It focuses on how locales are scripted into film plots and artistically depicted and demonstrates that place is as important as any character in a film, especially in this genre. Nineteen key films are analyzed. Some like Aguirre: The Wrath of God, Fitzcarraldo, The Other Conquest, Embrace of the Serpent and The Lost City of Z are based on the exploits of real explorers. Others are fictional, including Apocalypse Now, Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull and Dora and the Lost City of Gold. The author also discusses the evolution of exploration/discovery films, including trends that will likely be found in forthcoming movies. Richard Wright Kenneth Kinnamon, 2014-11-04 African American writer Richard Wright (1908-1960) was celebrated during the early 1940s for his searing autobiography Black Boy and fiction Native Son. By 1947 he felt so unwelcome in his homeland that he exiled himself and his family in Paris. But his writings changed American culture forever, and today they are mainstays of literature and composition classes. He and his works are also the subjects of numerous critical essays and commentaries by contemporary writers. This volume presents a comprehensive annotated bibliography of those essays, books and articles from 1983 through 2003, arranged alphabetically by author. Within years are some 8320 entries, ranging from unpublished dissertations to book-length studies of African American literature and literary criticism. Also included as an appendix are addenda to the author's earlier bibliography covering the years from 1934 through 1982. This is the exhaustive reference for serious students of Richard Wright and his critics. Study Guide Gitelson, 2003-07 Holocaust Representations in History Daniel H. Magilow, Lisa Silverman, 2015-02-26 Holocaust Representations in History is an introduction to critical questions and debates surrounding the depiction, chronicling and memorialization of the Holocaust through the historical analysis of some of the most provocative and significant works of Holocaust representation. In a series of chronologically presented case studies, the book introduces the major themes and issues of Holocaust representation across a variety of media and genres including film, drama, literature, photography, visual art, television, graphic novels, and memorials. The case studies presented not only include well-known commercially successful and canonical works about the Holocaust such as the film Shoah and Elie Wiesel's memoir Night, but also controversial examples that have drawn accusations of profaning the memory of the genocide. Each work's specific historical and cultural significance is then discussed to provide further insight into the impact of one of the most devastating events of the 20th century and the continued relevance of its memory. Complete with illustrations, a bibliography, and suggestions for further reading, key terms, and discussion questions, this is an important book for any student keen to know more about the Holocaust and its impact.

The Street Casino Simon Harding, 2014-06-11. Gang violence is on the increase in certain neighbourhoods. There is an urgent need for a fresh perspective that offers insight into gang structure, organisation, and offending behaviour to explain this increase. Using the findings from an extensive ethnographic study of local residents, professionals, and gang members in south London, and drawing on his vast experience and knowledge of the field, Simon Harding proposes a unique theoretical perspective on survival in violent street gangs. He applies Bourdieu's principles of social field analysis and habitus to gangs, establishing them as a social arena of competition where actors struggle for distinction and survival, striving to become players in the game in the casino of life. Success is determined by accruing and retaining playing chips, street capital. Harding's dramatic and compelling insights depict gang life as one of constant flux where players jostle for position, reputation, status, and distinction. This perspective offers new evidence to the field that will help academics, students, practitioners, and policy makers to understand the dynamics of gang behaviour and the associated risks of violence and offending. Simon Harding is currently a senior lecturer in criminology at Middlesex University, UK. He draws on 25 years of experience in research, public policy, and project delivery as a crime reduction and community safety practitioner.

China and the Internet Song Shi, 2023-12-15. Two oversimplified narratives have long dominated news reports and academic studies of China's Internet: one lauding its potentials to boost commerce, the other bemoaning state control and measures against the forces of political transformations. This bifurcation obscures the complexity of the dynamic forces operating on the Chinese Internet and the diversity of Internet-related phenomena. China and the Internet analyzes how Chinese activists, NGOs, and government offices have used the Internet to fight rural malnutrition, the digital divide, the COVID-19 pandemic, and other urgent problems affecting millions of people. It presents five theoretically informed case studies of how new media have been used in interventions for development and social change, including how activists battled against COVID-19. In addition, this book applies a Communication for Development approach to examine the use and impact of China's Internet. Although it is widely used internationally in Internet studies, Communication for Development has not been rigorously applied.

in studies of China's Internet This approach offers a new perspective to examine the Internet and related phenomena in Chinese society
