God Willing? David Domke, 2004-07-20 The political fundamentalism offered up by the Bush administration after 9 11 capitalised upon the fear felt by many Americans In essence it is a conservative religious ideology but via strategic communication choices it was transformed into a policy agenda that feels political rather than religious These communications dominated public discourse and public opinion for months on end and came at a significant cost for democracy The administration had help spreading its messages The mainstream press consistently echoed the administration's communications thereby disseminating reinforcing and embedding the administration's fundamentalist worldview and helping to keep at bay Congress and any substantive public questioning This book analyzes hundreds of administration communications and news stories from September 2001 to Iraq in spring 2003 to examine how this occurred and what it means for U S politics and the global landscape

Statebuilding and Intervention David Chandler, 2014-05-01 This edited book sets out and engages with some of the key policies practices and paradigms of external intervention in the case of state support and reconstruction Many assumptions about statebuilding have been reconsidered in the wake of Iraq and ongoing problems in other states such as Afghanistan Bosnia and Kosovo Rather than being a regional survey or a policy orientated lessons learned book this collection explores the broader framing of policy goals statebuilding practices and the consensus on the need for Western states and international institutions to be engaged in this policy area The volume is divided into three parts the first engages with some of the key policy frameworks and conceptual issues raised by recent statebuilding interventions the second considers core statebuilding practices and the third reconsiders statebuilding paradigms more broadly The essays open up debate and critical discussion in the field at a time when many advocates of extending statebuilding intervention suggest that the complex nature of the problems of non Western states and societies mean that it will inevitably be contradictory and limited in its results United States
