The History of Oxford University Press:
Volume IV Keith Robbins,2017-05-26 The story of Oxford University Press spans five centuries of printing and publishing Beginning with the first presses set up in Oxford in the fifteenth century and the later establishment of a university printing house it leads through the publication of bibles scholarly works and the Oxford English Dictionary to a twentieth century expansion that created the largest university press in the world playing a part in research education and language learning in more than 50 countries With access to extensive archives the four volume History of OUP traces the impact of long term changes in printing technology and the business of publishing It also considers the effects of wider trends in education reading and scholarship in international trade and the spreading influence of the English language and in cultural and social history both in Oxford and through its presence around the world In the decades after 1970 Oxford University Press met new challenges but also a period of unprecedented growth In this concluding volume Keith Robbins and 21 expert contributors assess OUP s changing structure its academic mission and its business operations through years of economic turbulence and continuous technological change The Press repositioned itself after 1970 it brought its London Business to Oxford closed its Printing House and rapidly developed new publishing for English language teaching in regions far beyond its traditional markets Yet in an increasingly competitive worldwide industry OUP remained the department of a major British university sharing its commitment to excellence in scholarship and education The resulting opportunities and sometimes tensions are traced here through detailed consideration of OUP's business decisions the vast range of its publications and the dynamic role of its overseas offices Concluding in 2004 with new forms of digital publishing The History of OUP sheds new light on the cultural educational and business life of the English speaking world in the late twentieth century

Telemedicine in Low-Resource Settings, Volume 2 Richard Wootton, Laurent Bonnardot, Sophie Delaigue, 2020-04-24 Telemedicine networks to support healthcare workers in resource limited settings often for humanitarian purposes have evolved in a largely autonomous way Communication between the networks has been informal and relatively limited in scope This situation could be improved by developing a comprehensive approach to the collection and dissemination of information While many telemedicine networks remain experimental some have matured to become routine services which assist health care delivery in challenging environments For example there are a few networks which have been in operation for over a decade and provide store and forward telemedicine services to doctors in low and middle income countries These networks deliver clinically useful services and improved healthcare access However like much of telemedicine the formal evidence for their cost effectiveness remains weak Topics of current research interest therefore include the cost effectiveness of telemedicine in resource limited settings Other topics of interest concern outcomes data and methods for gathering it such as patient quality of life following a telemedicine episode the knowledge gain of healthcare staff involved in telemedicine and staff recruitment and retention in rural areas Finally there is little published information about the performance of these telemedicine networks and methods for measuring it about how best to manage them and about how to share resources between them Following the previous volume this Research Topic will document current evidence supporting the use of telemedicine in resource limited settings

Disciplinary and Interdisciplinary Education in STEM Yeping Li, Zheng Zeng, Naiqing Song, 2024-03-19 This book provides an international platform for educators from different STEM disciplines to present discuss connect and develop collaborations in two inter related ways 1 sharing and discussing changes and innovations in individual discipline based education in STEM STEAM and

2 sharing and discussing the development of interdisciplinary STEM STEAM education Possible relationships and connections between individual disciplines like mathematics or physics and STEM education remain under explored and the integration of traditionally individual discipline based education in STEM education is far from balanced Efforts to pursue possible connections among traditionally separated individual disciplines in STEM are not only necessary for the importance of deepening and expanding interdisciplinary research and education in STEM but also for the ever increasing need of reflecting on and changing how traditional school subjects like mathematics or physics can and should be viewed taught and learned Scholars from eight countries regions provide diverse perspectives and approaches on changes and innovations in STEM disciplinary and interdisciplinary education Disciplinary and Interdisciplinary Education in STEM will be a great resource to students and researchers in STEM education as well as STEM curriculum developers and teacher educators internationally Booksellers, Stationers and Fancy Goods Journal of Australia and New Zealand ,1946 APAIS 1991: Australian public affairs information service , Textbook of Rapid Response Systems Michael A.
