Finden, Carlos Yebra López, Tarela Ike, Ugo Gaudino, Samwel Oando, 2024-01-04 This interdisciplinary book presents an intervention into methodological practices in the subfield of Critical Terrorism Studies and features established and early career scholars The volume interrogates the role that research methods play in shaping the sub discipline of Critical Terrorism Studies CTS It responds to two major methodological gaps within CTS 1 the dearth of Global South cases and voices and decolonial and feminist approaches and 2 the lack of engagement with traditional disciplines and quantitative methods Together authors demonstrate that interdisciplinary methodological dialogues can open up new possibilities for researchers seeking pathways towards and definitions of emancipation social justice and freedom from violence Simultaneously the book shows that by focusing on the possibilities that methodologies open up to us and by maintaining a commitment to reflexive practice we expand our understandings of what are legitimate and acceptable forms of research thus challenging the Critical Terrorism Studies divide The chapters draw upon a wide range of empirical cases including Nigeria Kenya France Brazil and the UK focusing on three key issues within Critical Terrorism Studies its own relationship with and perpetuation of epistemic violence decolonial postcolonial Global South feminist and queer approaches and more traditional approaches and methods as a means to interrogate the methodological binary between Critical Terrorism Studies and Terrorism Studies This book will be of much interest to students of critical terrorism studies counter terrorism security studies and International Relations in general Research Methods in Critical Security Studies Mark B. The Oxford Handbook of Ethnographies of Crime and Criminal Justice Sandra M. Bucerius, Kevin D. Haggerty, Luca Berardi, 2021-12-14 Despite ethnography s long and distinguished history in the social sciences its use in criminology is still relatively rare Over the years however ethnographers in the United States and abroad have amassed an impressive body of work on core criminological topics and groups including gang members sex workers drug dealers and drug users Ethnographies on criminal justice institutions have also flourished with studies on police courts and prisons providing deep insights into how these organizations operate and shape the lives of people who encounter them The Oxford Handbook of Ethnographies of Crime and Criminal Justice provides critical and current reviews of key research topics issues and debates that crime ethnographers have been grappling with for over a century This volume brings together an outstanding group of ethnographers to discuss various research traditions the ethical and pragmatic challenges associated with conducting crime related fieldwork relevant policy recommendations for practitioners in the field and areas of future research for crime ethnographers In addition to exhaustive overview essays the handbook also presents case studies that serve as exemplars for how ethnographic inquiry can contribute to our understanding of crime and criminal justice related topics

CTS and Right-Wing Terrorism and Counterterrorism Alice Martini, Raquel da Silva, 2023-08-22 This volume is a timely contribution to the current debates and potential efforts to study and counter the phenomena of extreme right violence in a period when the rise of right wing extremism is being witnessed across the globe

