of its first aristocratic Grand Masters in the 1720s and in the wake of its connections to the scientific Enlightenment Free and Accepted Masonry became part of Britain's national profile and the largest and most influential of Britain's extensive clubs and societies. The organisation did not evolve naturally from the mediaeval guilds and religious orders that predated it but was reconfigured radically by a largely self-appointed inner core at London's most influential lodge the Horn Tavern. Freemasonry became a vehicle for the expression of their philosophical and political views and the Craft attracted an aspirational membership across the upper middling and gentry. Through an examination of previously unexplored primary documentation Foundations contributes to an understanding of contemporary English political and social culture and explores how Freemasonry became a mechanism that promoted the interests of the Hanoverian establishment and connected the metropolitan and provincial elites. The book explores social networks centred on the aristocracy parliament the learned and professional societies and the magistracy and provides pen portraits of the key individuals who spread the Masonic message. Foundations and Schism Sussex Academic 2013 have been described as the most important books on English Freemasonry published in recent times providing a precise social context for the invention of English Freemasonry. Berman's analysis throws a new and original light on the formation and development of what rapidly became a national and international phenomenon.

Explorations Studies in Culture and Communication principally edited by Edmund Carpenter and Marshall McLuhan was the first postwar journal to engage directly with the new grammars of mid-century new media of communication. Launched in Toronto in 1953 at the very moment that television made its national debut in Canada Explorations presented a mosaic of approaches to contemporary media culture and became the site in which McLuhan and Carpenter first formulated their most striking insights about new media in the electric age. The extraordinary breadth of contributions to Explorations from leading thinkers across the arts humanities social and natural sciences makes this journal a founding publication in the now burgeoning field of media studies. Originally funded by a Ford Foundation grant the eight coedited issues of Explorations ran from 1953 to 1957 and are reprinted here for the first time in sixty years.
