

Lesson 1, continued

ROLE OF ARCHAEOLOGY
What is the importance of archaeology?

Archaeologists are important in historiography because they study artifacts. These human-made objects help historians understand how people from the past lived and developed. Artifacts also explain how the people were affected by their environment.

Archaeologists often work together with scientists from other areas—such as linguistics, genetics, and physics—to better understand what they find. Scientists of different fields use different tools and have different perspectives. The scientists will also criticize other scientists' discoveries and how each others' ideas are interpreted.

2. Why is it good for archaeologists to work with other scientists?

FLEXIBLE HISTORY

Why is history being written and rewritten?

What is in history books today might change tomorrow. Historians understand the past using the artifacts and information available. They also might have certain feelings, or biases, based on where they live, when they were alive, what they were taught in school, and their personal opinions toward the information.

History is constantly being written and rewritten. When a new discovery is made, historians review and update their theories.

Imagine archaeologists who find artifacts with strange writing on it. Over time historians and linguists learn more about the language and can understand what the writing means. This helps them understand the civilization that used the artifact. This was the case with understanding the Mayan civilization.

Another example is a discovery made in Tanzania, Africa. In 1960 scientists found a humanlike fossil. This human walked on two feet like humans today do. Humans or creatures that walk upright are called hominids. The scientists used the fossil to explain the tools early humans made to survive. Hominid fossils have been found around the world since then. Each time, scientists learn more about early humans and update their theories.

3. What did hominid fossils help scientists explain?
