Facing Climate Change An Integrated Path To The Future:

Facing Climate Change Jeffrey T. Kiehl, 2016-03-01 Facing Climate Change explains why people refuse to accept evidence of a warming planet and shows how to move past partisanship to reach a consensus for action A climate scientist and licensed Jungian analyst Jeffrey T Kiehl examines the psychological phenomena that twist our relationship to the natural world and their role in shaping the cultural beliefs that distance us further from nature He also accounts for the emotions triggered by the lived experience of climate change and the feelings of fear and loss they inspire which lead us to deny the reality of our warming planet But it is not too late By evaluating our way of being Kiehl unleashes a potential human emotional understanding that can reform our behavior and help protect the Earth Kiehl dives deep into the human brain s psychological structures and human spirituality s imaginative power mining promising resources for creating a healthier connection to the environment and one another Facing Climate Change is as concerned with repairing our social and political fractures as it is with reestablishing our ties to the world teaching us to push past partisanship and unite around the shared attributes that are key to our survival Kiehl encourages policy makers and activists to appeal to our interdependence as a global society extracting politics from the process and making decisions about our climate future that are substantial and sustaining

Psychology Paul Hoggett, 2019-06-01 This book investigates the psycho social phenomenon which is society's failure to respond to climate change. It analyses the non rational dimensions of our collective paralysis in the face of worsening climate change and environmental destruction exploring the emotional, ethical, social, organizational and cultural dynamics to blame for this global lack of action. The book features eleven research projects from four different countries and is divided in two parts: the first highlighting novel methodologies; the second presenting new findings. Contributors to the first part show how a deep listening approach to research can reveal the anxieties, tensions, contradictions, frames and narratives that contribute to people's experiences and the many ways climate change and other environmental risks are imagined through metaphor, imagery and dreams. Using detailed interview extracts drawn from politicians, scientists and activists as well as ordinary people, the second part of the book examines the many different ways in which we both avoid and square up to this gathering disaster and the many faces of alarm, outrage, denial and indifference this involves. Mapping the Field of Adult and Continuing Education Alan B. Knox, Simone C. O. Conceição, Larry G. Recognizing this, the American Association for Adult and Continuing Education commissioned the editors to create this compendium which provides an invaluable resource to readers already established in the field, those entering the field and to myriad neighbors of the field as well. This four volume compendium also available as a combined e-book brings together a host of national and international contributors to map the field of ACE in a series of brief articles addressing key theories and practices across its many domains and settings. These are arranged in four volumes available either individually or as a set: Volume One: Adult Learners; Volume Two: Teaching and Learning; Volume Three: Leadership and Administration; Volume Four: Inquiry and Influences. The volume on Adult Learners will include articles addressing topics such as adult development, diversity, learning abilities, the influence of personality on learning and the role of experience in adult learning. By far the largest segment of learners in society and currently the largest segment of college students as well, a better understanding of the adult learner is vital for educators of all kinds. Volume two addresses Teaching and Learning topics ranging from methods and roles to programs and materials. Encompassing formal and informal learning as well as the variety of focus and setting from cultural to occupational, this volume explores the wide range of theory and practice in ACE. Issues of Leadership and Administration such as planning and resource allocation, organizational change and culture and the value of a shared vision for all stakeholders are addressed in the third volume. From practical matters like staffing and volunteers to big picture issues such as alternative visions for the future of the field, this volume offers vital knowledge and insight. The final volume on Inquiry and Influences examines the context, trends and methods of research and evaluation in the field's many domains. Wide ranging inquiry has always been a hallmark of ACE and only continues to grow along with the
