Rapprochement Cyril Orji,2018-10-12 This timely and fascinating work addresses questions of ultimate concerns for Christian believers by clarifying what religious believers statement God creates means in relation to the mechanistic determinism of science enthusiasts and the New Atheist Movement Drawing from the methodological works of C S Peirce Bernard Lonergan and Wolfhart Pannenberg the book creatively shows how the old science theology conflict or warfare can be turned into one of collaboration or rapprochement Using the works of these three thinkers it departs from the common practice of treating the field of science theology as an abstract mainstream theology The book takes a stand on contextual theology treating the problem posed by Richard Dawkins and his fellow New Atheists as one in need of a creative solution It also suggests that the dialogue between science and theology must take seriously the experiences and challenges from different social and cultural contexts The text shows how these experiences can lead to the kind of creative theological thinking we see in the works of Pannenberg and Lonergan who both explicate not only how an understanding of an evolutionary universe is compatible with the Christian doctrine of creation but also how a methodological comparison of science and theology reveals a common concern for human understanding and openness to divine agency     Chapter-wise account of origins does one then have to reject science Scientist and Christian believer Ariel A Roth argues that taken together science and religion give us a more complete and sensible understanding of the world around us our place in it and our ultimate meaning and fate Roth examines such topics as the evidence for evolution and creation the Flood the strengths and limitations of the scientific method and the reliability of Scripture He concludes that the biblical model of a recent creation by God leaves fewer unanswered questions than either science's evolutionary model or any view between the two positions such as progressive creation or theistic evolution Back cover Excel HSC Biology Diane Alford, Jennifer Hill, 2008
