Facing Decline Finding Hope New Possibilities For Faithful Churches:

Facing Decline, Finding Hope Jeffrey D. Jones, 2015-02-05 Church today isn't the same as it was fifty years ago or even ten years ago. In spite of the powerful stories of turn around churches with skyrocketing memberships the difficult reality is that most congregations are getting smaller. Jeffrey D. Jones asks brave questions for congregations facing this reality: what if membership growth isn't the primary goal for a church? How can churches remain vital even with declining attendance? Facing Decline Finding Hope is an essential resource to help congregations confront their shrinking size while looking towards the hopeful reality that God is calling them to greater faithfulness. The book draws on biblical and theological resources as well as contemporary leadership studies to help leaders both clergy and laity set aside a survival mentality and ask new questions to shape ministry more attuned to today's world. Facing Decline Finding Hope is a powerful book for leaders who want to honestly assess the size of their church and plan for faithful invigorating service regardless of whether membership numbers are up or down.

A Guide to Ministry Self-Care Richard P. Olson, Ruth Lofgren Rosell, Nathan S. Marsh, Angela Barker Jackson, 2018-09-10 Ministry has never been an easy path and the challenges of today's changing church landscape only heighten the stress and burn out of congregational leaders. A Guide to Ministry Self Care offers a comprehensive and up to date overview of both the causes of stress and strategies for effective self care. Written for both new and long time ministers the book draws on current research and offers practical and spiritual insights into building and maintaining personal health and sustaining ministry long term. The book addresses a wide range of life situations and explores many forms of self care from physical and financial to relational and spiritual.

Being Church in a Liminal Time Jeffrey D. Jones, David Fredrickson, 2023-07-10 Congregations today exist in an in between or liminal time. The customary answers about what it means to be and do church and strategies for renewal based on those answers no longer work. But there is no certainty about the new answers. It is a time of searching of letting go of the old and experimenting with the new. This means facing the reality of death which may come as institutions die or as established ways are abandoned This book addresses this reality while maintaining a constant focus on the Christian promise of resurrection It offers three images that recognize the differing contexts of congregations and help them shape their future as they seek to discern God s work in their midst Congregations shaped by each of the three images remembering letting go and resurrecting have the potential to faithfully engage in God s work in their setting For each of the three there are suggestions for helping a congregation move toward an even more faithful expression of the image The book includes Bible studies and other resources that congregations will find helpful in this process Some congregations may continue in traditional ways while others seek a new way of being church But all can join in God s work in their time and place with a new and deeper understanding of the ministry that is theirs This book helps them do that Because a different kind of leadership is needed the book offers an approach to leadership that is grounded in a spiritual process of inward reflection and outward involvement

The Church Has Left the Building Michael Plekon, Maria Gwyn McDowell, Elizabeth Schroeder, 2016-09-30 The origin of the phrase the church has left the building lies with Elvis In order to clear halls of his riotous fans after concerts it was announced that Elvis has left the building Here the expression highlights intense change within the church Not only does the church change for its own existence it also does so for the life of the world The church cannot avoid the many past and future changes of our constantly transforming society demographic changes long in process What you have before you is a gathering of first hand reflections stories really from a diverse group of Christians lay as well as ordained While each has a distinctive experience of the church in our time all of them have something to say about the many changes in our society and how these are affecting our faith the parish and pastoral work Contributors Mary Breton Nicholas Denysenko Adam A J DeVille John C Frazier David Frost Carol Fryer Kenneth J Guest Brett Hoover Abbie Huff Wongee Joh Justin Mathews Maria Gwyn McDowell William C Mills Robert Corin Morris Sarah Hinlicky Wilson Michael Plekon

Ministry in Context Richard Trist, 2023-01-16 Ministry in Context A Guide to Theological Field Education and Ministry Internships in Australia and New Zealand has been written for students field placement supervisors and theological college coordinators to introduce the basic principles and practices of theological field education and ministry internships The book covers all aspects of field based learning including biblical and historical foundations the place of calling and vocation the importance of supervision the practice of theological reflection and the setting and evaluation of goals Chapters have been written by experts across Australia and New Zealand and reflect the diversity and cultural uniqueness of this region

Closing Costs Dominic Dutra, 2021-12-23 For decades many different denominations have experienced devastating declines in attendance finances and influence Thousands of church leaders have watched their congregations grow older smaller and in many cases whiter than their surrounding communities Rising costs and decreased giving make it virtually impossible to sustain the staff and fabric of these organizations let alone their spiritual mission But all hope is not lost In a clarion call that demands death to bring new life the local church is tasked with evaluating and ultimately sacrificing all its resources including underutilized real estate to bring healing and hope to the poor marginalized and disenfranchised. Decades of decline do not foretell the death of the church and by reimagining their church spaces congregations can experience revitalization as they grow to better embody their missional purpose. Integrating Work in Theological Education Kathleen A. Cahalan, Edward Foley, Gordon S. Mikoski, 2017-03-09 If only we could do a better job of helping students at connecting the dots theological educators commonly lament. Integration often proposed as a solution to the woes of professional education for ministry would help students integrate knowledge skills spirituality and integrity. When these remain disconnected incompetence ensues and the cost runs high for churches denominations and ministers themselves. However we fail in thinking that integrating work is for students alone. It is a multifaceted constructive process of learning that is contextual reflective and dialogical. It aims toward important ends competent leaders who can guide Christian communities today. It entails rhythms not stages and dynamic movement including disintegration. Integrating work is learning in motion across domains and among and between persons. It is social and communal born of a life of learning together for faculty staff administrators and students. It is work that bridges the long standing gaps between school ministry practice and life. It is a verb not a noun. Here a diverse group of theological educators through descriptive case studies theological reflection and theory building offer a distinctive contribution to understanding integrating work and how best to achieve it across three domains in community curriculums and courses. Die Zukunft der Kirche in Europa Christiane Moldenhauer, Jens Martin Monsees, 2016-04-14 Die Kirchen in Europa befinden sich in einer weitreichenden Phase des Umbruchs und der Neuorientierung die sich jedoch regional und in den verschiedenen Kirchen unterschiedlich darstellt. Insbesondere im letzten Jahrhundert kam es zu erheblichen Veränderungen etwa im Verhältnis von Kirche und Staat sowie im Blick auf die gesellschaftliche Position der Kirche. Wie wirken sich diese politischen gesellschaftlichen und religiösen Veränderungsprozesse auf die ekklesiologische Frage aus? Wie kann oder muss Kirche in Zukunft gestaltet werden wenn sie sich als Teil der Mission Gottes versteht? Und wie geschieht dies angesichts der auch innerkirchlichen Pluralisierung sowie der sich weiter ausdifferenzierenden Gesellschaft? Der Band dokumentiert die Beiträge des gleichnamigen internationalen Symposiums des Instituts zur Erforschung von Evangelisation und Gemeindeentwicklung der Ernst Moritz Arndt Universität Greifswald im Mai 2015. Urban Ministry Harvie M.
