Training and Development Naik, 2007 A Rights-Based Preventative Approach for Psychosocial Well-being in Childhood Murli Desai, 2010-09-02 Children are one of the most important phase of human development and the most important target group for social work intervention Most of the schools of human development and social work round the world have an elective course on children and some offer a concentration in this area There are plenty of textbooks on intervention with children published by Western authors focusing on useful theories and skills but mainly at the remedial level They neither use the preventative approach nor the child rights perspective which has been found useful in the developing nations The books on child rights are generally published by the United Nations Children's Fund UNICEF and other international organisations working in the field of children such as Save the Children These books focus on the useful child rights perspective but they neither integrate theories nor use the preventative approach The proposed book A Rights based Preventative Approach for Children's Psychosocial Well Being will be the first to apply the child rights perspective and the preventative approach to intervention for children s psychosocial well being It is an integration of theories with practice and teaching relevant in different parts of the world The book is divided into the following three parts Part 1 Introduction to a Rights based Preventative Approach for Children s Psychosocial Well Being Part 2 Primary Prevention for Children s Psychosocial Well Being Part 3 Secondary and Tertiary Prevention for Children s Psychosocial Well Being Moving Spirits, Building Lives Hugh Ballou,2005-06 Continuing Professional Development: Pathways to Leadership in the Library and Information World Ann Ritchie,Clare Walker,2008-11-03 These papers focus on the topic of leadership in the library and information professions providing an overview of institutes programs and activities occurring around the world Some are described in detail outlining learning objectives structure recruitment and evaluation strategies others summarise national and international initiatives They will provide valuable insights to anyone interested in workforce planning strategies aimed at addressing current shortages of library leaders as well as those who may have experienced difficulties recruiting to leadership positions and now want to explore the best ways of developing and equipping their own staff with skills to enable them to become the leaders of the future The Equitable Forest Carol J. Pierce Colfer,2010-09-30 While there continues to be refinement in defining and assessing sustainable management there remains the urgent need for policies that create the conditions that support sustainability and can halt or slow destructive practices already underway Carol Colfer and her contributors maintain that standardized solutions to forest problems from afar have failed to address both human and environmental needs Such approaches they argue often neglect the knowledge that local stakeholders have accumulated over generations as forest managers and do not address issues involving the diversity and well being of groups within communities The contributors note that these problems persist despite clear evidence that equity and social relationships including gender roles are important factors in the ways that communities adapt to change and manage forest resources overall The Equitable Forest offers an alternative to traditional externally organized strategies for forest management Termed adaptive collaborative management ACM the approach tries to better acknowledge the diversity complexity and unpredictability of human and natural systems ACM works to strengthen local institutions and use the knowledge and capacity of groups in local communities to enhance the health and well being of both forests and the people who live in and around them The Equitable Forest provides a detailed explanation of the descriptive analytical and methodological tools of ACM along with accounts of early stages of its implementation in tropical regions of Asia Africa and Latin America Although the contributors make it clear that it is too soon to evaluate the efficacy of ACM their work is supported by evidence that rural communities do make important contributions when involved in formal forest management that management strategies are most effective when flexible and tailored to local contexts and that efforts by outside governmental and nongovernmental organizations to support local management are feasible from the policymaking perspective and desirable for their impact on human economic and environmental well being Applied Drama and Theatre as an Interdisciplinary Field in the Context of

HIV/AIDS in Africa Hazel Barnes, 2014-03-25 Drama for Life University of the Witwatersrand aims to enhance the capacity of young people theatre practitioners and their communities to take responsibility for the quality of their lives in the context of HIV and AIDS in Africa We achieve this through participatory and experiential drama and theatre that is appropriate to current social realities but draws on the rich indigenous knowledge of African communities Collected here is a representative set of research essays written to facilitate dialogue across disciplines on the role of drama and theatre in HIV AIDS education prevention and rehabilitation Reflections are offered on present praxis and the media as well as on innovative research approaches in an interdisciplinary paradigm along with HIV AIDS education via performance poetry and other experimental methods such as participant led workshops Topics include the call for a move away from the binaries of much critical pedagogy a project undertaken in Ghana and Malawi with people living with AIDS to create and present theatre the contradictions between global and local expectations of applied drama and theatre methodology in relation to folk media participation and syncretism Three case studies report on mapping as a creative device for playmaking the methodology of Themba Interactive Theatre and applying drama with women living with HIV in the Zandspruit Informal Settlement The essays validate the importance of play in both energizing those in positions of hopelessness and enabling the distancing essential to observe one's situation and enable change The book stimulates the ongoing investigation of current practice and extends an invitation to further develop innovative approaches Hazel Barnes is a retired Head of Drama and Performance Studies at the University of KwaZulu Natal where she is a Senior Research Associate Her research interests lie in the field of applied drama including the contexts of interculturalism and post traumatic stress
