysis As an energy economist I also appreciate that the book adds to the usual energy market forecasting exercises that take economic growth as exogenous to the energy markets and ignore political factors Peter Hartley Mitchell Professor of Economics and Rice Scholar in Energy Studies at the Baker Institute Rice University Evan Hillebrand and Stacy Closson have written an interesting and original book in which they analyze several different scenarios for economic growth energy prices and international conflict over the next forty years in an engaging and accessible style I recommend this book to anyone who wishes to understand the range of possible futures James Morrow Professor of Political Science University of Michigan Energy, Economic Growth, and Geopolitical Futures Evan Hillebrand, Stacy Closson, 2015-04-17 Eight varied scenarios integrating a quantitative model and qualitative analysis that examine the interplay of three key drivers over the next four decades This book presents eight varied scenarios of possible global futures emphasizing the interconnectedness of three drivers of change energy prices economic growth and geopolitics Other published global future scenarios focus on only one of these factors viewing for example economic growth as unaffected by energy prices or energy prices in isolation from geopolitical conditions In this book Evan Hillebrand and Stacy Closson offer a new approach to scenario construction that acknowledges the codependence of these key drivers and integrates qualitative analysis with a quantitative model The eight scenarios represent possible combinations of high or low energy prices strong or weak economic growth and global harmony or disharmony across three time periods the 2010s 2020 to 2040 and 2040 to 2050 The Regional Mercantilism scenario for example envisions high energy prices weak economic growth and global disharmony To impose numerical consistency across scenarios Hillebrand and Closson employ the International Futures IFs model developed by Barry Hughes Interested readers can download this interactive model to alter or build scenarios themselves Assessing the probability of each scenario they conclude that increased U S energy supply and the sustainability of the Chinese growth miracle are the most significant drivers over the next forty years Racing to the Top William R. Thompson, Leila Zakhirova, 2019 In the international political economy of the last two millennia there tends to be one state leading the world as the foremost producer of energy and new technology In Racing to the Top William R Thompson and Leila Zakhirova argue that the US and China like previous leading countries rely on energy transition or the development of alternative energy in order to make new technology relatively inexpensive to develop and to fuel While the

US has historically held the lead its edge in the global energy economy appears to be eroding and as energy leadership diminishes so does the country's position in world politics Thompson and Zakhirova take a long view in order to show what will be necessary for a new power to emerge as the system leader then map a path forward for energy policy Informed by a deep knowledge of world history political economy and environmental technology this book is the first complete overview of energy transitions over the past thousand years
