Learning from the Federal Market-Based Reforms William J. Mathis, Tina M. Trujillo, 2016-06-01 Over the past twenty years educational policy has been characterized by top down market focused policies combined with a push toward privatization and school choice The new Every Student Succeeds Act continues along this path though with decision making authority now shifted toward the states These market based reforms have often been touted as the most promising response to the challenges of poverty and educational disenfranchisement But has this approach been successful Has learning improved Have historically low scoring schools turned around or have the reforms had little effect Have these narrow conceptions of schooling harmed the civic and social purposes of education in a democracy This book presents the evidence Drawing on the work of the nation's most prominent researchers the book explores the major elements of these reforms as well as the social political and educational contexts in which they take place It examines the evidence supporting the most common school improvement strategies school choice reconstitutions or massive personnel changes and school closures From there it presents the research findings cutting across these strategies by addressing the evidence on test score trends teacher evaluation miracle schools the Common Core State Standards school choice the newly emerging school improvement industry and re segregation among others The weight of the evidence indisputably shows little success and no promise for these reforms Thus the authors counsel strongly against continuing these failed policies The book concludes with a review of more promising avenues for educational reform including the necessity of broader societal investments for combatting poverty and adverse social conditions While schools cannot single handedly overcome societal inequalities important work can take place within the public school system with evidence based interventions such as early childhood education detracking adequate funding and full service community schools all intended to renew our nation's commitment to democracy and equal educational opportunity

The Big Lies of School Reform Paul C. Gorski, Kristien Zenkov, 2014-03-14 The Big Lies of School Reform provides a critical interruption to the ongoing policy conversations taking place around public education in the United States today By analyzing the discourse employed by politicians lobbyists think tanks and special interest groups the authors uncover the hidden assumptions that often underlie popular statements about school reform and demonstrate how misinformation or half truths have been used to reshape public education in ways that serve the interests of private enterprise Through a thoughtful series of essays that each identify one lie about popular school reform initiatives the authors of this collection reveal the concrete impacts of these falsehoods from directing funding to shaping curricula to defining student achievement Luminary contributors including Deborah Meier Jeannie Oakes Gloria Ladson Billings and Jim Cummins explain how reform movements affect teachers and administrators and how widely accepted mistruths can hinder genuine efforts to keep public education equitable effective and above all truly public Topics covered include common core standards tracking alternative paths to licensure and the disempowerment of teachers unions Beyond critically examining the popular rhetoric the contributors offer visions for improving educational access opportunity and outcomes for all students and educators and for protecting public education as a common good

Contemporary Youth Activism Jerusha Conner, Sonia M. Rosen, 2016-09-26 A cutting edge study showcases the emergence of contemporary youth activism in the United States its benefits to young people its role in strengthening society and its powerful social justice implications At a time when youth are too often dismissed as either empowered consumers or disempowered deviants it is vital to understand how these young people are pushing back challenging such constructions and advancing new possibilities for their institutions and themselves This book examines the latest developments in the field of contemporary youth activism CYA and documents the myriad ways in which youth activists are effecting social change even as they experience personal change By taking public political action on a range of intersecting issues youth activists are shifting their own developmental pathways shaping public policy and shaking up traditional paradigms Section one of the book offers a historical perspective on youth activism in the United States followed by a discussion of contemporary examples of CYA for social justice The second and third sections analyze the individual institutional and ideological effects of CYA arguing that youth activism works to promote change at three levels self systems and in the broader society Readers will come away with a clearer understanding of the many ways in which today's youth activists are working to reimagine and remake American democracy reawakening the promise of a multi issue progressive movement for social justice

School Leadership for Authentic Family and Community Partnerships Susan Auerbach, 2012-05-22 School leaders are increasingly called upon to pursue meaningful partnerships with families and community groups yet many leaders are unprepared to meet the challenges of partnerships to cross cultural boundaries or to be accountable to the community. Alliances are needed among educators, families, and community groups that value relationship building, dialogue, and power sharing as part of socially just democratic schools. This book brings together research perspectives that intersect the fields of leadership and partnerships to inform and inspire more authentic collaboration. Contributors from the fields of educational leadership, family engagement, school community partnerships, and education for social justice come together to examine the role of educational leaders in promoting partnerships as a dimension of leadership for social justice. The volume offers a mix of empirical, conceptual, and reflective chapters with research representing qualitative, quantitative, and mixed methods approaches in urban, suburban, and rural schools. The chapter, Conversations with Community Oriented Leaders, includes candid advice from district and school level administrators on this under documented aspect of leadership. Situating leadership for partnerships within the leadership literature, this book proposes a model for addressing tensions embedded in home school relations and leading schools toward more authentic relationships with stakeholders. This collection of original scholarly articles will be a unique resource for new and aspiring administrators and for researchers in both the fields of leadership and school family community partnerships.

Engaging Families, Educators, and Communities as Educational Advocates Sue Winton, Lauri Johnson, 2018-10-16 This edited collection broadens understanding of family school community partnerships by focusing on how community groups, educators, and university professors engage with public education to achieve their own goals rather than goals defined by schools, school systems, and governments. Authors critically examine various school community partnerships that collectively aim to improve decision making, democratize policy processes, resist policies that support the marketization of public education, and advocate for racial equality. The book's chapters focus on advocacy efforts within and across three national contexts: England, Canada, and the United States. Together, they expand current scholarship by demonstrating how different constituencies develop alliances, experience tensions, and navigate the politics inherent in change efforts. By examining the intersections of parent and community organizing, teacher unions, and school community partnerships across national contexts, the chapters uncover fruitful new terrain for understanding the theory and practice of educational activism. This volume was originally published as a special issue of Leadership and Policy in Schools.

Youth Dialogues on Race and Ethnicity Barry Checkoway, 2024 In Youth Dialogues on Race and Ethnicity, Barry Checkoway describes the work of a specific university community partnership program. Youth Dialogues on Race and Ethnicity in Metropolitan Detroit Including an analysis of the program s origins and objectives activities and accomplishments facilitating and limiting factors and lessons learned from practice Checkoway provides an unprecedented example of young people working together across segregated boundaries to transform their lives and communities He also examines youth dialogues as a process young people as change agents adults as allies and partners and the anchor institutions that support this work

Strengthening Anti-Racist Educational Leaders Anjalé D. Welton, Sarah Diem, 2021-10-21 This edited volume expands on the existent research on anti racist educational leadership by identifying what type of capacity building is needed for school administrators to facilitate anti racist change in their schools Racial inequities in education persist in part because the solutions that districts and schools choose to employ largely ignore why and how institutional and structural racism is the root cause of inequities in education Yet racial inequities in schooling can be redressed if districts and schools have leaders who are deeply committed to combatting racism in their daily practice and structures of schooling This book underscores why we need more educational leaders who adopt an anti racist stance in how they lead and are prepared to work toward racial justice and equity in a society so entrenched in racism Through diverse perspectives and voices including scholars in the field of educational leadership sociologists of education school and district administrators and grassroots community members and activist groups this book addresses issues related to anti racist educational leadership at various levels

Schools and Urban Revitalization Kelly L. Patterson, Robert Mark Silverman, 2013-10-08 New research in community development shows that institutions matter Where the private sector disinvests from the inner city public and nonprofit institutions step in and provide engines to economic revitalization and promote greater equity in society Schools and Urban Revitalization collects emerging research in this field with special interest in new school neighborhood partnerships that lead today s most vibrant policy responses to urban blight
