Burns, 1906    Effective Management of Long-Term Care Facilities Douglas A. Singh, 2021-11-10 Effective Management of Long Term Care Facilities Fourth Edition examines the complex operations of the long term care facility and offers critical skills to current and future long term care administrators for delivering quality cost effective services An excellent resource for both new and seasoned long term care managers this logically organized text begins with an understanding of what long term care is and why it s an integral part of the health care delivery system It moves on to explore the legal and regulatory parameters and payment constraints within which long term care facilities must be managed each of the main functional departments that administrators must understand and oversee and effective governance and leadership and management of human resources marketing and quality much of which is unique to nursing home administration The final section of the book offers case studies to simulate situations that the administrator is likely to encounter in practice    Robert Brown and the Vancouver Island Exploring Expedition John Hayman, 2011-11-01 Robert Brown a twenty one year old Scotsman arrived on Vancouver Island in 1863 for the purpose of collecting seeds roots and plants for the Botanical Association of Edinburgh Relations with his employer quickly deteriorated however and when the opportunity arose in 1864 to head the Vancouver Island Exploring Expedition Brown eagerly accepted the position as its commander During the four and a half months of the expedition Brown kept a journal which is published here for the first time It is remarkable for its record of life on Vancouver Island over a century ago and its description of the island's pristine wilderness as well as for its proposals for future economic development. The accounts of agricultural settlements at Cowichan, Chemainus, and Comox and of the coal mining town of Nanaimo are among the earliest available. The Vancouver Island Exploring Expedition did not venture north of Comox but it crossed the island at several points, often by new routes and in the process left its mark by giving place names to several locations. The expedition's most celebrated achievement was the discovery of gold at Leech River, named after the second in command, which resulted in a short but sensational gold rush. Robert Brown was exceptionally interested in the way of life of the native people. His entries on land reserve policies and on the failure to settle land claims are especially pertinent today. Excerpts from his related writings among them one of the earliest records of a potlatch at Alberni and a collection of Indian myths and legends display an appreciation unusual at that time. Most of the known drawings of the expedition by Frederick Whympere, the travelling artist, are included in the book and give a contemporary view of many of the sites the expedition encountered. A checklist of Brown's other writings on the northwest coast completes the book. This updated go-to resource offers guidance on how to manage technology policies across a school community, secure funding, and facilitate training for educators and leaders you support. Technology coordinators and facilitators must be able to navigate the complexities of a school community's technology needs and serve a variety of individuals including students, teachers, and administrators. With its detailed practical approach, The Technology Coordinator's Handbook has established the standard in clarifying the wide variety of tasks and responsibilities faced by those in this critical role. Readers will learn how to be more effective learners and leaders so they can better assist students and teachers in managing technology use and dealing with technology challenges. The book also offers strategies for education leaders to successfully integrate technology into school and district operations. This expanded edition includes two brand new chapters covering online and blended learning and the future of the technology coordinator role. Additionally, the authors follow up with educators featured in the previous addition who offer insights and discuss how the position has evolved due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The authors have also assembled a broad range of teachers, administrators, and technology coordinators from around the country to offer guidance for those in this role. This new edition also includes helpful hints and toolbox tips from featured educators around the country. Updates to each chapter's essential questions and associated answers to help readers fully understand an issue and find the best solution to a problem. A professional development focus topic for each chapter sourced from the edtech professionals featured in the book. Digital components including templates, checklists, editable forms, technology leader job descriptions, and more. Technology coordinators, teacher educators, and administrators.

Rethinking Social Work Practice with Multicultural Communities Yolanda C. Padilla,Ruth McRoy,Rocío Calvo,2020-05-21 With research showing that clients from diverse racial and ethnic groups disproportionately experience barriers in their interactions with social services and that providers recognize the need to be better prepared to work with these groups this book invites us to rethink current approaches to social work practice with multicultural communities We begin with a synthesis of the current evidence on the provision of care to multicultural communities that provides an in depth look at both client and provider experiences The following chapters offer tangible research based approaches to engaging with multicultural clients and reveal often unrecognized problems with current models of social work practice A unique compilation of rigorous qualitative experimental and community based studies demonstrate the effectiveness of culturally grounded interventions and identify the specific factors associated with positive outcomes Areas covered include disability marriage and couple relationship problems domestic violence and mental illness within Latinx African American First Nations and South Asian communities As the authors in this book show the stories of multicultural communities are narratives of unprecedented resourcefulness and reinvention Yet social work underutilizes rich family and community cultural resources By not facilitating their involvement social service systems compromise these vital resources which social services cannot replace In arguing that we need to expand professional boundaries to encompass indigenous practices family and extended kin and therapeutic relationships that make sense to different cultural groups this book will be of interest to those studying the ways in which social work practice can be improved to better suit the needs of a racially and ethnically diverse population This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic Cultural Diversity in Social Work LONG
