The 4 A's of Marketing Jagdish Sheth, Rajendra Sisodia, 2012-04-23 The authors present a powerful and tested approach that helps managers see a business's every action through the eyes of its customers This approach is organized around the values that matter most to customers Acceptability Affordability Accessibility and Awareness Taken together these attributes are called the 4A's The 4A framework derives from a customer value perspective based on the four distinct roles that customers play in the market seekers selectors payers and users For a marketing campaign to succeed it must achieve high marks on all four A's using a blend of marketing and non marketing resources The 4A framework helps companies create value for customers by identifying exactly what they want and need as well as by uncovering new wants and needs For example none of us knew we needed an iPad until Apple created it That means not only ensuring that customers are aware of the product but also ensuring that the product is affordable accessible and acceptable to them Throughout this book the authors demonstrate how looking at the world through the 4A lens helps companies avoid marketing myopia an excessive focus on the product as well as managerial myopia an excessive focus on process In fact it is a powerful way to operationalize the marketing concept it enables managers to look at the world through the customer's eyes This ability has become an absolute necessity for success in today's hyper competitive marketplace

Popular Music in a Digital Music Economy Tim Anderson, 2013-12-17 In the late 1990s the MP3 became the de facto standard for digital audio files and the networked computer began to claim a significant place in the lives of more and more listeners. The dovetailing of these two circumstances is the basis of a new mode of musical production and distribution where new practices emerge. This book is not a definitive statement about what the new music industry is. Rather it is devoted to what this new industry is becoming by examining these practices as experiments dedicated to negotiating what is replacing an object based industry oriented around the production and exchange of physical recordings. In this new economy constant attention is paid to the production and licensing of intellectual property and the rise of the social musician who has been encouraged to become more entrepreneurial. Finally every element of the industry now must consider a new type of audience the end user and their productive and distributive capacities around which services and musicians must orient their practices and investments.

Appity Slap: A Small Business Guide to Web Apps, Tech Tools and Cloud Computing, Sustainable Growth in a Post-Scarcity World Mr Philip Sadler, 2012-08-28

Over 20 years ago Philip Sadler then head of a leading British business school wrote Managerial Leadership in the Post Industrial Society. In it he predicted that business would experience the most radical transformation since the Industrial Revolution of the 19th century. This transformation has now taken place. In his latest book Sustainable Growth in a Post Scarcity World Sadler charts developments once envisaged by Keynes, Chase Galbraith and Packard and more recent radical thinkers such as Chris Anderson. Sadler describes how many goods and services have moved from relative scarcity to relative abundance and asks how this trend can be reconciled with the global issues of population growth and climate change. He assesses the impact of new technologies, new energy sources, new materials and the development of artificial intelligence on business, government and economics and discusses the challenges ahead: the creation of new business models, the need to meet people's legitimate expectations of improved living conditions while avoiding environmental catastrophe and the need to adapt ideas developed in scarcity to conditions of abundance. Why is it that in countries foremost in creating post scarcity conditions millions are still in poverty and billions worldwide still lack basic necessities of life? Philip Sadler agrees with those who say the relief of global poverty cannot rely on aid and corporate philanthropy. He explores the idea of re-engineering products and delivering them into bottom of the pyramid BOP markets and concludes that the more global companies take this route as some are already doing, the more profitable they will find it and this will in turn help the poorest people who currently pay more for goods and services, the poverty penalty, than the rich.

Law and Economics in Europe and the U.S. Alain Marciano, Giovanni Battista Ramello, 2016-11-30

This volume traces the evolution of the field of law and economics from its European roots to its neoclassical Chicagoan period to its current identity as a more fluid transatlantic discipline. Paying special attention to the work of German economist Juergen Backhaus who was instrumental in the reintroduction of the European perspective to the field, this book analyzes this gradual shift in the law and economics debate and provides a state of the art of the literature currently being produced by the field's most active scholars. Beginning with a discussion of the history of the field and Backhaus role in its development the volume provides a survey of issues central to the current debate such as legal processes in both Europe and the U S constitutional political economy regulatory law and the ongoing evolution of the European Union The importance of this volume is two fold as it firmly grounds the discipline in history while establishing a future research agenda This book will be of use to researchers studying law and economics as well as those interested in institutional analysis

Making is Connecting David Gauntlett, 2013-04-29 In Making is Connecting David Gauntlett argues that through making things people engage with the world and create connections with each other Both online and offline we see that people want to make their mark on the world and to make connections During the previous century the production of culture became dominated by professional elite producers But today a vast array of people are making and sharing their own ideas videos and other creative material online as well as engaging in real world crafts art projects and hands on experiences Gauntlett argues that we are seeing a shift from a sit back and be told culture to a making and doing culture People are rejecting traditional teaching and television and making their own learning and entertainment instead Drawing on evidence from psychology politics philosophy and economics he shows how this shift is necessary and essential for the happiness and survival of modern societies
