The Discourse of Character Education Peter Smagorinsky, Joel Taxel, 2005-05-06 In this book Peter Smagorinsky and Joel Taxel analyze the ways in which the perennial issue of character education has been articulated in the United States both historically and in the current character education movement that began in earnest in the 1990s The goal is to uncover the ideological nature of different conceptions of character education The authors show how the current discourses are a continuation of discourse streams through which character education and the national purpose have been debated for hundreds of years most recently in what are known as the Culture Wars the intense often passionate debates about morality culture and values carried out by politicians religious groups social policy foundations and a wide range of political commentators and citizens in which the various stakeholders have sought influence over a wide range of social and economic issues including education The centerpiece is a discourse analysis of proposals funded by the United States Department of Education's Office of Educational Research and Improvement OERI Discourse profiles from sets of states that exhibit two distinct conceptions of character are examined and the documents from particular states are placed in dialogue with the OERI Request for Proposals One profile reflects the dominant perspective promoted in the U S based on an authoritarian view in which young people are indoctrinated into the value system of presumably virtuous adults through didactic instruction The other reflects the well established yet currently marginal discourse emphasizing attention to the whole environment in which character is developed and enacted and in which reflection on morality rather than didactic instruction in morality is the primary instructional approach By focusing on these two distinct regions and their conceptions of character the authors situate the character education movement at the turn of the twenty first century in the context of historical notions about the nature of character and regional conceptions regarding the nature of societal organization This enlightening volume is relevant to scholars practitioners policymakers and students across the field of education particularly those involved in character education moral development discourse analysis history and cultural foundations of education and related fields and to the wider public interested in character education

Education in the Comanche Nation

Linda Sue Warner, 2016-02-05 This collection delivers an altogether unique perspective of research on American Indian Alaska Native education policy and practice by creating a cultural lens framed as tribal core values to allow readers to rethink research on and about tribal populations The policies that affect American Indian education often create a disconnect between an general educational hegemonic mandate of one size fits all and the deeply held cultural beliefs of American Indian Alaska Native peoples This book provides current thinking about both policies and processes that support native ways of knowing and how tribal incorporation of values support the resiliency that characterizes the United States first peoples It considers a range of issues including the relationship between Native American fathers and daughter how Habermasian theory applies to Native American education policy and the experiences of Indian college students in predominately white institutions This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Qualitative Studies in Education Hs Char Edu 03 Dawn Woody, McGraw-Hill Education, Roger LeRoy Miller, 2002-07 Teaching Compassion: Humane Education in Early Childhood Mary Renck Jalongo, 2013-07-23 In response to highly publicized incidents of school violence educators across the United States and in many other nations are seeking effective ways to prevent and modify aggressive and anti social behaviors in students One of the major recommendations of the research is that efforts to prevent cruelty need to begin early during the early childhood years of birth through age eight The focus of Teaching Compassion Humane Education in Early Childhood is guiding young children to accept responsibility for and to be kind in their interactions with fellow human beings animals and the environment Although humane education is a relatively new concept in the field of early childhood education professionals in the field are very familiar with many of the related concepts including promoting positive interpersonal interactions teaching children the skills of self regulation giving children experience in caring for living things and protecting the environment This edited volume is an interdisciplinary compendium of professional wisdom gathered from experts in the fields of education child development science psychology sociology and humane organizations As the book amply documents the concept of humane education is powerful integrative timely and appropriate in work with young children Teaching Compassion Humane Education in Early Childhood shows how it is possible for adults dedicated to the care and education of young children to balance attention to the cognitive and affective realms and in so doing to elevate the overall quality of early childhood programs for children families and communities

Reducing the Risk, Increasing the Promise Sherrell Bergmann, Judith Brough, 2013-10-02 In their new book Bergmann and Brough provide a clear path to follow for helping your at risk students achieve success in and out of the classroom Packed with classroom tested practical strategies and lesson plans for teaching respect responsibility resilience reading and other essential skills to at risk students this is a must have book for educators at all levels Use the plans alone or as part of a unit Either way the tools for success in this book will help you positively impact the lives of at risk students every day Each chapter is dedicated to a different skill and offers easy to implement activities and strategies based on achieving success in that essential skill For example Strategies for establishing positive peer relationships Cooperative treasure hunting for resilience building Keys to structured role playing for conflict resolution Each chapter includes a component about what parents and caregivers can do to help their at risk children achieve success and provides a basis for effective communication between educator and parent an important piece of the puzzle often overlooked ICONESS 2021 Subuh Anggoro, Sriyanto Sriyanto, Ng Khar Thoe, Corrienna Abdul Talib, 2021-11-26 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed proceedings of the 1st International Conference on Social Sciences ICONESS 2021 held in Purwokerto Indonesia in July 2021 The 60 full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 100 submissions The papers reflect the conference sessions as follows Education Curriculum and Instruction Education and Development Educational Psychology Mathematic Education Science Education Social Science Education Measurement and Evaluation Primary Education and Higher Education Religion Islamic Education Fiqh Science and Technology Halal Science Islamic Civilization Shariah Economic and Literation Teaching English as a Second Language TESL Language and Communication Literacy Ethics Across the Curriculum—Pedagogical Perspectives Elaine E. Englehardt, Michael S. Pritchard, 2018-05-08 This book features articles by more than twenty experienced teachers of ethics who are committed to the idea that ethics can and should be taught virtually anywhere in the education curriculum They explore a variety of ways in which this might best be done Traditionally confined largely to programs in philosophy and religion the teaching of ethics has in recent decades spread across the curriculum education The contributors to this book discuss the rationale for supporting such efforts the variety of challenges these efforts face and the sorts of benefits faculty and students who participate in ethics across the curriculum endeavors can expect An overriding theme of this book is that the teaching of ethics should not be restricted to one or two courses in philosophy or religion programs but rather be addressed wherever relevant anywhere in the curriculum For example accredited engineering programs are expected to ensure that their students are introduced to the ethical dimensions of engineering This can involve consideration of ethical issues within particular areas of engineering e g civil mechanical electrical chemical as distinctive segments of certain courses e g those that focus on design problems or as a full semester course in ethics in engineering Similar approaches can be taken in nursing medicine law social work psychology accountancy management and so on That is some emphasis on ethics can be expected to be found in broad range of academic disciplines However many ethical issues require careful attention from the perspectives of several disciplines at once and in ways that require their joining hands Recognizing that adequately addressing many ethical issues may require the inclusion of perspectives from a variety of disciplines makes apparent the need for effective communication and reflection across disciplines not simply within them This in turn suggests that faculty and their students can benefit from special programs that are designed to include participants from a variety of disciplines Such programs will be a central feature of this book Although some differences might arise in how such issues might best be discussed across different parts of the curriculum these discussions might be joined in ways that help students faculty administrators and the wider public better appreciate their shared ethical ground
