The Age of Wonders Aron Appelfeld, 1981 Aharon Appelfeld's Fiction Emily Miller Budick, 2005-01-17 How can a fictional text adequately or meaningfully represent the events of the Holocaust Drawing on philosopher Stanley Cavell's ideas about acknowledgment as a respectful attentiveness to the world Emily Miller Budick develops a penetrating philosophical analysis of major works by internationally prominent Israeli writer Aharon Appelfeld Through sensitive discussions of the novels Badenheim 1939 The Iron Tracks The Age of Wonders and Tzili and the autobiographical work The Story of My Life Budick reveals the compelling art with which Appelfeld renders the sights sensations and experiences of European Jewish life preceding during and after the Second World War She argues that it is through acknowledging the incompleteness of our knowledge and understanding of the catastrophe that Appelfeld's fiction produces not only its stunning aesthetic power but its affirmation and faith in both the human and the divine This beautifully written book provides a moving introduction to the work of an important and powerful writer and an enlightening meditation on how fictional texts deepen our understanding of historical events Jewish Literature and Culture Alvin H Rosenfeld editor

The Holocaust Novel Efraim Sicher, 2013-10-31 The first comprehensive study of Holocaust literature as a major postwar literary genre The Holocaust Novel provides an ideal student guide to the powerful and moving works written in response to this historical tragedy This student friendly volume answers a dire need for readers to understand a genre in which boundaries and often blurred between history fiction autobiography and memoir Other essential features for students here include an annotated bibliography chronology and further reading list Major texts discussed include such widely taught works as Night Maus The Shawl Schindler's List Sophie's Choice White Noise and Time's Arrow The Elsewhere Adam Zachary Newton, 2005-08-03 The Elsewhere Or midbar biblical Hebrew for both wilderness and speech A place of possession and dispossession loss and nostalgia But also a place that speaks Ingeniously using a Talmudic interpretive formula about the disposition of boundaries Newton explores narratives of place flight border and beyond The writers of The Elsewhere are a disparate company of twentieth century memoirists and fabulists from the Levant Palestine Israel Egypt and East Central Europe Together their texts cunningly paired so as to speak to one another in mutually revelatory ways narrate the paradox of the near distance

For Every Sin Aharon Appelfeld, 1996 By one of Israel's preeminent authors For Every Sin is a haunting story of a Holocaust survivor's odyssey across Europe and his struggle to find redemption in the aftermath of his experience

The Retreat Aharon Appelfeld, 2016-11-02 The year is 1937 On a remote hilltop some distance from Vienna

stands a hotel called The Retreat Founded by a man who is determined to cleanse himself and his guests of all Jewish traits it is a resort of assimilation with daily activities that include lessons in how to look talk act in short how to pass as a gentile But with Hitler on the march the possibilities of both assimilation and retreat are quickly fading for the hotel s patrons men and women who are necessarily and horrifically blind to their fate Mordant shrewd and elegantly written The Retreat is a moving story of people forbidden to retreat from themselves by the writer whom Irving Howe called one of the best novelists alive

Aharon Appelfeld Yig'al Shvarts,2001 A compelling study of the entire oeuvre of a widely published Israeli writer now available in English But There Was Love Michal Govrin,Dana Freibach-Heifetz,Etty BenZaken,Raya Morag,2025-04-21 But There Was Love Shaping the Memory of the Shoah proposes a new paradigm for Shoah remembrance in today s cultural and political reality It derives from the four year workings of a group of researchers and artists at The Van Leer Jerusalem Institute led by Michal Govrin The group positions the extraordinary Jewish and non Jewish human struggle in facing dehumanization and extermination as the essence of the Shoah challenging us with a profound ethical call Above the Death Pits, Beneath the Flag Jackie Feldman,2008 Israeli youth voyages to Poland are one of the most popular and influential forms of transmission of Holocaust memory in Israeli society Through intensive participant observation group discussions student diaries and questionnaires the author demonstrates how the State shapes Poland into a living deathscape of Diaspora Jewry In the course of the voyage students undergo a rite de passage in which they are transformed into victims victorious survivors and finally witnesses of the witnesses By viewing touching and smelling Holocaust period ruins and remains by accompanying the survivors on the sites of their suffering and survival crying together and performing commemorative ceremonies at the death sites students from a wide variety of family backgrounds become carriers of Shoah memory They come to see the State and its defense as the romanticized answer to the Shoah These voyages are a bureaucratic response to uncertainty and fluidity of identity in an increasingly globalized and fragmented society This study adds a measured and compassionate ethical voice to ideological debates surrounding educational and cultural forms of encountering the past in contemporary Israel and raises further questions about the representation of the Holocaust after the demise of the last living witnesses Growth and Turbulence in the Container/Contained: Bion's Continuing Legacy Howard B.