Against this backdrop the violent radicalisation and extremism of individuals and groups belonging to the extreme right threaten to undermine and destabilize societies and democratic orders leaving a research gap that has only started to be filled in recent years but that is still quite wide when it comes to counter terrorism approaches to extreme right violence Learning from the past and trying to avoid similar mistakes this volume creates a much needed space for open honest and ethical debate around countering extreme right violence answering social and political calls to debate how to counter this kind of violence This volume brings together a group of interdisciplinary scholars to contribute to national and international academic and policy debates about countering extreme right violence from a critical perspective Volume I focuses particularly on exploring how extreme right violence has been approached narrated and made sense of in different spatial and temporal contexts examining how political actors such as media and politicians portray the threat of and actual violence perpetrated by the extreme right deconstructing current counter terrorism approaches and formulating a critical approach to researching extreme right violence It will be of great interest to all students of terrorism studies security studies international relations and political science in general The chapters in this book were originally published in Critical Studies on Terrorism International Relations' Last Synthesis? J. Samuel Barkin, Laura Sjoberg, 2019-02-12 Many scholars intentionally or unintentionally have entangled constructivisms and critical theories in problematic ways either by assigning a critical theoretical politics to constructivisms or by assuming the appropriateness of constructivist epistemology and methods for critical theorizing IR s Last Synthesis makes the argument that these connections mirror IR s grand theoretical syntheses of the 1980s and 1990s and have similar constraining effects on the possibilities of IR theory They have been made without adequate reflection in contradiction to the base assumptions of each theoretical perspective and to the detriment of both knowledge accumulation about global politics and theoretical rigor in disciplinary IR It is not that constructivisms and critical theories have no common ground rather the fact that it has become routine for IR scholars to overstate their common ground is counterproductive to the discovery and utilization of their potential dialogues To that end IR s Last Synthesis argues that scholars using the two in conjunction should be cognizant of rather than gloss over the tensions between the approaches and the tools they have to offer Along these lines the book uses the concept of affordances to look at what each has to offer the other and to argue for a modest reflective specified return to constructivist and critical IR theorizing By rejecting its over simple syntheses this book hews a road toward reviving IR theorizing Theories of Terrorism Daniela Pisoiu, Sandra Hain, 2017-09-28 This new textbook provides students with a multidisciplinary theoretical and methodological introduction to terrorism studies The book identifies the main theories proposed in the field of terrorism studies as they relate to several issues why and how individuals and organizations get involved in terrorism the definition and concept of terrorism state terrorism leaving terrorism behind counter terrorism manifestations of terrorism in time and space Terrorism studies is a highly heterogeneous field with a broad range of theories and disciplines marked by ample debates Beyond individual contributions and unique perspectives however it is difficult for students and interested readers to have a broader and structured grasp of the theoretical landscape within and behind the study of terrorism This textbook offers a valuable new teaching tool which aims to provide students with the conceptual theoretical and methodological toolbox necessary to understand and research terrorism This book will be essential reading for students of terrorism studies political violence and counter terrorism and is highly recommended for students of security studies criminology politics and international relations

Bringing Normativity into Critical Terrorism Studies Alice Martini, 2020-12-17 This book explores and inquiries into the interrelation between normativity and Critical Terrorism Studies CTS from a wide range of critical views The volume draws together authors with very different positions and understandings of normativity and policy implementations in relation to countering terrorism to offer the reader a wide range of perspectives and views on this topic As such the book is aimed at interrogating the concept of normativity in CTS from a wide range of theoretical angles but also at incorporating within the CTS agenda new debates and critiques In its chapters the book covers debates that go from more philosophical theoretical and ethical discussions to questions revolving around the importance and need of being policy relevant for CTS scholars All in all this volume brings together chapters joining the debate on CTS main theoretical tenants and the role of critical scholars in counter terrorism and prevention policies Covering a broad spectrum of approaches and perspectives authors in this book give different answers to central questions such as how can we rethink CTS What is the role of the critical terrorism studies community in countering terrorism The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal Critical Studies on Terrorism

The Oxford Handbook of Peacebuilding, Statebuilding, and Peace Formation Oliver P. Richmond, Gëzim Visoka, 2021 Peacebuilding and statebuilding is one of the main approaches for preventing managing and mitigating global insecurities dealing with the humanitarian consequences of civil wars and expanding democracy and neoliberal economic regimes Peace formation is a relatively new concept addressing how local actors attempt to shape or work in parallel to international and national projects The Oxford Handbook of Peacebuilding Statebuilding and Peace Formation serves as an essential guide to this vast intellectual landscape It offers a systematic overview of conceptual foundations political implications and tensions at the global regional and local levels as well as key policies practices examples and discourses underlining all segments of peacebuilding and statebuilding

