Facing The Change Personal Encounters With Global Warming:

Facing the Change Steven Holmes,2013-10-15 Through personal and vivid encounters with climate change this diverse array of writers inspires readers toward awareness and action      Facing the Change Steven Pavlos Holmes,2013-09-23 Amidst the current deluge of statistics about global warming this book provides a refreshing look at how individuals are affected This is a beautiful book to keep near open at random and share the words of gifted writers as they prepare for the coming changes PUBLISHERS WEEKLY Facing the Change is a new kind of book about climate change Instead of experts talking at us this innovative literary collection shares the voices of fellow citizens struggling to make sense of the concrete changes taking place in our world today Instead of scientific facts and predictions this book offers personal essays poems and short stories expressing what s going on in people s lives hearts and dreams Instead of leaving readers guilty and disempowered this book will help us all to begin to work through the full range of emotions confusion fear sorrow anger and realistic hope that we must face in confronting the crisis Showcasing the voices of a wide range of authors from prize winning writers and poets such as Roxana Robinson Audrey Schulman and Barbara Crooker to regular citizens and young people Facing the Change offers a new opportunity for moving past denial and despair to awareness and action      Teaching Climate Change in the Humanities Stephen Siperstein,Shane Hall,Stephanie LeMenager,2016-10-04 Climate change is an enormous and increasingly urgent issue This important book highlights how humanities disciplines can mobilize the creative and critical power of students teachers and communities to confront climate change The book is divided into four clear sections to help readers integrate climate change into the classes and topics they are already teaching as well as engage with interdisciplinary methods and techniques Teaching Climate Change in the Humanities constitutes a map and toolkit for anyone who wishes to draw upon the strengths of literary and cultural studies to teach valuable lessons that engage with climate change      A History of California Literature Blake Allmendinger,2015-05-19 Blake Allmendinger s A History of California Literature surveys the paradoxical image of the Golden State as a site of dreams and disenchantment formidable beginnings and ruinous ends This history encompasses the prismatic nature of California by exploring a variety of historical periods literary genres and cultural movements affecting the state s development from the colonial era to the twenty first century Written by a host of leading historians and literary critics this book offers readers insight into the tensions and contradictions that have shaped the literary landscape of California and also American literature generally      Coming of Age at the End of Nature Julie Dunlap,Susan A. Cohen,2016-09-19 Coming of Age at the End of Nature explores a new kind of environmental writing This powerful anthology gathers the passionate voices of young writers who have grown up in an environmentally damaged and compromised world Each contributor has come of age since Bill McKibben foretold the doom of humanity s ancient relationship with a pristine earth in his prescient 1988 warning of climate change The End of Nature What happens to individuals and societies when their most fundamental cultural historical and ecological bonds weaken or snap In Coming of Age at the End of Nature insightful millennials express their anger and love dreams and fears and sources of resilience for living and thriving on our shifting planet Twenty two essays explore wide ranging themes that are paramount to young generations but that resonate with everyone including redefining materialism and environmental justice assessing the risk and promise of technology and celebrating place anywhere from a wild Atlantic island to the Arizona desert to Baltimore and Bangkok The contributors speak with authority on problems facing us all whether railing against the errors of past generations reveling in their own adaptability or insisting on a collective responsibility to do better Contributors include Blair Braverman Jason Brown Cameron Conaway Elizabeth Cooke Amy Coplen Ben Cromwell Sierra Dickey Ben Goldfarb CJ Goulding Bonnie Frye Hemphill Lisa Hupp Amaris Ketcham Megan Kimble Craig Maier Abby McBride Lauren McCrady James Orbesen Alycia Parnell Emily Schosid Danna Staaf William Thomas and Amelia Urry Dancing with Diana Jo Salas,2015-06-01 A bright young man with cerebral palsy has his destiny intertwined with Princess Diana s Visiting a school for disabled boys the future Princess Diana singles out wheelchair bound Alex to dance with a five minute encounter that colors the rest of his life though quickly forgotten by her Alex a survivor of severe school bullying thinks constantly of the tall girl with blue eyes until one day he sees her on television the new fianc e of Prince Charles Alex s story interweaves with Diana s final day before her fatal accident in the late summer of 1997 In the unsatisfying company of her billionaire boyfriend she careens from one luxurious alien Paris location to another tormented by paparazzi All day she tries to reach a friend in London hoping to hear news that will bring a new direction to her life Dancing with Diana is a beautifully wrought story that takes us deep into two hard to imagine worlds Alex a bright young man with cerebral palsy has his destiny intertwined in double helix fashion with Princess Diana The latter we meet in her last few hours and Alex we accompany from childhood through manhood His ungainly yet triumphant progress towards self acceptance and independence has an extraordinary echo in Diana s own brave doomed search for an authentic life This is a very fine book that side steps clich s about celebrity to create a new awareness of Diana and also gives us a startling sense of life lived strongly and meaningfully with cerebral palsy Dan Yashinsky author of Tales for An Unknown City and The Storyteller at Fault Stories of Human Resilience in a Changing Climate Silvia Anna Ainio,Susanna Gionfra,2025-07-01 Stories of Human Resilience in a Changing Climate offers a captivating glimpse into the human face of climate change Despite extreme climate related events witnessed globally many struggle to connect such global phenomena to their own lives in a tangible way As a result there is still a strong disconnect between the general awareness of climate change and the sense of urgency that inspires action This book fills a critical void in the field by sharing 11 real life experiences across five continents of the world featuring ordinary people facing and adapting to the consequences of climate change in its different forms Through gripping accounts of a nomad having to relocate from the desert to the nearest city an indigenous person fighting back for land rights and a winemaker finding creative solutions to increasing heatwaves among other stories the book humanises the challenges of climate change

