David Perkins,1991 Literary history the dominant form of literary scholarship throughout the nineteenth century is currently recapturing the imaginations of a new generation of scholars eager to focus on the context of literature after a half century or more of close readings of isolated texts This book represents current thinking on some of the theoretical issues and dilemmas in the conception and writing of literary history expressed by a group of scholars from North America Europe and Australia They consider afresh a broad range of topics the role of literary history in new societies the problem of finding a starting point for literary history the problem of literary classification problems of ideology of institutional mediation periodization and the attack on literary history

Afro-Dog Bénédicte Boisseron,2018-08-14 The animal rights organization PETA asked Are Animals the New Slaves in a controversial 2005 fundraising campaign that same year after the Humane Society rescued pets in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina while black residents were neglected some declared that white America cares more about pets than black people These are but two recent examples of a centuries long history in which black life has been pitted against animal life Does comparing human and animal suffering trivialize black pain or might the intersections of racialization and animalization shed light on interlinked forms of oppression In Afro Dog B n dicte Boisseron investigates the relationship between race and the animal in the history and culture of the Americas and the black Atlantic exposing a hegemonic system that compulsively links and opposes blackness and animality to measure the value of life She analyzes the association between black civil disobedience and canine repression a history that spans the era of slavery through the use of police dogs against protesters during the civil rights movement of the 1960s to today in places like Ferguson Missouri She also traces the lineage of blackness and the animal in Caribbean literature and struggles over minorities right to pet ownership alongside nuanced readings of Derrida and other French theorists Drawing on recent debates on black lives and animal welfare Afro Dog reframes the fast growing interest in human animal relationships by positioning blackness as a focus of animal inquiry opening new possibilities for animal studies and black studies to think side by side

The Arena of Satire David H. J. Larmour, 2016-01-04 In this first comprehensive reading of Juvenal's satires in more than fifty years David H J Larmour deftly revises and sharpens our understanding of the second century Roman writer who stands as the archetype for all later practitioners of the satirist's art The enduring attraction of Juvenal's satires is twofold they not only introduce the character of the angry satirist but also offer vivid descriptions of everyday life in Rome at the height of the Empire In Larmour's interpretation these two elements are inextricably linked The Arena of Satire presents the satirist as flaneur traversing the streets of Rome in search of its authentic core those distinctly Roman virtues that have disappeared amid the corruption of the age What the vengeful punishing satirist does to his victims as Larmour shows echoes what the Roman state did to outcasts and criminals in the arena of the Colosseum The fact that the arena was the most prominent building in the city and is mentioned frequently by Juvenal makes it an ideal lens through which to examine the spectacular and punishing characteristics of Roman satire And the fact that Juvenal undertakes his search for the uncorrupted authentic Rome within the very buildings and landmarks that make up the actual corrupt Rome of his day gives his sixteen satires their uniquely paradoxical and contradictory nature Larmour's exploration of the arena of satire guides us through Juvenal's search for the true Rome winding from one poem to the next He combines close readings of passages from individual satires with discussions of Juvenal's representation of Roman space and topography the nature of the arena experience and the network of connections among the satirist the gladiator and the editor or producer of Colosseum entertainments The Arena of Satire also offers a new definition of Juvenalian satire as a particular form arising from the intersection of the body and the urban landscape a form whose defining features survive in the works of several later satirists from Jonathan Swift and Evelyn Waugh to contemporary writers such as Russian novelist Victor Pelevin and Irish dramatist Martin McDonagh