Freedom of Information and Social Science Research Design Kevin Walby, Alex Luscombe, 2019-11-25 This multidisciplinary volume demonstrates how Freedom of Information FOI law and processes can contribute to social science research design across sociology criminology political science anthropology journalism and education Comparing the use of FOI in research design across the United Kingdom the United States Australia Canada and South Africa it provides readers with resources to carry out FOI requests and considers the influence such requests can have on debates within multiple disciplines In addition to exploring how scholars can use FOI disclosures in conjunction with interview data archival data and other datasets this collection explains how researchers can systematically analyse FOI disclosures Considering the challenges and dilemmas in using FOI processes in research it examines the reasons why many scholars continue to rely on more easily accessible data when much of the real work of governance the more clandestine but consequential decisions and policy moves made by government officials can only be accessed using FOI requests

Critical Terrorism Studies Richard Jackson, Marie Breen Smyth, Jeroen Gunning, 2009-02-05 In response to the growth of a critical perspective on contemporary issues of terrorism this edited volume brings together a number of leading scholars to debate the new subfield of critical terrorism studies In the years since the 9 11 attacks terrorism studies has undergone a major transformation from minor subfield of security studies into a large stand alone field and is probably one of the fastest expanding areas of research in the Western academic world However much of the literature is beset by a number of problems limiting its potential for producing rigorous empirical findings and genuine theoretical advancement In response to these weaknesses in the broader field a small but increasing number of scholars have begun to articulate a critical perspective on contemporary issues of terrorism This volume brings together a number of leading scholars to debate the need for and the shape of this exciting new subfield The first part of the volume examines some of the main shortcomings and limitations of orthodox terrorism studies while the second examines exactly what a critical terrorism studies would look like Contributors from a variety of methodological and disciplinary perspectives give this volume diversity and it will lay the foundations for and provoke debate about the future research agenda of this new field This book will be of much interest to students of critical security studies terrorism studies and IR theory in general Richard Jackson is Reader in the Department of International Politics Aberystwyth University where he is also Senior Researcher at the Centre for the Study of Radicalisation and Contemporary Political Violence CSRV He is the founding editor of the journal Critical Studies on Terrorism Marie Breen Smyth is Director of the Centre for the Study of Radicalisation and Contemporary Political Violence CSRV at Aberystwyth University She is a Reader in International Politics and co editor of the journal Critical Studies on Terrorism Jeroen Gunning is Lecturer in International Politics at Aberystwyth University Deputy Director of the Centre for the Study of Radicalisation and Contemporary Political Violence and co editor of the journal Critical Studies on Terrorism

Returning Home Helen Stenger, 2024-12-16 In March 2019 ISIS was territorially defeated ISIS members were captured and detained men were sent to prison and women and children to camps in northern Syria This is an unprecedented situation where for the first time thousands of female members of a terrorist group are detained in a foreign country without access to legal mechanisms rehabilitation or reintegration measures What happens to the foreign women and children who are not repatriated from the camps If they are repatriated are there rehabilitation and reintegration programmes in place that account for the experiences the women had Most existing rehabilitation and reintegration programmes are gender neutral that is they claim to be universal and are not tailored specifically to male or female beneficiaries Yet typically these programmes are influenced by implicit gender norms and assumptions such as that men are violent perpetrators of aggression and women are victims who are peaceful and lack agency. Alongside gender norms intersecting racial and religious dynamics also shape how governments handle the repatriation, rehabilitation, and reintegration of ISIS returnees. This includes racial profiling, the conflation between Islam and extremism, and more broadly the rising Islamophobia in many countries, particularly since the War on Terror. These dynamics lead to an absence of rehabilitation and reintegration programmes specifically designed for women's diverse experiences, which is the subject of this book. Returning Home examines state responses to repatriation, rehabilitation, and reintegration of ISIS returnees from an intersectional perspective with a focus on ISIS women returnees. This book addresses the biased understandings that are built into scholarship and policy responses that reinforce gendered and racialized inequalities. It outlines how these dynamics can be uncovered and redressed by designing policies that are responsive to gender differences, inequalities, and harmful norms.
