Knowledge Leadership Steven A. Cavaleri, Sharon Seivert, 2012-06-14 In Knowledge Leadership Cavaleri and Seivert describe the dawning of a new era in which individuals are leading rather than managing knowledge In the past many knowledge based initiatives have failed because leaders underestimated the powerful link between knowledge and performance improvement and also because they mistakenly thought that information was the same as knowledge Cavaleri and Seivert claim that while information is a necessary precursor to knowledge it is not sufficient in itself for improving business performance The authors describe notable organizations that use the pragmatic knowledge strategies they describe to gain competitive advantage Pragmatic knowledge is the result of individuals developing a deeper understanding of how and why things work best in practice The process of creating pragmatic knowledge transforms key lessons from systems thinking total quality management and organization learning into a powerful new business strategy To help readers apply the concepts and tools in this book Cavaleri and Seivert draw on case examples and a decade of original cross cultural research about knowledge leadership They also invite readers to use The Knowledge Bias Profile to discover their knowledge leadership style The book systematically outlines a user friendly strategy for becoming a knowledge leader and for building high performing knowledge based organizations

Foundations Steve Fuller, 2012-07-26 Knowledge Management Foundations is just what it claims the first attempt to provide a secure intellectual footing for the myriad of practices called knowledge management A breath of fresh air from the usual KM gurus Fuller openly admits that the advent of KM is a mixed blessing that often amounts to the conduct of traditional management by subtler means However Fuller's deep understanding of both the history of management theory and knowledge production more generally enables him to separate the wheat from the chaff of the KM literature This ground breaking book will prove of interest to both academics and practitioners of knowledge management It highlights the ways in which KM has challenged the values associated with knowledge that academics have taken for granted for centuries At the same time Fuller resists the conclusion of many KM gurus that the value of knowledge lies in whatever the market will bear in the short term He pays special attention to how information technology has not only facilitated knowledge work but also has radically altered its nature There are chapters devoted to the revolution in intellectual property and an evaluation of peer review as a quality control mechanism The book culminates in a positive re evaluation of universities as knowledge producing institutions from which the corporate sector still has much to learn Organizational Survival in the New World Alex

Bennet, David Bennet, 2004-02-18 In this book David and Alex Bennet propose a new model for organizations that enables them to react more quickly and fluidly to today's fast changing dynamic business environment the Intelligent Complex Adaptive System ICAS ICAS is a new organic model of the firm based on recent research in complexity and neuroscience and incorporating networking theory and knowledge management and turns the living system metaphor into a reality for organizations This book synthesizes new thinking about organizational structure from the fields listed above into ICAS a new systems model for the successful organization of the future designed to help leaders and managers of knowledge organizations succeed in a non linear complex fast changing and turbulent environment Technology enables connectivity and the ICAS model takes advantage of that connectivity by fostering the development of dynamic effective and trusting relationships in a new organizational structure This book outlines the model in chapter four and then breaks down the model into its components in the next two chapters This is a benefit to readers since different components of the model can be implemented at different times so the book can guide implementation of one or all of the components as a manager sees fit There are eight characteristics of the ICAS organizational intelligence unity and shared purpose optimum complexity selectivity knowledge centricity flow permeable boundaries and multi dimensionality

Sustainable Innovation René Jorna,2017-09-08 HOW SUSTAINABLE IS INNOVATION Problematically most contemporary patterns of innovation in human social systems and organisations are not sustainable This prevents people from learning effectively from recognising and solving their problems and from operating in sustainable ways It is arguably why societies businesses and industries around the world are so unsustainable Sustainable innovation is a pattern of social learning and problem solving that is itself sustainable The sustainability of innovation moreover is linked to the sustainability of its outcomes which manifest themselves in what people produce and do in the world Sustainable innovation then is a necessary precondition for sustainability in how societies and organisations function the ways they organise the products and services they make the energy and resources they use and the wastes they produce As challenges such as demographic pressures ethnic tensions terrorism global poverty pandemics and abrupt climate change force their way into mainstream politics and business so we see growing interest in innovation entrepreneurial solutions and critically issues such as how to ensure successful solutions replicate and scale Sustainable Innovation aims to illustrate that shift Instead of simply focusing on environmental and technological matters it views and evaluates innovation for sustainability in terms of the human social and management challenges and responses. It argues that a just efficient and sustainable balancing of these elements is best achieved by the development of new knowledge and by the evolution of better means both of embedding that emerging knowledge in organisations and institutions and of managing the relevant flows of information knowledge and wisdom. The book stresses that claims that a particular product production process or service are sustainable usually assume that an appropriate balance has been achieved between people planet and profit. However calculating the sustainability of such things let alone of complex systems such as enterprises or economies can be impossible. Instead of sustainability the book favours the use of terms such as making sustainable emphasising that in dynamic operating environments organisational processes are changing constantly whether or not they are under effective strategic control by management. Innovation too is dynamic by definition. Sustainable Innovation argues that there must be a constant focus on the triple bottom line of economic social and environmental value creation during the innovation process. Sustainable innovation is a new challenge for organisations. It is a process that should permeate the whole organisation in terms of its members its tasks its coordination mechanisms and its procedures. Waste or pollution should not be seen as the reason for further intervention downstream but as an end of the pipe effect which could be organisationally cured upstream. Developed from the Dutch research programme Knowledge Creation for Sustainable Innovation this book presents empirical research and cases to develop a theory of sustainable innovation that is based on management of knowledge knowledge and cognition and innovation approaches. Sustainable Innovation suggests that knowledge and innovation will be the key drivers of social and corporate sustainability in the years ahead. It will be essential reading for managers and researchers in areas such as sustainability innovation knowledge management and organisational learning.

Intelligent Information Processing V Zhongzhi Shi, Sunil Vadera, Agnar Aamodt, David Leake, 2010-10-05. This volume comprises the 6th IFIP International Conference on Intelligent Information Processing. As the world proceeds quickly into the Information Age it encounters both successes and challenges and it is well recognized nowadays that intelligent information processing provides the key to the Information Age and to mastering many of these challenges. Intelligent information processing supports the most advanced productive tools that are said to be able to change human life and the world itself. However the path is never a straight one and every new technology brings with it a spate of new research problems to be tackled by researchers as a result we are not running out of topics rather the demand is ever increasing. This conference provides a forum for engineers and scientists in academia and industry to present their latest research findings in all aspects of intelligent information processing. This is the 6th IFIP International Conference on Intelligent Information Processing. We received more than 50 papers of which 35 papers are included in this program as regular papers and 4 as short papers. We are grateful for the dedicated work of both the authors and the referees and we hope these proceedings will continue to bear fruit over the years to come. All papers submitted were reviewed by two referees. A conference such as this cannot succeed without help from many individuals who