By weaving scientific data with personal stories the chapters deliver a compelling call to move beyond mere acknowledgment of the problem towards transformative action that respects the balance of ecosystems fosters sustainable practices and redefines our relationship with nature Overall the book highlights the urgent need for global awareness on what ultimately represents one of the most pressing challenges of our time leaving readers inspired and empowered to create a more sustainable and resilient future This accessible and impactful book will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change and environmental sciences and communication as well as community leaders and NGOs wanting to understand practical examples and insights of climate change phenomena Views and opinions expressed are those of the authors only and do not necessarily reflect those of the European Union or the European Commission      Global Encounters Iris Guske, 2011-05-25 Scholars throughout the world have come together again in a second book to share their most successful teaching practices and concerns in the areas of cross cultural studies and international education Many disciplines are represented and diverse subjects are discussed science literacy and worldview perspective second language acquisition student mobility and international universities teacher professional development and government programs for disadvantaged children zoos industrial paintings and dress designs as cultural artifacts Presentations on these topics are the result of papers given at the annual meeting of the Worldwide Forum on Education and Culture founded 10 years ago in Rome Italy The organization regularly attracts some 100 scholars and practitioners in the fields of education literacy language learning communication and inter cultural studies from all five continents to its annual congress in Rome These conferences as well as this up to date compilation of multi disciplinary academic papers are meant to highlight the growing need for culturally sensitive education that draws on the strengths of both traditional teaching methods and technology rich forms of instruction as well as a host of national and international programs designed to empower teachers and students alike Engaged educators whose research and or critical discourse in classrooms all over the world has given rise to the present volume thus hope to share with a wider audience how they impart knowledge foster skills and nurture qualities in the next generation of global citizens that will enable them to negotiate their personal and professional lives in our modern world Even though communities may no longer be characterized by physical distances as barriers to communicative interchanges perceived and real rifts between different cultures are nevertheless coming alarmingly close to preventing meaningful communication from bringing about true understanding at the individual and societal levels The ontogenesis of the Worldwide Forum on Education and Culture is seen here clearly in the perspectives and presentations of diverse academics who are dedicated to teaching and learning toward the greater goal as Matthew Arnold said in Literature and Science of knowing ourselves and the world      The Routledge Companion to Contemporary Art, Visual Culture, and Climate Change T. J. Demos, Emily Eliza Scott, Subhankar Banerjee, 2021-02-26 International in scope this volume brings together leading and emerging voices working at the intersection of contemporary art visual culture activism and climate change and addresses key questions such as why and how do art and visual culture and their ethics and values matter with regard to a world increasingly shaped by climate breakdown. Foregrounding a decolonial and climate justice based approach, this book joins efforts within the environmental humanities in seeking to widen considerations of climate change as it intersects with social, political and cultural realms. It simultaneously expands the nascent branches of ecocritical art history and visual culture and builds toward the advancement of a robust and critical interdisciplinarity appropriate to the complex entanglements of climate change. This book will be of special interest to scholars and practitioners of contemporary art and visual culture, environmental studies, cultural geography and political ecology.