Admitting the Holocaust Lawrence L. Langer, 1996-06-20 In the face of the Holocaust writes Lawrence L. Langer our age clings to the stable relics of faded eras as if ideas like natural innocence innate dignity the inviolable spirit and the triumph of art over reality were immured in some kind of immortal shrine immune to the ravages of history and time. But these ideas have been ravaged and in Admitting the Holocaust Langer presents a series of essays that represent his effort over nearly a decade to wrestle with this rupture in human values and to see the Holocaust as it really was. His vision is necessarily dark but he does not see the Holocaust as a warrant for futility or as a witness to the death of hope. It is a summons to reconsider our values and rethink what it means to be a human being. These penetrating and often gripping essays cover a wide range of issues from the Holocaust's relation to time and memory to its portrayal in literature to its use and abuse by culture to its role in reshaping our sense of history's legacy. In many ways Langer examines the ways in which accounts of the Holocaust in history literature film and theology have extended and sometimes limited our insight into an event that is often said to defy understanding itself. He singles out Cynthia Ozick as one of the few American writers who can meet the challenge of imagining mass murder without flinching and who can distinguish between myth and truth. On the other hand he finds Bernard Malamud's literary treatment of the Holocaust never entirely successful; it seems to have been a threat to Malamud's vision of man's basic dignity and he argues that William Styron's portrayal of the commandant of Auschwitz in Sophie's Choice pushed Nazi violence to the periphery of the novel where it disturbed neither the author nor his readers. He is especially acute in his discussion of the language used to describe the Holocaust arguing that much of it is used to console rather than to confront. He notes that when we speak of the survivor instead of the victim of martyrdom instead of murder regard being gassed as dying with dignity or evoke the redemptive rather than grievous power of memory we draw on an arsenal of words that tends to build verbal fences between what we are mentally willing or able to face and the harrowing reality of the camps and ghettos A respected Holocaust scholar and author of Holocaust Testimonies The Ruins of Memory winner of the 1991 National Book Critics Circle Award for criticism Langer offers a view of this catastrophe that is candid and disturbing and yet hopeful in its belief that the testimony of witnesses in diaries journals memoirs and on videotape and the unflinching imagination of literary artists can still offer us access to one of the darkest episodes in the twentieth century American Bandstand John A. Jackson,1999 Based on extensive interviews with dozens of photographs this is a riveting and uncensored account of a show that managed to survive countless revolutions in popular music 36 halftones What We Talk about When We Talk about Hebrew (and What It Means to Americans) Naomi B. Sokoloff,Nancy E. Berg,2018-08-14 Why Hebrew here and now What is its value for contemporary Americans In What We Talk about When We Talk about Hebrew and What It Means to Americans scholars writers and translators tackle a series of urgent questions that arise from the changing status of Hebrew in the United States To what extent is that status affected by evolving Jewish identities and shifting attitudes toward Israel and Zionism Will Hebrew programs survive the current crisis in the humanities on university campuses How can the vibrancy of Hebrew literature be conveyed to a larger audience The volume features a diverse group of distinguished contributors including Sarah Bunin Benor Dara Horn Adriana Jacobs Alan Mintz Hannah Pressman Adam Rovner Ilan Stavans Michael Weingrad Robert Whitehill Bashan and Wendy Zierler With lively personal insights their essays give fellow Americans a glimpse into the richness of an exceptional language Celebrating the vitality of modern Hebrew this book addresses the challenges and joys of being a Hebraist in America in the twenty first century Together these essays explore ways to rekindle an interest in Hebrew studies focusing not just on what Hebrew means as a global phenomenon and long lived tradition but on what it can mean to Americans
