Civil Service Commission, 1917 Accountability in the Contemporary Constitution Nicholas Bamforth, Peter Leyland, 2013-11-14 Accountability is regarded as a central feature of modern constitutionalism At a general level this prominence is perhaps unsurprising given the long history of the idea However in many constitutional democracies including the UK and the USA it has acquired a particular resonance in contemporary circumstances with the declining power of social deference the expanding reach of populist accountability mechanisms and the increasing willingness of citizens to find mechanisms for challenging official decision making These essays by public law scholars seek to explore how ideas of and mechanisms associated with accountability play a part in the contemporary constitution While the majority of contributors concentrate on the United Kingdom others provide comparative discussion with particular reference to the United States and aspects of European Union law The main focus of the volume is the contemporary UK constitution Chapters are included which analyse the historical context including the role of Dicey common law constitutionalism the constitutional role of Parliament the constitutional role of the courts judicial accountability human rights protection under the constitution and the contribution of non judicial accountability mechanisms Further chapters explore the public service principle the impact of new public management on public service delivery and the relationship between accountability and regulation Finally accountability is discussed in the light of constitutional reform including the challenges posed by the multi layered government at the supra national level of EU membership and sub national national levels of devolution and local government