Handbook of the Philosophy of Climate Change Gianfranco Pellegrino, Marcello Di Paola, 2023-11-24. This Handbook offers a broad yet unified treatment of many philosophical issues connected with climate change, ranging from foundational puzzles to detailed applications. It extends to many branches of philosophy that are relevant to the understanding of the premises and implications of the impacts of climate change on human and nonhuman life on Earth. More specifically, the handbook examines the scientific accounts of climate change as well as its causes. It explores the tools offered by social sciences and humanities to study the societal premises and impacts of climate change as well as delving deeper into the ethical and political issues connected with and resulting from climate change. By doing so, it puts it all in an ecological and historical context. In addition, the book offers solutions to some important philosophical puzzles and problems and indicates paths of interaction between philosophy and other disciplines. The discussion about climate change and the mitigation/adaptation policies spans many areas and levels, from abstract science and philosophy to current on-the-ground politics. However, climate change is also a great philosophical puzzle. Indeed, its existential and practical relevance can be thought to largely derive from the philosophical complications it engenders. Climate change is applied philosophy par excellence. Preventing dangerous anthropogenic climate change needs very good philosophy applied to concrete and specific practical issues. Climate change is an area where scholars from very different provenances should cooperate on equal terms, having in view a common and really important purpose: contribute to preventing great burdens and even the extinction of humankind and the destruction of hospitable and valuable non-human nature.

Critical Approaches to Climate Change and Civic Action Anabela Carvalho, Julie Doyle, Chris Russill, 2021-09-10. Learning to Live with Climate Change Blanche Verlie, 2021-06-16. This imaginative and empowering book explores the ways that our emotions entangle us with climate change and offers strategies for engaging with climate anxiety that can contribute to social transformation. Climate educator Blanche Verlie draws on feminist more-than-human and affect theories to argue that people in high carbon societies need to learn to live with climate change to appreciate that human lives are interconnected with the climate and to cultivate the emotional capacities needed to respond to the climate crisis. Learning to Live with Climate Change explores the cultural, interpersonal and sociological dimensions of ecological distress. The book engages with Australia's 2019-2020 Black Summer of bushfires and smoke, undergraduate students experiences of climate change and contemporary activist movements such as the youth strikes for climate Verlie outlines how we can collectively attune to live with and respond to the unsettling realities of climate collapse while counteracting domineering ideals of climate control This impressive and timely work is both deeply philosophical and immediately practical Its accessible style and real world relevance ensure it will be valued by those researching studying and working in diverse fields such as sustainability education climate communication human geography cultural studies environmental sociology and eco psychology as well as the broader public The Open Access version of this book available at <https://doi.org/10.4324/9780367441265> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

The Anthropocene of Weather and Climate Paul Sillitoe, 2021-10-15 While it is widely acknowledged that climate change is among the greatest global challenges of our times it has local implications too This volume forefronts these local issues giving anthropology a voice in this great debate which is otherwise dominated by natural scientists and policy makers It shows what an ethnographic focus can offer in furthering our understanding of the lived realities of climate debates Contributors from communities around the world discuss local knowledge of and responses to environmental changes that need to feature in scientifically framed policies regarding mitigation and adaptation measures if they are to be effective

What Teachers Want to Know About Teaching Climate Change Bertha Vazquez, Kimi Waite, Lauren Madden, 2025-02-17 Inspire the next generation to create a sustainable and hopeful future Climate change is one of the greatest threats humanity has ever faced The most recent 10 years have been the hottest on record and the results have been increasingly extreme storms flooding and fires around the world Understanding the causes of climate change and potential solutions is essential learning for students and is aligned with NGSS standards A recent report by the North American Association for Environmental Education Research indicates that 74 percent of U.S. teachers and 80 percent of administrators agree that climate change will have an overwhelming impact on students futures But according to the same survey of more than 1000 teachers only 42% say they even mention climate change in the classroom In an effort to support teachers Corwin conducted a market survey sent to more than 135 000 educators and school leaders in North America asking about their concerns regarding teaching climate change The top three issues reported were concern that the content was not related to their subject 65% a worry that children were too young or vulnerable for such an upsetting topic 20% and lack of confidence in their ability to understand and teach the science behind climate change 17% In response to these concerns authors Bertha Vazquez Kimi Waite and Lauren Madden wrote What Teachers Want to Know About Teaching Climate Change to provide research based and classroom tested guidance for K-12 educators to teach climate change accurately effectively and confidently The book gives busy teachers the tools they need to incorporate climate change education across disciplines and align the content with existing standards without adding a new topic for overworked teachers to tackle Offering a practical roadmap for teachers to integrate climate change lessons into their existing
